FOR HARNES and Saddle For Mexican Mustang Liniment is just what you need. It cures cuts at once, and you will be astonished to see how quickly it heals sores.

It's this way:
You can burn yourself with Fire, with Powder, etc., or you can scald yourself with Steam or Hot Water, but there is only one proper way to cure a burn or scald and that is by using Mexican Mustang Liniment.

It gives immediate relief. Get a piece of soft old linen cloth, saturate it with this liniment and bind loosely upon the wound. You can have no adequate idea what an excellent remedy this is for a burn until you have tried it.

A FOWL TIP. If you have a bird afflicted with Roup or any other poultry disease use Mexican Mustang Liniment. It is called a STANDARD remedy by poultry breeders.

Roosevelt Dines a Negro.

Some weeks ago President Roosevelt was proud of his Southern relatives—proud of his southern blood. This may be true, but since his deliberate act of taking a kinky-headed negro into the White House as his guest, the South cannot say they are proud of him. The Richmond Dispatch says:

"With many qualities that are good—with some, possibly, that are great—Mr. Roosevelt is a negro-philist.

"While Governor of New York he invited a negro (who, on account of race prejudice, could not obtain accommodations at any hotel) to be his guest at the Executive Mansion, and, it is said, gave him the best room in the house.

"Night before last the President had Professor Booker T. Washington to dine with him at the White House. That was a deliberate act, taken under no alleged pressure of necessity, as in the Albany case, and may be taken as outlining his policy towards the negro as a factor in Washington society. We say 'Washington society,' rather than 'American society,' because the former, on account of its political atmosphere is much more 'advanced' in such matters than that of any other American city of which we know anything. The President having invited Booker T. Washington to his table, residents of Washington of less conspicuous standing may be expected to do likewise. And if they invite him, they may invite lesser lights—colored lights.

"When Mr. Cleveland was President, he received Fred Douglass at some of his public entertainments—'functions,' so-called—but we do not remember that Fred was singled out for the distinguished honor of dining with the President, as Booker Washington has been.

"We do not like Mr. Roosevelt's negro-philistism at all, and are sorry to see him seeking opportunities to indulge in it. He is reported to have rejoiced that negro children were going to school with his children at Oyster Bay. But then, it may be said, too, that he has more reasons than the average white man to be fond of negroes, since it was a negro regiment that saved the Rough Riders from decimation at San Juan Hill. And but for San Juan Hill, it is quite unlikely that Mr. Roosevelt would be President today.

"Booker Washington is said to have been very influential with the President in having Judge Jones put upon the Federal bench in Alabama, and we are now fully prepared to believe that statement.

"With our long-matured views on the subject of social intercourse between blacks and whites, the least we can say now is that we deplore the President's taste; and we distrust his wisdom."

MOTHER'S WORM SYRUP.

Best worm medicine. Children like it so well they eat it on bread.

There is an amazing difference sometimes between the valuation of property when listed for taxation and when reported to a mercantile agency as a basis for credit. The most astonishing difference in such valuations recently came to the knowledge of this writer. A certain corporation recently organized in this State reported its property to a mercantile agency as being worth $600,000 and yet this same property is assessed for taxation at a valuation of $38,000.—Chatham Record.

Comment is unnecessary. The landmark recently expressed the opinion that all tax returns should be published. The more we think about it the more we are convinced that if the law required the publication of all tax returns once a year there would be a mighty rattling of dry bones among the Ananiases who keep back a part. The pious gentlemen who swear they are worth practically nothing at tax-listing time, but who swear they are worth large sums to obtain good ratings in commercial agencies, would find themselves exposed.—Statesville Landmark.

As things are explained; She—Why does a ship have to weigh its anchor every time it leaves port? He—Well—er—you see, the weight is constantly changing on account of the binnacles that grow on it in the water.—Puck.

Information Wanted About the Prodigal.

Among the many things we would like to know, but never will know, is what kind of fellow the "prodigal son" turned out to be. He went away from home a dude, that prodigal boy did, and he came back a tramp. We have often wondered if he settled down and made something of himself after his wild oat sowing, or if he was always sitting about the premises blowing to his older brother and to the hired men what a "high roller" he was when he was off among the girls spending his daddy's money and playing the fool generally. We would like to know if that prodigal boy's father was proud of him after he returned and thought that he was worth the good clothes and the calf killed for him, or if the boy was so trifling and no good generally that the old gentleman would have been a great deal better off if he had killed the prodigal and raised the calf.—Monroe Enquirer.

We expect the Enquirer man will not find any one to rise up and give him the information he is seeking. He is asking too many questions.

One of the most important classes of workers in the world is the Sunday school teacher. He has to do with the young and plastic hearts of the future men and women of the community, to unfold the instrumentality of the Scriptures, whereby their hearts are renewed and set right and made better day by day. It is not hearing lessons that accomplishes this glorious end, but it is teaching them. The crying need of our Sunday schools is seen at this point. There is wide-spread need of men and women who can truthfully say they are teachers and not mere hearers of recitations. Study, prayer, the recognition of the presence and power of the Holy Scriptures to make the World the effectual means of convincing and converting sinners and building them up in holiness and faith until salvation is needed to do the grand things possible to this worker.—Robesonian.

A Fireman's Close Call.
"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached, every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without an appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters and, after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by C. L. Wilson, price 50 cents.

Balancing Accounts.

A thick-set, ugly-looking fellow was seated on a bank by the road side, and seemed to be very much absorbed in thought, as though seeking to solve some problem.

"You seem to be much interested in your thoughts," I said. "Yes; I've been figuring my account with old Alcohol, and see how we stand."

"And he comes out ahead, I suppose?" "Every time; and he has always lied."

"How did you come to have dealings with him in the first place?" "That's what I've been thinking. You see he promised to make a man of me, but he made me a beast. Then he said he would brace me up, but he has made me go staggering around, and then threw me into the ditch. He said I must drink to be social. Then he made me quarrel with my best friends, and to be the laughing-stock of my enemies. He gave me a black eye and a broken nose. Then I drank for the good of my health. He ruined the little I had, and left me 'sick as a dog.'"

"Of course." "He said he would warm me up; and I was soon nearly frozen to death. He said he would study my nerves, but instead he gave me delirium tremens. He said he would give me great strength, and he made me helpless."

"To be sure." "He promised me courage." "Then what followed?" "Then he made me a coward, for I beat my sick wife and kicked my little child. He said he would brighten my wife, but instead he made me act like a fool, and talk like an idiot. He promised to make a gentleman of me, but he made me a tramp."

NIGHT WAS HER TERROR.
"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It is absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, Lagrippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. L. Wilson's drug store.

There is something the matter with your feet," said the editor, referring to the bit of verse the poet had left down at his pedestal extremities. "My feet are all right but I admit that my shoes have seen better days.—Boston Post.

Found 1,000.

By the merest chance the heirs of the late N. H. Gurley have added to his estate $1,000. In 1892 Mr. Thomas McGee, a well known and popular life insurance agent living in Goldsboro, prevailed on Mr. Gurley to take $1,000 on his life. This was done and Mr. Gurley paid the premiums for some six years and then let the policy lapse.

Since his death Mr. McGee asked the heirs several times to let him see the policy, but they thinking that it was worthless ignored the request. After being asked several times they finally produced the papers and Mr. McGee discovered that the extended feature of the policy was still in force and that it was worth its full face value of $1,000.

The policy was taken out in the Mutual Benefit of Newark, N. J., while Mr. McGee was working for that company, and will be paid as soon as the proofs of death can be forwarded to the general office of the company.

Still Offering Bargains.

My motto is "Quick sales and small profits." Notwithstanding the short crops I have bought pretty heavily this fall, knowing that people have to eat and wear regardless of crops. I have the largest, the most complete and up-to-date line of shoes that it has ever been my pleasure to buy and sell them at prices that can't be duplicated. I have a large and beautiful line of men's hats, all styles, colors and prices. In staple dry goods, I have anything you want as LOW AS THE LOWEST.

I will meet any competitors prices as I will not be undersold. I have a few hundred dollars worth of men's, boys' and children's clothing that I am offering at cost, as I am not going to carry clothing after this fall. Now is the time to get you a suit cheap. Come while they last.

A Typical South African Store.
O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley about nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by Hood & Grantham.
