Have You Written To Mother?

Pray may I ask you, worthy lad, Whose smile no care can smother; Though busy life throbs round about,
Have you written home to mother?
You are fast forgetting, aren't you quite,
How fast the weeks went flying;
And that a little, blotted sheet, Unanswered still is lying?
Don't you remember how she stood,
With wistful eyes at parting; Hadn't you remembered how the tears Were in her soft eyes starting?
Have you forgotten how her arm Stole round you to caress you?
Have you forgotten those low words:
"Good-by, my son, God bless you?" Oh! do not wrong her patient love, Save God's there is no other So faithful through all mists of sin; Fear not to write to mother.
Tell her how hard it is to walk, As walked the Master, lowly; Tell her how hard it is to keep A man's life pure and holy.
Tell her to keep the lamp of prayer,
A light, a beacon burning;
Whose beams shall reach you far away, Shall lure your soul returning.
Tell her you love her dearly still,
For fear some sad to-morrow Shall bear away the listening soul,
And leave you lost in sorrow.
And then through bitter, falling tears,
And sighs you may not smother, You will remember when too late You did not write to mother.
—Jane Rowland, in Banner of Gold, Etocetera.

The Kansas City Journal says: "We give the following as it comes to us, with the simple statement that the parties giving it are late, educated people and of high character personally. The biography of Edgar A. Poe speaks of a journey he made through the South, and the result of his related correspondence with that time. It is that in Georgia a young man of rather marked appearance stopped at a farmer's house one evening and asked to remain over night. The request was granted, and he was shown a room. When supper was announced he declined the invitation to join in, and when the service was sent to call him to breakfast he was gone, though the bed had been occupied on the table in his room were found the following verses, signed 'E. A. P.' A literary friend of the family hearing about it, visited the printer and obtained a copy. And it is through this source the lines have reached the Journal. They are worth a place on their own merit, aside from the story coming with them."

LEONANIE.
Leonie angels named her
And they took the light Of the laughing stars and framed her In a smile of white,
And they made her hair of gloomy Midnight, and her eyes of bloomy Moonshine, and they brought her to me In a solemn night.

In a solemn night of summer When my heart of gloom Blossoms up to greet the corner Take a rose in bloom.
All forebodings that distressed me I forgot, as joy caressed me Lying joy that caught and pressed me In the arms of doom.

Only spoke the little lip-
In the angel tongue—
You I, breathing, heard her whisper:
"Songs are only sung Here below that they may grieve you, Tales are told you to deceive you, So must Leonanie leave you While her love is young."

Then God smiled and it was morning, Matchless and supreme,
Heaven's glory seemed adorning Earth with its esteem—Every heart but mine seemed gifted With the voice of prayer, and lifted Where my Leonanie drifted From me like a dream.
"Whether they have ever appeared in print before or not we do not know; probably they have, but they will be new to most readers at this day, and we leave them to the critics."

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Local Brevities.

The South has a regular correspondent from this place.
The protracted meeting at the Methodist church last Sunday night with only one accession.
Rev. A. M. Hassell, filed his regular appointment at the Presbyterian church last Sunday.
Messrs. F. P. Jones, and James Pearson were ordained as additional elders of the First Presbyterian church.

Mr. Gordon, should transplant some of those oaks among his peas.

We call attention to the double column space of Mr. J. H. Pope's in this issue.

Bing called Raleigh last Tuesday referred it impossible for us to publish the paper on time this week.

Many of our citizens are attending the U. S. Court at Raleigh this week. The way of retelling whi-key without license will not do.

The side walk in front of Harper & Hood's drug store looks much better since those gentlemen has had it covered in white pebbles. Others should do like-wise.

We call special attention to the half double column of the Carolina Machine Co. of Fayetteville in this issue.
When wanting anything in this line, call on them.

Dunn is getting on a boom. One paper is not sufficient to publish the news of this thriving little town and therefore the SMITHFIELD HERALD has a special correspondent. Success to the Herald and correspondent.

Pres. Cleveland's Cancer.

It has been rumored that he has it. If he would take a course of Botanic Blood, Balm, the best blood purifier and building-up remedy in the world, he would soon be well. It will not disappoint.
Price $1.00 per large bottle. For sale by druggists. Use it for all blood and skin diseases, rheumatism, catarrh, etc.
Jan 21.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Personal.

F. P. Jones Esq. is in Raleigh this week attending the U. S. court.

Miss Eula Cox, of Coxville, Pitt Co., is the guest of Mrs. John A. McKay.

Mr. T. J. Gregory, of Barclaysville, was in to see us last Thursday.

Mr. D. McN. McKay, returned to Barboro last Friday.

Mr. B. W. Kincaid, of Wilson, paid a flying visit to our town last Thursday.

Lee J. Best Esq. went up to Raleigh last week, on professional business.

Misses Virginia Cole and Mattie Col-ington of McClenny Fla. are visiting their uncle Mr. H. C. McNeill.

Miss Irene McKay, of Dickenson, is spending some time with her many friends and relatives in Dunn.

Mr. J. A. Wassell returned home last Sunday after spending several days in town with his brother Mr. P. T. Massengill.

Commissioner J. B. Holland, Deputy J. H. Ballance, Mr. L. H. Lee and others are attending the U. S. court at Raleigh this week.

Mr. A. M. Wassell, expeditor of The Smithfield Herald, accompanied by his sister, Miss Bessie, are in town attending the closing exercises of the Progressive Institute.

Rev. N. R. Richardson, who assisted Rev. Mr. Stannons in the protracted meeting which closed last Sunday night, returned to his home at Randleman last Monday.

Mr. R. M. Pearsall, received a telegram last Monday stating that his father was dead. We extend to him and the remainder of the family, our deepest sympathy.

A Suggestion.

We suggest that the town authorities have the sidewalk from Harper & Hood's Drug store to the Post office covered in white pebbles, as it is the most disgre-aceable sidewalk in wet weather that we have. We don't think there is a tax pay-er in Dunn that would object seeing it improved.

We don't mean to detract to our worthy town authorities, but we do think the above suggestion should be carried into execution.

THE TIMES.
I never saw a more propitious occasion for the age "scribbler" than now. The times are so dull that every body wants to hear something from somebody else, and to a very great extent I shall not disappoint them in this effort, as I will tell you little, and leave the want unsupplied.

Every body is naturally well in health—when a time for the M. D., but they can fish and chop cotton. I mean chop preparations that have costliness in the make up, poor legs (save I should have said) are going to be dropped from the food-role, and replaced by cotton seed oil.

Every body is digging in the ground, even look well despite the old weather.

Malum Rumer says the marriage bells will jingle in "these diggings" before long. Success to the jinglers.

Plenty of rain—none too much.

It is a conceded fact that every body is working harder than ever before.
I suppose to make up the small deficit caused by the effect of the absence of the Wilson Bill becoming a law. If Wilson McKinley and Mills would formulate one together publicly everything would be on a level in a day after it becomes a law. You see each would hit where the other missed, and all political parties would be represented but populists and prohibitionists and Ben Tillman will look after them when he gets there-to the Senate.

Fashion Notes.

Styles for Gentlemen.

As for gentlemen, unless their coats are "freed" a little bit they will make their wearers look almost grotesque.

The fashionable Prince Albert coat reaches almost to the shoes.

Trousers are eighteen inches wide at the knee, and seventeen and one half at the bottom.

The stylish and popular entaway coat has three buttons, and clings tightly to the hips.

In fashionable society men wear gloves of undressed kid in mouse color with self-stitching.

Linked cuffs, plain linen shirt bosoms and checker collars, are the law for their liens.

The puffy neckwear prevalent last season is now ruled out by neat little knits and bows.

The new silk hat has a much-curved D'Orsay brim, and the latest derby is rather smaller.

Soft hats are of gray, gold-brown and nutmeg colored felt, with widely crossed crowns.

While flannel suits will be stylish, comfortable, and cool, and very serviceable, during the long warm days to come.

There is nothing more satisfactory for cleaning and perfuming the hair than lavender water. Alcohol, which is the body of this delicious toilet water, is refreshing and invigorating, and as it evaporates, it carries off all offensive odors.
The oil and fragrance of the lavender are helpful to the hair.

If a folding-handkerchief is worn, let it be black, by all means, as nothing else is suitable for all hours.

A Treat In Store.

The Rolla Bros' Royal Entertainers, Comedy and Specialty Company, who showed at the Progressive Institute last Tuesday night, will show again to-morrow night. Don't fail to go out, and hear this excellent company. We clip tee following from an exchange, which says:

Harry Rolla, the unexcelled, and his clever assistant, Prof. Z. M. Potts, gave their splendid performance on last Wednesday, Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday nights. On Monday night the hall was packed and jammed and the entertainment was an excellent one in every respect. Rolla, in his magnetic and particularly in his contortion acts, was fine. His "human corker" act is truly wonderful. He works as a comedian was vegetable and he was aided by Prof.
Potts, who also did a good number of tricks. It is the best entertainment given in Williamson in years and we hope to see them here again.

Next Week.

We will publish the full programme of the closing exercises of the Progressive Institute—Poe items, and the full proceedings of Board of Magistrates, and Commissioners will be published next week.

One of the most perilous experiences of a young convert is in dealing with the suggestion that he is not converted. To make the suggestion in one of the favorable modes of attack used by the adversary.
If he can succeed in getting a young Christian to listen to it and go into an analysis of the case, he is very sure of cooling the convert's zeal, if not of bringing his Christian life to an end. Be on your guard against his whisperings. Instead of looking at yourself, look to Jesus. Meet the approaches of Satan as Luther did. When the devil said to him: "You are no Christian," he replied: "Well, that's none of your business."—Ex.

HOW ABOUT HARD TIMES?

Are you a supporter of the present financial system which congeals the currency of the country periodically at the money centres and keeps the masses at the mercy of classes, or do you favor a broad and

LIBERAL SYSTEM.

Which protects the debtor while it does justice to the creditor?

If you feel this way, you should not be without that great champion of people's rights,

CONSTITUTION

Published at Atlanta, Ga., and having a circulation of

MORE THAN 150,000.

chiefly among the farmers of America, and going to more houses than any weekly newspaper published on the face of the earth.

IT IS THE BIGGEST AND BEST WEEKLY newspaper published in America, covering the news of the world, having correspondents in every city in America and the capitals of Europe, and reporting in full the details of the debates in Congress on all questions of public interest.

THE CONSTITUTION

is among the few great newspapers publishing daily editions on the side of the people as against European Dominion of our Dominion money system, and it heartily advocates:

1. THE FREE COINAGE OF SILVER

Believing that the establishment of a single gold standard will wreck the prosperity of the great masses of the people, though it may profit the few who have already grown rich by federal protection and federal subsidy.

2ND. TARIFF REFORM.

Believing that by throwing our ports open to markets of the world and leaving only enough import duties to pay the actual expenses of the government, the people will be better served than by paying them pay double prices for protection's sake.

3RD. AN INCOME TAX.

Believing that those who have much property should bear the burden of government in the same proportion to those who have little.

The constitution heartily advocates an Expansion of the Currency until there is enough of it in circulation to do the legitimate business of the country.

If you wish to help in shaping the legislation of these. Give The Constitution your assistance, lend it a helping hand in the fight, and remember that by so doing you will help yourself, help your neighbors, and help your country!

AS A NEWSPAPER:

The Weekly Constitution has no equal in America! Its news reporters cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every belkirk in the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE:

It prints more matter as is ordinarily found in the great magazines of the country than can be gotten from even the best of them.

AS A FRIEND AND COMPANION

It brings cheer and comfort to the friends every week, is eagerly sought by the children, contains valuable information for the mother, and is an encyclopedia of instruction for every member of the household.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES

THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT are all under able direction and are especially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed.

Its special contributors are writers of such world-wide reputation as Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Frank R.
Stockton, Joel Chandler Harris, and hundreds of others, while it offers weekly service from such writers as Bill Arp, Sarge Plunket, Wallace P.

who gives its literary features a peculiar Southern flavor that commends it to every household from Virginia to Texas, from Missouri to California.
