We received a letter from a subscriber a few weeks ago asking us to publish the pension list of Harnett county. While at Lillington Monday we attempted to get the list but the clerk informed us that no record of the names had been kept.

The BANNER staff returns thanks to Messrs. H. L. Godwin and J. Lloyd Wade for nice set-ups to melons. Let others do likewise. We always find time to serve the inner man when an opportunity is afforded.

Prof. Ezzell is one of the best teachers in the State and he will not employ as assistants any except the best. Read the announcement.

The Smithfield second nine came down last Thursday and played two games with the second nine of Dunn. The game Thursday was won by the visitors by a score of 14 to 12. The Colored Institute is in session at Lillington this week. Prof. Byrd, of Smithfield, is holding it. A great many colored people from all parts of the county are attending.

The Board of Education was in session at Lillington Monday, and had much business before them. They re-appointed some of the old committeemen together with new ones in each township in the county, except Avera'sboro, where three township trustees were appointed. The gentlemen appointed to the place are Messrs. E. Lee, Andrew Tart and James Lucas. The Board will meet again on the 21st of August and apportion the school funds.

Serious Explosion.

Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock a loud report was heard throughout the business part of town, followed by cries of distress. A great throng gathered at the place of the report, and it was found that one of the tanks for the soda fountain at Hood & Grantham's drug store had exploded while being charged. The tank was already charged but Mr. Shaw, the dispenser, thinking that it needed recharging took it out to the department for charging and turned on the gas. William Parker, a polite and trusty colored boy, who has been in the employ of Hood & Grantham for three years was assisting, and when the tank exploded a piece of it struck his right leg at the kneejoint and almost tore the leg off. Mr. Shaw was badly shocked and received some slight bruises, but was not hurt seriously. It was first thought that the colored boy's leg would be to amputate, but Drs. Sexton and Highsmith, who dressed the wound, think they can save it. The directions for charging the tanks are 175 pounds of pressure, but this one had 300 pounds or more, an oversight on the part of those charging it. Nearly one side of the building in which they were working was blown off.

New Enterprise.

DUNN TO HAVE A TANNERY.

Messrs. G. L. Cannady and E. F. Young have commenced the erection of a Tannery out at Surles' Pond, about one mile from town. They have purchased all the latest processes and will be able to tan and make ready leather for the market in about ten days. The capacity of the tannery will be about 75 hides per week. They will make a specialty of harness leather. They will be prepared to tan anything from sole leather to the finest vici-kid. This will open up a good market for all kinds of hides. They will be able to supply the home demand for all kinds of leather, and we trust eventually will be the means of establishing a shoe factory in our midst. Still we go forward.
