Superstition in the Wilderness,

Strange tales have come from the Sourdnaheunk region this season in regard to Jack Reed's Gepot-camp on the road leading to Strickland's Mountain. The camp is built over the grave of a man who was killed in some unknown way, and the woodsmen say the place is haunted. At any rate, on every moonlight night in winter a listener standing outside the camp can hear the sound of rolling stones that apparently are grating, grinding, rattling, plunking over each other, as though sliding down a steep bank. Diligent search has been made for the source of this strange noise, but so far no one has solved the mystery? Old lumbermen remember that the camp has been considered to be haunted for many years, and the sound of the rolling stones has been heard on many a moonlight night in the past. Many lumbermen who are on their way into the Sourdnaheunk region prefer to push by the depotcamp and take a night tramp rather than sleep over that grave and hear those grinding stones.-Lewiston (Me.) The water came rushing down this side, sweeping away everything in its path until the water was eighteen inches deep in James Price's house. Cunningham's sawmill and large dam were completely washedaway. Fencing, trees and huge rocks were swept away, leaving a bare track. Hail also fell until it was shoe top deep. The stones were as large as partridge eggs. The damage to vegetation will run up to thousands of dollars.

The Confederate Monument Photographed.

The immense veil of the monument has been lifted, and a magnificent picture was taken of it for the Monumental Association. The daring feat of unveiling the monument and replacing the veil was done by two linemen of the new electric works. They climbed to the top by the rope that held the veil, not knowing as a certainty that the rope would not give way and dash them to pieces on the ground below. But the deed was done, and the veil readjusted ready for the unveiler, Julia Jackson Christian, granddaughter of the noble Stonewall Jackson, to lift, and leave to view for all ages this live memento to the dead heroes of North Carolina.

W. U. T. Co. in Contempt.

Papers were served on the Western Union Telegraph Company by the railroad commission in three more cases to show why it is not guilty of contempt and should not be fined. One of the cases is for a telegram sent from Laurinburg to Elizabeth City, and one is for a telegram sent from Edenton to Reidsville. In the latter case the company declined to receive the telegram at its regular office and forced the sender to send it from its private office at a cost of 65 cents instead of 25. These three cases and one other brought last week are all set for hearing May 31.

A New York Reporter's Retort,

One of the regular Washington correspondents tells a delightful aneodote of the reportorial days of one of the well known editors of metropolitan journalism

Before the female society reporter had usurped the social domain as completely as at present, he was assigned one night to report a great social function at one of the swell houses in New York. He stationed himself at the head of a stairway to take the names of the ladies as they passed him to go to the dressing room to take off their wraps and prepare for their ap-pearance on the lower floor. He had been standing there for some time, taking notes, when a gay, young dam-sel, heavily wrapped in furs, lightly tripped up the stairway, and suddenly addressed him.

"Ah, beg pardon, sir; are you the footman?"

"No, madame," quickly retorted the reporter ; "are you the chambermaid ?" -- Washington Post.

Bees' Working Capacity,

A bee expert mys that when the weather is fine a worker bee can visit from forty to eighty flowers in six or ten trips and collect a grain of nectar. If it visits 200 or 400 flowers it will gather five grains. Under favorable circumstances it will take a fortnight to obtain fifteen grains. It would, therefore, take it several years to manufacture a pound of honey, which will fill about 3000 cells. A hive con-tains from 20,000 to 50,000 bees, half of which prepare the honey, the other half attending to the wants of the hive and the family. On a fine day 16,000 or 20,900 individuals will, in six or ten trips, be able to explore from 30,000 to 1,000,000 flowers, say several hundred thousand plants -Detroit Free Press.

Driven Wells Are Popular.

Driven well are becoming quite popular since the advent of machinery for doing the work in an efficient manner. By the use of these, large volumes of water are obtainable in places where none could be procured before. These wells are sunk about seventy-five or one hundred feet usually, and, with a pipe of from two to eight inches in diameter, issue water in adundance, and have proven very valuable to many a mill. So varying are the conditions in connection with locating a driven well, that costs cannot be given, but it is commonly estimated that about four dollars per foot for six inch pipe covers expense. --- New York Dispatch.

THE STORY OF A VETERAN'S SEARCH. How Fred Taylor, a Member of the Gallant 189th N. Y., V. I., Finally Found What He Has Sought

Since the War Closed.

(From the Ashtabula, Ohio, Beacon))

Mr. Fred Taylor was born and brought up near Elmira, N. Y., and from there enlisted in the 189th regiment, N. Y., V. I., with which he went through the war and saw much hard service. Owing to exposure and hardships during the service, Mr Taylor contracted chronic diarrhosa, from which he has suffered now over thirty years, with absolutely no help from physicians. By nature he was a wonderfully vigorous man. Had he not been, his disease and the experiments of the doctors had killed him long ago. Laudanum was the only thing which afforded him relief. He had terrible headaches, his nerves were shattered, he could not sleep an hour a day on an average, and he was reduced to a skeleton. A year ago he and his wife sought relief in a change of climate and removed to Geneva, Ohlo: but the change in health came not. Finally, on the recom-mendation of F. J. Hoffner, the leading druggist of Ge..eva, who was cognizant of similar cases which Pink Pills had cured, Mr. Taylor was persuaded to try a box. "As a drowning man grasps a straw, so I took the pills," says Mr. Taylor, "but with no more bope of rescue. But after thirty years of suffering and fruitless search for relief I at last found it in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The day after I took the first pills I commenced to feel better.
