It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

PROBLEM OF DRUG HABITUÉS

State Should Make Provision, Opinion of Dr. Howell Way.

It is the opinion of Dr. J. Howell Way, of Waynesville, President of the North Carolina State Board of Health, that the State should provide for the examination and treatment of narcotic habitues as a wise and patriotic public policy. He cites the example of the progressive state of Michigan along this line which provides that persons addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors or narcotic drugs may be declared by a probate judge, after due examination, incompetent, and a guardian of his or her person and property may be appointed. Dr. Way believes that the sale of hypodermic syringes should be restricted and restricted to physicians' prescriptions in North Carolina, as in the State of New York, as these instruments are used solely for the introduction of narcotics or stimulants into the human body.

A movement is now on foot in New York State to secure the passage of a Model Anti-Narcotic Law, which law, Dr. Way believes, will have an experience like the Model Vital Statistics Law. It went the rounds of the various State legislatures, gradually winning favor, until finally it has been adopted as a model for all the States.

But Dr. Way says, in speaking of the duty of the medical profession toward promoting the beneficial results that are hoped to accrue from the Harrison Anti-Narcotic Law, that to properly impress patients with the dangers of the excessive use of this class of remedies is these physicians' chief duty to the greatest good.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—break the inflamed membrane. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membrane so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent hoarse cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

HOW TO MAKE GOOD VINEGAR OUT OF STRONG DARK MOLASSES

Add a quart of sorghum molasses to three gallons of clean rain water, drop into the mixture a cake of dry yeast; tie a thin cloth over the jar and let it stand until done fermenting, then strain carefully and add a little good vinegar within a reasonable time. Other kinds of molasses could probably be used in this way, but this recipe calls for sorghum.

LOCAL CHARACTERS

"Every small town" writes Helene Smith Dayton in Cartoons Magazine, "has a fat boy. Howard is the name of the fat boy in most small towns. Of course he is never called Howard outside of the home circle. Up to the age of 14 years he is called Fatty, and after that he is called Butch. Howard is usually seen munching an apple, favorite sport is riding around on the grocer's wagon with Bill Chidsey, who delivers. When Fatty's father falls for a little money he buys Howard a pony, and he is also the most successful raiser of rabbits and white mice of any boy in town.

"The townspeople call Chet Molehill a character. By profession he is a handy man. Men who are urged to do it." If Chet can be burst away from his seat on an empty box he will mow a lawn, hang a screen door, turn an ice cream freezer, get up on a ladder and whitewash the kitchen ceiling, beat rugs, put down straw matting, wash windows, clean a well, work in the garden, or shovel snow. He prefers to work around the livery stable where there is more going on and no woman "to boss" him. Chet can always find the coolest spot in summer and the warmest corner in winter."

IS IT SERVIA OR SERBIA, AND THE REASON FOR CHANGE OF ST. PETERSBURG TO PETROGRAD

Servia (with the letter "v") was till quite recently the common and almost only form used in the English tongue as may be seen by glancing at English atlases, geographies, encyclopedias, etc. Serbia (with a "b") has been widely adopted in the press since the period of the Balkan war though the older form is still used by many writers. The native Slavonic word has "s," not "v," and the name of the country is spelled "Srbija." A note in the Encyclopedia Britannica has the following in connection with the double spelling: "The English-speaking races alone write this word with a 'v' instead of a 'b'—'Servia' for Serbia," a practice (said to be) resented by the Serbs as suggesting the derivation of their name from the Latin "servus," a slave. The French use both forms as we do.

The changing of Petersburg into Petrograd soon after the outbreak of the European war marked the change of sentiment of the Russians toward their enemy—the Slavonic termination "grad" replacing the Teutonic "burg."

SIX RUSSIAN CITIES AND WHAT THEY ARE REMARKABLE FOR

Petrograd (St. Petersburg), the capital of the empire and the largest city in Russia, and the chief northern seaport, is built on the delta of the Neva at the head of the Gulf of Finland. (2) Riga, also a northern seaport, about seven miles from the Gulf of the same name, an inlet of the Baltic Sea; (3) Moscow, the second city in the empire, the former capital, and the chief manufacturing center, is situated in the heart of the country. Its site is well chosen because of the rivers which flow from this region, and since railroads have been built it has become the greatest railway center of Russia. (4) Odessa, on the Black Sea, is a great grain market, and flour milling city. (5) Warsaw, in Russian Poland and now in the hands of the Teutons, an important railroad and trade center. (6) Nijni-Novgorod, on the River Volga, is noted for its animal fairs. It is suited, by its superior water connection, to be a great center of exchange for Asiatic and Russian products.

THE BEGINNING OF THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION

In November, 1910, the revolution broke out openly and after a prolonged struggle the rebels or constitutionalists, with Madero at their head compelled President Diaz to resign, May 22, 1911, when Madero became the leader of the Constitutional progressive party. On May 26 Diaz made a secret journey to Vera Cruz with the intention of sailing from that port for Spain on the 31st. On June 16, 1911, Ex-President Diaz, of Mexico, was officially welcomed at Vera, Spain.

AVERAGE WAGES OR INCOME PER FAMILY

It has been figured from a comparison of census reports of wages, profits and production that the average income per family in the United States is $600 a year. The figures probably are too low. The average wages of the 1,500,000 employees of railroads in 1913 were $735. The average wages of the 228,906 employees of the United States Steel Corporation in 1913 were $905.

Negative Argument.

- The proposed system is not suited to our form of government, for
 - It destroys the balance between the executive and legislative branches, for
 - It gives the executive branch a voice in legislative debates.
 - It is most successful where no such balance is in the English government where the Parliament is not a co-ordinate branch but is supreme.
 - The proposed system would not be an improvement in efficiency, for
 - All legislation of any importance is shaped in Committee, and
 - The cabinet officers are often called on by these committees for expert opinion and advice.
- The present system is more suited to the needs of our people, for
 - It is divided between the executive branch elected by the people as a whole and the legislative branch elected by the people acting as States and sections of States.—University News Letter.
