Mrs. Featherston and the teachers of Bailey street school spent an hour and a half in the woods yesterday for a lesson in nature study. The children's bright eyes were on the alert for specimens and all returned, after a very delightful time, laden with many, which will furnish topics for numerous useful lessons.

The Odd Fellows of this city are anticipating the largest kind of a time Thanksgiving day, when all the lodges will join in a banquet at the Swannanoa hotel. The Odd Fellows wish all visiting brethren to help demolish the good things and request that they hand their names to Dr. L. B. McBrayer, to receive invitations.

The position of manager of Sawyer's carpet house, vacated by O. M. Coston, will be taken by H. C. Perkins, who has had long and successful experience in this line. Mr. Perkins came here from Atlanta some months ago. He purchased the handsome cottage at No. 7 Flint street and has made Asheville his home. Mr. Perkins already has many friends here and is welcomed as a permanent resident business man of the city.

GOODS ROADS DIRECTORS

STATEMENT ON THE BILTMORE ROAD TO BE ISSUED.

The Good Roads association directors held an interesting and encouraging meeting last evening at the Hotel Berkeley.

It was ordered that as soon as all the bills, of which there are a few small ones, are presented and paid, for the work of macadamizing the Biltmore road a statement will be made showing the names of the subscribers, together with the amount subscribed and also the disbursements.

F. W. W. Graham was elected a director.

The directors also considered a number of names of probable members and as a result several additions to the association are expected at the next meeting.

ALMOST READY FOR HORSE SHOW

Extensive Improvements at Riverside Park.

THANKSGIVING DAY SPORTS GIVE PROMISE OF BEING THE BEST EVER OFFERED HERE.

The promised finish of the extensive improvements at Riverside park is in sight, and the three days interval until Thanksgiving day will keep going the push of the management in needed touches for the complete enjoyment of the patronage.

All the fencing is up and spreads of signscape bid for place in the all-front view without and within the inclosure. Wire netting is yet to be stretched upon the inside rail of the track to prevent the escape of the quarry in the chase events.

From the railway office to the club house, and following the line of the former track to the sandpits work is being put in on a trackage that will be ample for cars in waiting for the return to the city at the close of each day's sports. Wire fencing will prevent access along the river front and at the entrance point of the surplus cars there will be iron gates to effectually guard the northern end of the park.

The removal of the old pavilion close to the track side and its renovation as a club house has been accomplished, and the building, besides its uses for the comfort of the attendance, is of decided attraction in the line of the course. The structure has been raised to a second story, and is inclosed, except in front, with rough finish and windows. Red and green will color the outside, and the interior of the upper floor is luminous in bright blue. The wall on the river side of the building contains a broad chimney, and as the weather suggests there will be comfort from the warmth of the wide open fire place. Seventy feet of railed balcony runs along the second story front.

The grand stand is in course of erection, closely adjacent to the club house. The opportunity for close view of the track and field is equally good whether from the balcony and stand or from any point along the stretch, the low fencing and elevated ground forming fine advantages for enjoying whatever sports are up without personal discomfort.

Already the running of the track is being tried by the local horsemen, and though no packing has yet been done by the big roller, the trials have given proof that when the smoothing has been done fast time will be made.

In the speeding by several flyers last evening a lumber greyhound jumped from any point along the stretch, the rapid pace of the leaders.

From the large number of fine horses now owned in Asheville there will doubtless be a handsome display in the show numbers of the program set for the opening of the park Thursday next, while in the racing events it is believed the best sport ever seen here will be had.

THE JEW AND AMERICA.

COMMENT ON DR. MADISON C. PETERS' LECTURE.

Editor The Citizen:—The audience that gathered to hear Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters of New York last night deliver his famous lecture "Justice to the Jew" were repaid by an array of most interesting facts concerning that historic nation.

The person who could fail to see that such a people will yet enjoy a glorious future, is blind indeed. But strange to say, none so blind as the eloquent speaker himself, who pronounces America their Zion, when "The Book" he so highly eulogized, and for which he gave that nation credit, contains statements in language unmistakable, that Palestine is their possession by title deed from Jehovah, and prophecies by the scores and hundreds, equally plain and specific, that they as a nation shall surely receive and enjoy it.

Thus considered, the remarkable movement of Zionism, now general throughout the world, might, if rightly treated, have thrown additional light upon the subject of "Justice to the Jew."

Dr. McElvra, eye, ear, throat and nose specialist, will see patients at the Berkeley hotel until his offices are fitted up. All old friends and former patients are cordially invited to call. 11-22 dit

PRESIDENT SPENCER

President Spencer and the board of directors of the Southern railway arrived on time yesterday afternoon and remained today until 11, having their headquarters on their train of private cars while here.

Just before leaving the party visited the model cottages, school house, etc., at Biltmore village.

A confidant of President Spencer in Asheville says that the trip is of no especial significance to Asheville, and that the report that the Pennsylvania proposes to buy out the Southern is groundless.
