Why They Fail.

It is not difficult to understand why some fail in farming—not a few of those found in this business are wholly unfitted for it. They never seem to know how to make the most of their land, their horses, their cows, their hired men, or themselves. They pay for first cost, taxes and labor on three acres to keep a cow, when one acre will do just as well or better. They keep six horses in stabling, feed and harness, when four could do as well. They keep cows that give but 600 gallons of milk, or 150 pounds of butter in the year, when by better breeding and better feeding they could easily double the production. The extra horses and cows and the lack of suitable arrangements required an extra number of hands. More headwork on the part of the master would enable fewer men to do more and better work everywhere.—Exchange.

The Secret of Long Life

Consists in keeping all the main organs of the body in healthy, regular action, and in quickly destroying deadly disease germs. Electric Bitters regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood, and give a splendid appetite. They work wonders in curing Kidney troubles, Female Complaints, Nervous Diseases, Constipation, Dyspepsia, and Malaria. Vigorous health and strength always follow their use. Only 50c, guaranteed by C. L. Wilson, druggist.

Stop the Rabbits.

In some sections of the country rabbits are very destructive to young orchards, doing a vast amount of damage. An efficient remedy is to take a quantity of warm lard and with a brush apply it to the trunk to the height the rabbits cannot reach above. Rabbits will not eat things that are greased.—Emery Snider, Springfield, Ohio.

Shelter for Hogs in Winter. Teachers in Demand. Eclipses.

In protecting fattening hogs from the cold of winter, it is best to depend rather upon sheds and windbreaks than on a large amount of bedding. When chilled by exposure, hogs will invariably pile up, and with large heavy hogs this will prove disastrous to some of the herd where numbers are kept together. Too much bedding will only add to the danger. Last winter a neighbor, on one bitterly cold night lost more hogs than would have paid for help to have made a warm and sheltered place for the swine to sleep in. A hay or straw bed three feet high at the back and four and half feet high in front, facing the South, would have cost him nothing for material, as it was lying about his place unused, and if he himself could not find time to construct the shed, he could have hired the work done for less than the cost of one hog. It is looking at such things as these in time that marks the difference between the successful and the unsuccessful farmer.—New England Homestead.

Every man in the county should take his home paper and keep up with the news at home.

A demand for teachers has come to Raleigh from Boston. President Winston, of the A. & M. College, has recently received requests from Boston for young men qualified to teach along industrial lines. One of these requests says: "We are especially desirous of finding good teachers in the following specialties: Civil, mechanical and electrical engineering. Sloyd and manual training, geology and geography, agriculture, veterinary—science and animal husbandry, farm superintendents and dairymen." The salaries of teachers along these lines are higher than for similar talent in other lines. A bright young fellow, well educated industrially, can always command a good salary, whether as teacher or worker. Heretofore most of the graduates of the A. & M. College have gone into business, where the remuneration is both high and certain. Now that the demand for industrial teachers is so great. President Winston thinks that many of our boys will equip themselves for the teaching profession. It is rather remarkable for Boston to apply to Raleigh for industrial and technical teachers.—News and Observer.

There will be five eclipses in the year 1902, three of the sun and two of the moon. The first partial eclipse of the sun on April 8th, invisible here. The second is a total eclipse of the moon on April 22nd. Invisible here, but visible in Europe, Asia and Africa. The third is a partial eclipse of the sun on May 7th. This will also be invisible in our part of the globe. The fourth, a total eclipse of the moon on October 16th, comes our way. This eclipse will be visible to all North and South America, in the Western part of Europe and Africa, and in Northern Asia. The fifth and last eclipse for the year will be a partial eclipse of the sun on October 31st. This eclipse will not be visible in this country.

There is a doctor in Goshen, N. Y., by the name of James Nicholas Vann, who having buried thirteen wives desires a fourteenth. He is 94 years old and has advertised for a new wife. For so old a man, who can only say: "I divide my affection with the thirteen I have put under the ground," he is very particular. He advertises that he "prefers one that is young, plump, a light blonde, handsome and musically inclined." To this advertisement the venerable suitor has received over 200 answers. As long as so many girls are willing to play the May to December, the man who declared "marriage a failure" must see that he has made few converts.—News & Observer.

"My wife was so ill that good physicians were unable to help her," writes M. M. Austin, of Winchester, Ind., "but was completely cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills." They work wonders in stomach and liver troubles. Cure constipation, sick headache. 25c at C. L. Wilson's drug store.

Judge Clark and "Jube" Emory.

When Justice Walter Clark, of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, was Superior Court Judge, he held a term of court in Raleigh. Swift Galloway was prosecuting attorney and had a number of cases on docket in which the proof was very weak and unsatisfactory. Several of the defendants in these cases were acquitted in consecutive order, and the court and Galloway became so chagrined at the repeated verdicts of "not guilty," that Galloway moved the court that the entire jury be discharged, which was immediately done, Judge Clark administering a severe rebuke to them for their failure to perform their duty to the State. The defendant who had been acquitted just before the jury's dismissal was one "Jube" Emory, who had been indicted for gambling. The members of the jury filed out of the court room and wended their way to the office of the clerk to draw their per diem, "Jube" bringing up the rear in good order. When they reached the office of the clerk some person who had been upstairs and had seen "Jube" on trial, asked him how he came out. "Oh," said the gambler, "I came clear, but damned if they didn't convict the jury."—Col. J. C. L. Harris in the New York Tribune Review.

WILL NOT HIDE MY LIGHT UNDER A BUSHEL.

GENTLEMEN:—I will not hide my light under a bushel, for I want the people to know what your Gooch's Mexican Syrup has done for me. For four years I have been afflicted with Asthma, and could not get anything to do me any good until I got your Gooch's Mexican Syrup. I took three bottles and it cured me entirely. I give you this hoping it may be the means of saving some one from a horrible and premature death. Yours under obligations, Rev. Thos. B. Warwick, Scott Town, O. Consumptives try it. It cures a simple cough as if by magic, and is the best remedy for whooping cough. Price 25 cents.

Newspapers the Best.

A few years ago it was said that 40,000,000 advertising calendars had been given away in a single year, at a cost of $1,000,000. This year, it is stated most of the leading establishments will not distribute calendars, preferring to add the sum they would cost to their newspaper advertising appropriations. Nearly all schemes of publicity are worth something, but it is undeniable that the very best is newspaper advertising.—Philadelphia Record.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by Hood & Grantham.

Remarkable Cure of Croup

A LITTLE BOY'S LIFE SAVED. I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere, of Godwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he would choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth to-day.—Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa. For sale by Hood & Grantham.

Some merchants don't look at newspaper advertising right. They regard it as an expense. Advertising is as much an investment as store rent, clerk hire, etc. Any investment may fail to be profitable, but there is less danger of failure to make a profit from judicious advertising than from other investments. To get the best results from advertising some consideration should be given to it just like other features of your business. You would not expect to plant a crop and get the best results by paying no further attention to it; neither should you neglect your advertising.—Kinston Free Press.
