Work for Better Roads

VOLUME—XXI BREVARD, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1916. NUMBER—44

WOODROW WILSON

President of the United States

"HE HAS KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

This is the face of a man strong, courageous, patient and kindly, a man—

Always alert to the aspirations of his fellowman and sympathetic toward their fulfillment;

Never complacent toward the encroachments of privilege nor tolerant of social wrong;

Always seeking to enhance the dignity of labor and better the state of the toiler;

Never lending an ear to the sophistry of exploitation or the blandishments of expediency;

Always patient to hear and weigh, to appraise and analyze, and passionate to find the way of right;

Never premature in purpose nor prejudiced in judgment, and never headlong in decision—

Such is WOODROW WILSON.

Concerning the County Ticket

Voters will find instructions for casting ballots other than for Transylvania officer plainly printed on the ballots. The circle and square does not apply to the county tickets in this county. The voters should be careful in preparing their ballots in order not to destroy their effect by cross-outs using the marks in the squares and circles.

It will be noted in the county ticket below that the republicans have no candidate for recorder. D. L. Duckett, who was nominated refused to accept and efforts to substitute C. B. Dozier to cause their votes were of no avail.

Democrats and republicans are working hard. The outcome is by no means certain. There has been no joint campaign this year and each candidate has made his campaign alone.

The campaign in this county has been clean and without excitement. There have been no serious factions in the parties and the outcome will be interesting.

Educational Rally a Big Success

"Educational Rally Day" in Brevard Saturday was all the promoters expected of it—a complete success.

It drew to Brevard the largest gathering in the county's history.

There were no mishaps or untoward incidents to mar the day; the program was carried out without a hitch—and it was interesting and inspiring. Many schools competed for the prizes and they were won only by hard work.

Exercises for the children were held on the court house lawn, for the weather was all that could be desired—one of those balmy Indian summer days. The children delighted their large open air audiences with recitations and declamations and their work showed careful preparation.

Prof. M. C. S Noble, dean of the School of Education of the State University, spoke for about 50 minutes. His address, delivered to a well filled court house, was inspiring. It dealt with progress, education and civic advancement and he dwelt at length upon the central theme of discontent, a state of mind and heart desired in every person, dissatisfaction and unrest at the present state of affairs, a longing and insatiable desire for the best in all things.

In the afternoon the athletic program was given on the Brevard public school grounds and this was not at all disappointing to the lovers of athletics.

Vehicles of various kinds began to arrive early in the day from nearly all parts of the county until every section was represented, only two or three schools not having teachers or pupils in line. The morning train from Toxaway was crowded with men, women and children. They crowded into the passenger coaches until they would not accomodate more, then they were admitted to the baggage car and here they were packed in until just about all space on the train was occupied. The streets were lined with people and they were here in great numbers.

Soon the parade began from the public school building. It proceeded down Jordan street to Caldwell, down Caldwell into Whitmire, where the public school children were joined by pupils of Brevard Institute. The march proceeded to the depot and along the railroad to Probart avenue and back into Main to the Franklin hotel, and then to the court house. The people in the parade numbered about 1,400.

Pleasing features of the parade were the beautiful floats gayly and artistically decorated for the occasion. That of Miss Irene Montgomery for first grade of the Brevard public school won the prize. It was made of a large truck and in addition to the decorations contained a number of beautifully attired and gladsome children.

Little River came to the front with the largest percent of its enrollment and this point in its favor along with others entitled it to the designation of "The farmers' hoe," meaning that it made more points in the various contests than any other school.

Calvert scored highest for the best general exhibit and the judges considering quality, originality and variety, although giving the prize to Calvert, no dishonorable mention of those of Little River and Brevard.

The nature of the contests, the prizes and the names of schools and individuals to whom awarded, follow:

School having the largest per cent of the school children of the district in attendance and marching in the street parade, 20 points. Little River. Cash prize, $10.00.

Best general exhibit, consisting of any products of the pupils of the schools, such as writing, arithmetic work, drawing, maps, and handbooks, bread cake, articles of clothing, tatting, etc., 5 points. Calvert. Cash prize, $5.00.

Shot put, 3 points. Riley Merrill, Little River school. Base ball suit, presented by the Farmers' Supply company.

The points won by individuals were credited to the school which the winner represented.
