This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more satisfactory and prompt when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be ward off by taking the remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by Hood & Grantham.

Interested in Public Schools.

Public attention in Virginia has been directed to the common schools of the country both by the discussions and general action of the Constitutional Convention, and by the effective work of the Southern Educational Board. Mr. Harry St. George Tucker and Prof. Robert Frazer have spoken with ability and great earnestness at many places throughout the State. There are evidences of an awakened interest, and some improvements are already on foot. In a number of counties schools have been combined for better work, securing better wages and improved buildings. We have come to a new era in the history of rural public schools, and it will be well if every county and every district will shape in the advance. We counsel our country teachers to give the schools their sympathy and encouragement. Show your interest by intelligent assistance of your local board, and by kindly attention to the teachers.—Central Presbyterian

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Everything is in a name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago, discovered some years ago how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin diseases DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine.—Hood & Grantham.

It's no sign that honest men are too plentiful because there's a reward offered for a thief.

CAUTION.

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75c the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others, that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and on mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world. G. G. GREEN, Woodbury, N. J.

A Clean Sheet for To-day. Pays for Itself.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbors faults. Forget all the slanders you have ever heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault-finding and give a little thought to the cause that provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and remember the good points that make you fond of them. Forget all the personal quarrels and histories you have heard by accident, and which if repeated would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out, as far as possible, all the disagreeables of life. They will come, but they will grow larger when you remember them, and the constant thought of the act of meanness, or worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obsolete everything disagreeable from yesterday; start out with a clean sheet for today, and write upon it for sweet memory's sake, only those things which are lovely and loveable.—Selected.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of croup is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. This remedy is used by many thousands of mothers and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Hood & Grantham.

Don't argue with a fool. Listeners will say there are two of a kind.

A FRIGHTENED HORSE,
Running like mad down the street, dumping the occupants, or a dozen other accidents, are occurring every day. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns cuts, sores, eczema and piles disappear quickly under its soothing effect. 25c at C. L. Wilson's drug store.

Bottom of the Caribbean Sea.

Following close on the appalling destruction of St. Pierre by Pelee and the havoc wrought on the Island of St. Vincent by La Soufriere, the outbreak of the volcano Santa Maria in Guatemala is a matter of the greatest possible interest to scientists. Dr. Edward O. Hovey of the American Museum of Natural History, who was one of the first on the scene of Martinique's disaster, said that, while there was undoubtedly some connection between the volcanic outbreak in West Indies, and the volcanic outbreak in Central America, it was not clear just what it was. In response to an inquiry whether as a result of their investigations into the tragedy of St. Pierre scientists had evolved any new theories about volcanic action, he replied succinctly, "Bunches of them!" But he admitted also that the theories were merely theories, and that while there were as many of them as there were men in a position to theorize, none of them could as yet be regarded as sufficiently substantial for general scientific acceptance.

Prof. Heilprin, who made perhaps, the most exhaustive investigations of the outbreaks of Pelee and Soufriere and was an eyewitness to several subsequent eruptions—in fact, it was at one time feared that he had lost his life in one of them regards the activity of Santa Maria as confirmation of the theory to which his investigation has led him. He believes that the unwonted volcanic upheavals in tropical North America are all surface manifestations of extensive changes that are taking place in the ocean bed, changes that will involve a considerable subsidence of the Caribbean sea.

According to Prof. Heilprin, the lesser Antilles are the outcroppings of a subterranean northeasterly extension of the Andean mountain range. The islands are merely the tops of particularly lofty peaks. To his mind the Andes when they reach Colombia, are divided, one branch being shortly submerged and only here and there pushing a peak above the sea level; the other, the main branch, extending up the entire Pacific Coast lines of Central and North America and eventually making its way over to Asia by way of the Aleutian Islands.

This theory of the subsidence of the Caribbean involves the theory of settling of the ocean bed in that part of the world, and its cracking as it settles. Through these great cracks it is believed that the sea has leaked in upon the superheated interior of the earth and vast quantities of steam have been generated which have forced a way out at various points in what geologists call the "line of weakness," that is the line of least resistance.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES

FIGHT WILL BE BITTER.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. R. Beall, of Beall, Miss., has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once and four bottles entirely cured her. Guaranteed by C. L. Wilson, Druggist. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Are You Worth What You Cost?

A boy or girl is quite a costly investment, even as far as money is concerned. It would not be a bad problem to estimate roughly just how much you have cost your parents during your life time. count in your board and clothing, your doctor's bills, the money that has been spent on your pleasure, and you will open your eyes when you come to add up the different items.

But after all the money expenditure represents only a small part of your cost. For the first few years of your life it took all of your mother's time and strength to care for you. How she has watched over you when you were sick! What anxious thought has been spent in giving you the very best sort of training! Many a man has made a fortune with less pains and hard work than has been spent on you.

You have cost a good deal. That is settled, and the next question is, are you worth it? Sometimes we hear of wealthy men spending a fortune to purchase a single painting or jewel. When we come to make inquiries we find that the painting is a masterpiece and sure to appreciate in value as time passes, or that the jewel is flawless and worth all that was paid for it. But sometimes men spend great sums on paintings that are poor imitations of the old masters, or on paste diamonds, and then the world concludes that they have been taken in and pities them accordingly.

WANTED.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and liver troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? If you never tried August Flower, try one bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. Ask your oldest druggist.
