We understand that our local dramatic club will present to our people some time next week the well known comedy "The Man With Three Wives." The dramatic critic of the News advises all who can to attend this production, as it is a nice, clean little play, and is full of the most humorous situations and scenes, and from our information the cast is a strong one. From the number of rehearsals that have taken place we feel sure that every one of the actors will know their parts thoroughly and that the play will be a success and well worth going to see. It has always been a popular and successful play on the professional stage.
