Randolph County Medical Society Receives Old Book

Volume Describing Practices Of Hundred Years Ago Is Donated To Medical Library

At the meeting of the Randolph county medical society, held Monday afternoon at the county court house, plans were discussed for the medical library which has been recently started. Several additional books were received by the society at this time. Especially interesting was the 89-year-old book on obstetrics that was once the property of the late Dr. R. W. Myers, of Fullers. This book, "Moore's Practical Midwifery" is profusely illustrated and graphically describes the practices of this art about a hundred years ago. Dr. C. C. Hubbard of Farmer was instrumental in securing this interesting volume for the medical library and has donated a number of other books and pamphlets as well as a book case for the volumes. Dr. Sumner was instrumental in the establishment of this library.

Dr. J. H. Soady, secretary of the society, is labeling and cataloging these volumes which will, at an early date, be taken to the Randolph Hospital, Inc., where they will be at the disposal of the medical profession of the county, as well as visiting physicians.

The paper on "Vaccine Treatment For Common Colds," which was to have been read by Dr. Dempsey Barnes and who was absent on professional business, will probably be heard at the next meeting of the organization to be held early in November.

The business of the group at this meeting was unusually light, the chief interest centering around the assembling of books for the medical library.

Nance Chevrolet Co. Wins Plaque For A High Sales Record

Winners In Sales Achievement Contest During Slack Sales Month Of August

Hanging on the walls of the Nance Chevrolet company is quite a lovely plaque awarded the local company by the Chevrolet Motor Company. In bold letters on this ornament are the words, "For Distinguished Chevrolet Sales For August 1935." The local company, as is the case with all Chevrolet salesmen, was given a certain quota to sell during this past month of August, known among automobile salesmen as the duldest month of the year, and met the situation, receiving the plaque in recognition of their achievements.

This record made during August 1935 is the best made by the Chevrolet company for five years, the sales amounting to 99,000. August sales for the company mounted higher during the past records recently tabulated and made public, than any August in the history of the company. The August record is also the largest sales month for that month in the history of the local company.

The local firm was organized in 1928.

Small Pox Vaccine Offered Free To Anyone Over Nine Months Of Age

Dr. George H. Sumner, health officer for Randolph county announces this week that in Asheboro and all Randolph county consolidated schools a diphtheria and small pox clinic will be held, beginning on October 21st. This campaign clinic is designed to free the county of diphtheria and small pox.

Dr. Sumner will be assisted by the county public health nurse, Miss Elizabeth Pratt, both of whom urge parents to attend carefully to this matter and cooperate in preventive measures for present and future citizens of this town and county. These clinics are for children under school age as well as for school children of Randolph. The slogan for this health campaign is "Let's make Randolph county free of diphtheria."

In order to combat diphtheria in the county it is necessary to reach that group from six months to six years of age, which are not in school, therefore we are urging parents to bring those children to the clinic. Children coming in for these treatments will be handled promptly so that the parents may return home.

The Schick Test, which is a test to determine whether the child is susceptible to diphtheria, will be given free to all children under ten years of age. Children six years of age or younger, who have had the diphtheria treatment, should by all means have the diphtheria treatment again if they have a reaction from the test.

The toxoid to prevent diphtheria, which is given under the skin and in one dose for children under seven years of age, will be offered. This one dose will protect almost every child.

Pig Stolen From Randleman Woman Causes Much Ado

A pig, stolen 6 weeks ago from Mrs. T. G. Trogdon, of Randleman route 2, had Moore county officers bestirring themselves last week, partly for the purpose of helping to restore the porker to its rightful owner, and partly in an endeavor to apprehend the man alleged to have stolen it.

The officers after an investigation, learned that Maggie Johnson, a colored woman employed at the Vass hotel, had recently bought a hog from a white man identified as Truitt Nixon, for which she paid the sum of $7.

The Randolph county woman from whom the pig had been stolen, upon viewing the animal bought by Maggie Johnson, declared that it was her pig, demanding its return.

But the Johnson woman, however, balked at the idea of relinquishing possession of the pig without receiving in return the $7 which she was out as its purchase price. Claim and delivery proceedings were instituted in order to keep everything according to Hoyle, but when, armed with these, the officers next called upon the Vass woman, they were dumfounded to learn that the pig had been stolen from her.

Inclined to be skeptical of her story, the officers proceeded to make an investigation around her place, and just as she had claimed, they found evidence.

Ethiopian-Italian Combat Is Topic At Kiwanis Meet

Club Votes To Slate President E. H. Morris For District Lieutenant Governor

With Don Alexander in charge of the program and Dr. Cotthran Smith as principal speaker, the local Kiwanis Club held their regular meeting Tuesday evening. Dr. Smith's topic was the present Ethiopian-Italian war and he gave the true conditions of this struggle as an illustration of the present needs of humanity.

He voiced the opinion that this war would be won by the supplies and reinforcements behind the advancements. A beautiful word picture was drawn illustrating the progress and advancements being made throughout the world and emphasized the increasing need for these advancements to be reinforced by proper spiritual and moral progress for only through these influences can these advancements be made permanently helpful.

Youth advancement and the increased opportunities and responsibilities before them were explained and "What will these advancements accomplish," said the speaker, "if not inspired and reinforced by proper spiritual and moral training and influences." The youth of today has many advantages and opportunities not enjoyed in the past and which way will this influence modern civilization. Back by the proper spiritual and moral influences it will be a tremendous force for good.

Great business advances and corresponding responsibilities are before us. The function of Kiwanis and other civic clubs is to help build better and greater cooperation among each other and to wield helpful influences for good. Proper spiritual and moral stamina are necessary for these business advancements to be wholesome.

The club voted unanimously to instruct the delegates to the district convention to be held this week to nominate and work for the election of President E. H. Morris for Lieutenant Governor for this district. A good delegation has agreed to attend this convention in Charleston this week.

J. J. Garrett Jr. of the local high school was present as a guest of the club. Mr. Garrett has agreed to assist in the Boy Scout work and will be connected with the troop meeting at the Baptist church. He has already connected himself with this work.
