

K. C. AUMAN, FORMERLY OF ASHEBORO, MARRIED.

The following is clipped from the High Point Enterprise. Mr. Auman is known here as Carl Auman, and is a son of Mr. Allison Auman, formerly of this place:

On Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock, in Greensboro, at the residence of Dr. Melton Clark, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, quite a romantic affair was culminated when Miss Mary Tichenor, of Salisbury, was married to K. C. Auman, of High Point. The wedding was a surprise. The bride left her home in Salisbury ostensibly for Winston-Salem to spend several days. Mr. Auman seeing her on the train, persuaded her to get off here. After taking a ride over the city they left in Mr. Auman's car for Greensboro. Only two witnesses were present at the ceremony, they being Mrs. George Hawley and Miss Hughes, both of Greensboro.

Mrs. Auman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Tichenor, of Salisbury. Mr. Auman is connected with the High Point Motor Company and is the son of Mr. A. A. Auman, of Leaksville. They arrived in High Point yesterday where they will make their home.

BIRTHDAY DINNER.

On Sunday morning, Oct. 24th, about ten thirty o'clock, there began to assemble men, women and children at the home of Mr. C. H. Staley, until about 75 friends and relatives were present. At one o'clock the table was erected. It was about 36 feet in length and covered with all the good things to eat the body or heart would or could desire.

A more beautiful and neatly arranged table for the occasion of this kind never has been the pleasure of the writer to behold. After appropriate remarks, thanks and invocation of God's blessings on all present all enjoyed to their full satisfaction the good things which had been so nicely prepared. Then all gathered around the veranda where Rev. Kennedy made a short talk, touching on the Staley history; how he had enjoyed being in the home from time to time and what great monuments for good they were and had been.

Mr. R. C. Palmer also talked a short time upon the changes of the community. There were but few families living in this community now that were living here in his boyhood days. The great progress that has been made causes him to want to live to be 150 years old. Everybody seemed to enjoy the occasion. Mr. Staley was passing his 60th birthday. May he live to witness many more such days.

After all the guests wished him a long and happy future they departed feeling that the day had been well spent.

IN SACRED MEMORY.

Miss Fleta T Parks
Died at her home near Ramseur, N. C., on Oct. 17th, 1915, after an illness of several months. Fleta was taken suddenly and seriously ill on Friday morning, and when the dear patient little sufferer could stand no more, the Death Angel came and took the little soul, too sweet and pure for this world, from our tender and loving embrace. She has gone to join dear father, who preceded her about five short months ago.

Possessed as she was of a spirit of energy that gallantly brooked every storm of adversity, and a soul of the purest and holiest aspirations, she had already won the highest confidence of every one who knew her, and has left a name spotless and pure enshrined in memories too sacred for calumnies.

She was indeed a dutiful child, an affectionate sister, a tender Christian and a faithful friend. But she became sick and weary of the cares of this world, and ere the silvery dewdrops of life's morn had been scorched away by the noonday sun, her tired body found a resting place in Park's X Roads cemetery, beneath a most beautiful floral offering, a token of love from her many friends.

The icy fingers of the tyrant touches the noble heart and the last struggle is ended! There breaks upon her stillness of the death chamber a sob of grief, welling up from the overflowing hearts of father, brothers and sisters, and blending with that sob might have been heard the rustle of angels' wings! The caged spirit is freed! It has joined the spirits of the glory-land. They have flown away from earth! Her body fills the grave of unsullied honor. Above that grave, glowing with a splendor that turns the hideous night of grief and despair into joyful day, and standing as a guide for the careworn mourners in search of their dear, departed dead, ever pointing heavenward, is seen the glorious star of Hope.

BY HER FRIEND GILMER AND A BEREAVED ONE.

WILLIS G. BROWER DEAD.

Willis G. Brower, aged 78 years, died at his home in High Point Friday morning.

Mr. Brower was born in Eandolph county and went to High Point about 40 years ago. He moved away and went back to High Point 25 years ago and had lived there ever since. His wife died about 14 months ago. A son, Edward Brower, survives.

HEALTH NOTES.

Arrangements have just been completed whereby the State Sanatorium, Sanatorium, N. C., will be able to furnish, free of charge, to any physician in the State a sufficient amount of tuberculin for the Van Pirquet diagnostic test for tuberculosis. The tuberculin will be kept in capillary tubes, each tube to hold enough for one test, and will be sent by mail, one or more at a time, to any physician in the State who will report to the Sanatorium, within a week, the results of the test. Complete directions for making the test will be sent with each tube. This test for the presence of tuberculosis is also called the skin test and is done much like vaccination for smallpox, except it causes no sore on the arm.

Medical school inspection work begins in Alamance and Northampton counties November 1st. Dr. T. M. Jordan, of Raleigh, who is now taking training in this line of work in Philadelphia, under Dr. Chas. Cornell, who is at the head of school inspection work in Philadelphia, will be in charge of this combined school health work in Alamance.

Dr. J. A. McInyre, State prosecuting agent for the Vital Statistics Law of North Carolina, leaves Duplin county for the western part of the State. His working in the western counties at this time is due to the inconvenience of travel and the intense cold weather later on in the winter. He goes first to Burke county. Other counties suspected of incomplete registration that will also be visited by the agent are Buncombe, Jackson, Swain, Graham, Cherokee, Macon, Yancey, Mitchell and Watauga.

GIRLS' CANNING CLUBS.

Twenty-Nine Out of Thirty-Seven Organized Counties Make Exhibits.

The work of the girls in twenty-nine counties was shown in the Canning Club display. A pyramid of cans and glasses representing preserves, pickles, jams, jellies and vegetables was made to represent the exhibit of each county that made entry. One large pyramid showed some of the special work done by girls who have been in the work for three and four years. These are the girls who are allowed to can for the commercial trade.

The exhibit as a whole was one of the most interesting at the fair. Not only was the work of the girls beautifully done, but the arrangement of the cans and the decorations were appropriate and fitted in to make one of the most complete that has ever been shown the people of the State. The unusual success obtained in the Canning Club work in North Carolina is easily seen when it is known that such pack and quality is used.

Counties that were represented in the exhibit are as follows: Wilkes, Iredell, Vance, Warren, Wake, Guilford, Moore, Forsyth, Granville, Alamance, Anson, Richmond, Sampson, Johnston, Edgecombe, Greene, Craven, Davidson, Franklin, Cleveland, Lee, Durham, Cumberland, Wayne, Gaston, Rowan.

The county agents from several of these counties brought some of the girls along to study by means of comparison the pack used in each of the counties.

It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by biliousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs. Chas. Peck, Gates, N. Y., writes: "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they cured me of biliousness and constipation and biliousness. For sale by all dealers."

TRAGIC DEATH OF R. C. HOOD.

R. C. Hood, one of Greensboro's most prominent business men, was accidentally killed in a body of woods near Troxler's mill, about seven miles southeast of Greensboro Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

He and a number of friends had gone out to Troxler's pond Saturday afternoon for a little recreation and supper. Mr. Hood took along his shotgun and was looking for squirrel. He had made one unsuccessful detour of the woods about the place. Coming into camp, he found that he had a little more time before supper, and said he would go into a small wooded acreage and see if he could not get a squirrel for supper. The discharge of his gun was heard some time after that. Half an hour later, when he had not returned, Secretary Moffitt, of the Y. M. C. A. and a Mr. Troxler went out to look for Mr. Hood and found him shot through the heart, lying upon his gun at a point where he had evidently attempted to cross a barbed wire fence.

Mr. Hood is survived by his widow and two daughters, Misses Dorothy and Adelaide. Edward and William Hood, of Southport, are brothers, and there is only one sister, who lives in Philadelphia.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Presbyterian Church, Greensboro, Sunday afternoon.

HARTNESS IN THE RACE

J. A. Hartness, of Iredell, made his formal announcement Saturday for the office of Secretary of State against Col. J. Bryan Grimes, the present incumbent.

The announcement recites that he was urged four years ago by democratic friends to make the race for secretary of state, but that he did not consider a campaign was opportune for such a race. But that now he finds a decided sentiment for a change in this office, and that he is grateful for encouraging assurances of support that he is receiving and that have induced him to enter the race for the next campaign. He says he will go into the contest as a loyal democrat and in good faith accept the judgment of the voters as expressed in the primary. He challenges investigation of his personal and official fitness for the office he seeks, and pledges a clean straightforward campaign and the best that is in him in official service if elected.

INLAND QUARANTINE.

Under Control of County Superintendent.

Inland quarantine shall be under the control of the county superintendent of health, who shall see that diseases especially dangerous to the public health, viz., smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, yellow fever, typhus fever and cholera, are properly quarantined and isolated within twenty-four hours after the case is brought to his knowledge; and that after the death or recovery or removal of a person sick of either of the diseases mentioned, or of tuberculosis or typhoid fever, the rooms occupied and the articles used by the patient are thoroughly disinfected in the manner set forth in the printed instructions both as to quarantine and disinfection, which shall be furnished him by the secretary of the State Board of Health. The expense of the quarantine and of the disinfection shall be borne by the householder in whose family the case occurs, if able, otherwise by the city, town or county of which he is a resident. The failure on the part of a county superintendent of health to perform the duties imposed in this section shall be punished by the deduction of five dollars for each day of delinquency from his salary by the board of county commissioners; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the county board of health that the death of any person from the spread of the disease can justly be attributed to such failure of duty on his part, he shall be deposed from office and a successor immediately elected to fill out his unexpired term: Provided, that the quarantine of ports shall not be interfered with, but the officers of the local and state boards shall render all aid in their power to quarantine officers in the discharge of their duties upon the request of the latter: Provided, further, that any child or other person may remain in custody and care of parent or family.
