THE TIMES.

THURSDAY APRIL 19th 1894.

The announcement of the death of marvellous, but it hardly gives a hint Senator Z. V. Vance will be received of what we may look for in the futhroughout North Carolina with the ture.'

These figures are so great that they deepest sorrow; not only will North Carolina mourn the loss of this hero, astonish even those most sanguine of but the several States will bow in the industrial future of the South. sympathy with her in her great loss. An increase of almost 5,000,000 in Senator Vance was loved and re- invested capital in ten years is a fact worthy of wonder, and most eloqueut of what may be expected. We do vered by every true North Carolinian. not think that the growth of manu and in his death North Carolina receives a pain that cannot be healed. factures will ever make agriculture a Senator Vance was a noble man in less important phase of Southern acevery sense of the word; he always tivity than it is at present. but the upheld the good and opposed the eyil, time is near at hand when the South will no longer, as heretofore, find her capacities limited to one pursuit. The being ever true to his convictions. The most of North Carolina's pros- time is at hand when the factory penty, the good laws that it enjoys, chimney will be as familiar in our has mission well, let him rest in peace.

We suggest Hon. T. J. Jarvis as Hon. Z. B. Vance's successor. M Jarvis is well fitted to fill this honorable position, and the Governor appointing this gentleman we think will meet the approval of every Dem ocratic voter of North Carolina,

The shameful Breckinridge-Pollard trial came to an end last Saturday, the jury awarding the plaintiff, Miss Madeline Pollard $15,000 damages. On the Secretary's desk was an immense floral piece representing the broken trank of a Galix tree, a North Carolina growth, around which roses and other flowers were twined, and along the walls at close intervals were arranged potted plants of palms and evergreens, with two tall North Carolina pines on each side of the Vice President's chair and a tall palm in the recess behind it.

At 3::30 o'clock the Senate galleries were packed with eager spectators, the ladies generally wearing sombre costumes. The family of the dead Senator

The religious services were begun with prayer and the reading of Scriptural selections by Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hoge of Richmond, Va., who delivered a most eloquent and feeling funeral address, the concluding paragraph of which is as follows;

"To-day this chamber, by a solemn can be attributed to the influence of boundaries as the cotton gin, when dispensation of Providence, has been Mr. Vance. the same it was thirty years ago and will be so long as the world stands. Some people who may have become restless over the way Congress has acted during this administration, ought to know that some of the men who represent it have proven traitors to the party; that the platform is the same; and the thing now for the Democrats to do 1s to turn out those traitors, and we would be very glad to see Boss Cleveland kicked out today. Mr. Cleveland was not so ignorant as not to know the demands Imposing Ceremonies at of the Democratic party when he accepted the nomination at Chicago. Mr.Cleveland has become possessed of one idea only-that he is Mr. Cleveland-and what Mr. Cleveland does in the solitude of his selfish exclusiveness, the poor fools of America eral ceremonies of the late Senator will have no better sense than to accept of it.
