> Yesterday an Asheville gentlemat net a little girl pupil of Montford chool who was cast for a part in the cantata at the Grand. He asked her, whom he knew well, if she was to take part, and on receiving an affirmative answer asked what her part was, "I am one of the original 13 states," she replied. "Which do you represent?" the gentleman asked. Without a second thought, and having foremost in his mind the fact that his little friend was a native of Kentucky, he asked "Why don't you Knight, Asheville, N. C., or Emma, N. represent Kentucky?" Looking up into the gentleman's face with a gaze that combined gentle reproof with a little of pity she replied "Why, sir, don't you know that Kentucky was not one of rent houses, lots, farms, timberlands the original 13?"
