

ASK STATE TO ROAD PROJECT

FINE RESPONSE MADE TO PLEA

More Clothing Needed by Welfare Workers for Needy People

Fine response is being made to plea for clothing for several families who are in extreme need. Two instances have been put before the public by the Welfare Board as outstanding cases of need, and numerous articles of wearing apparel of serviceable nature have been received.

While the two specific cases have been taken care of temporarily by the people who are touched by the plea made for clothing, there are welfare workers out and about, many of whom are in need of clothing. The fact that while clothing is being received, most of the clothing that has been discarded and hence is being sent to the dump, is being used by the needy people who are in need of clothing. The fact that while clothing is being received, most of the clothing that has been discarded and hence is being sent to the dump, is being used by the needy people who are in need of clothing.

Red Cross Cloth Is Being Sought

Local Chapter Asking Supply From Government

Effort is being made by Jos. S. Shireman, chairman of the Transylvania Chapter American Red Cross to obtain cloth for use among needy families in this county from the government supply.

Application for several yards has been made by the Red Cross chairman, which will be used to make suitable clothing for school children and others who are in want.

B. I. TO OPEN ON THURSDAY

Bible Study Course Is Offered to Ladies of This Section

Brevard Institute is holding this morning, beginning at 9:30 a. m., a Bible study course for the fall term. Miss Daisy Ritter, the new superintendent succeeding former Superintendent J. F. Winston, assumed the duties several weeks ago, and states that present indications point to a successful school year.

Registration of students took place on Wednesday, and an enrollment equal to that of last year, if not surpassing it, is expected by the end of the week when registrations will be practically completed.

Interesting exercises for the opening of the school this morning have been arranged, with all pastors of the town participating and other features of interest appearing on the program. Regular scheduled class work is expected to begin on Friday morning.

A new course offered at the Institute this year promises to be of unusual interest and profit, this being a Bible study course for ladies of the different churches of Brevard, and is being conducted by Miss Mary Floyd of the faculty, who is a trained and experienced teacher of the Bible. All ladies of the town who are interested in enrolling in this class are requested by Miss Ritter to meet at the Institute immediately following conclusion of the opening exercises this morning.

Dewey Kinney, heavyweight champion of the Carolinas, meets George Gemas, Philadelphia veteran in a 10-round bout. Kinney recently scored a sensational knockout over Gemas in Asheville after having himself been on the verge of a knockout a few seconds previous. The bout was one of the most sensational ever staged in the state.

Since a group of prominent boxers will also be seen on the program. Al Massey of Goldsboro, will meet Mike Owens of Asheville, in the semi-final, while Willis "Tippie" Hines of Canton, meets Chick Hill of Asheville, in a special bout. Joe Lipps of Charlotte, will meet Bill Keeling of Hendersonville, in a return bout, the pair having recently fought.

The first preliminary will be a bout between Bob Allison of Charlotte, and Pug Hinton of Brevard.

Since all fighters have at one time or another been seen in main events, the September 12 program is veritably an "all-star" program.

FARM EXPERT SEES SHORTAGE OF LIVESTOCK

Florida County Agent Is Surprised at Few Hogs Raised Here

FARMERS LOSING BY SELLING BULK GRAIN

Corn at Present Prices Is Losing Proposition He Says

"Your biggest shortage in Transylvania county insofar as livestock is concerned is in hogs and cattle, with special emphasis on hogs," said County Agent S. A. Albert of Jacksonville, to a representative of The Times, here Monday. Mr. Lawton, who has been visiting for several days at Camp Keystone, is regarded as an authority on farming and agricultural interests, and has traveled over the entire county while here.

"With all the corn being grown in the county, and with the low price at which it is now selling, it is easy to see that thousands of dollars are being lost each year by the farmers of Transylvania county, by not selling the corn through hogs and cattle, instead of putting it on the market for a cash price that will not pay for the raising," the agriculturist said.

Mr. Lawton was impressed with the "Rotating Pig Club" movement being put on in this county, expressing the opinion that it was one of the most forward looking and profitable in the section, and one that would continue to grow in importance as the purebred stock became scattered over the county.

All young Democrats, both women and men, are invited to be present at the meeting Thursday night, at which time an outstanding speaker from Asheville is expected to make an address, and officers to serve the organization for two years will be selected.

The Young People's Democratic club will take the place of the Young Men's Democratic club, which was active here in the past campaign, including ladies in the membership.

Street Dances To Be Free in Town

Economy Step Taken Regarding Light System

No charge can be made in the future for participation in street dances in the town of Brevard, and dances of this type can only be held on consent of the street department of the town and consent of abutting property owners, the city council ruled at the meeting held Monday night.

The matter of operating public dance halls was taken up by the board, but definite action on a license fee was deferred until another meeting.

As a matter of economy the board decided to cut down on the number of street lights in the town, with special order made in regard to the Whiteway system in the business district. This order will go into effect October first and will leave one light burning at each street intersection in the business district, while needless lights over the entire town will be cut out.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING HELD HERE MONDAY

Calvert School Building Will Be Advertised and Sold

MANLY ELECTED AS EAST FORK TEACHER

Other Matters of Interest Transacted During All-Day Session

Calvert school house will be advertised and sold to the highest bidder, it was decided at the regular meeting of the board of education held Monday in the office of Prof. J. B. Jones, county superintendent. This school has been consolidated with Rosman.

Rev. A. J. Manly, of Rosman, was selected as teacher of the Upper East Fork school, with instructions to assume his duties there Tuesday morning. Mrs. Winston Asworth has been substitute teacher since the school opened.

"The school bus line, serving the upper end of the county was organized by the board, and is now going to Cash's store. Heretofore the route stopped at Oakland."

Paul Roberts of Cedar Mountain was appointed bus driver to carry children of the Buck Forest section to See-Off school.

Several people were given privilege to send their children to adjoining schools, petitions being presented showing that by the change distance would be saved for the children.

Constant bus line was changed from the Ellen Bend route, to follow the highway.

Order was passed disallowing school buses to be used in other parts of the county, and only for school interests in the county.

All members of the board were present at the meeting, including Chairman J. H. Galloway, L. P. Wilson, H. E. Erwin, Claude Shuford, I. C. Case.

Date Set For Two Community Fairs

Brevard and Rosman Both To Be Held First Day October

FARMERS ASKED TO HELP ANNUAL EVENT

Community Committees to Help in Gathering Many Exhibits

Brevard and Rosman community fairs will be held on Saturday, October 1, with schools of the two counties taking active leadership in the movement, according to decision made by leaders in the fair movement.

While the Young Men's Farming organizations and Home Economics classes of the two high schools are expected to be major factors in the showing to be held in the county, it is pointed out by Prof. John Corbin and Prof. Julian Glazener, teachers in the two schools, that the entire county is expected to enter into the work, display of every type asked for from farmers and farm women of the county for the event.

Brevard has held two previous community fairs with great success, while Rosman is entering into its second fair. Livestock, farm products, canning and cooking exhibits will hold forth at special booths are expected to be shown.

The Brevard fair will probably be staged near the B. & F. Feed Company store on East Main street, where adequate buildings and show space were donated last year to the community. Rosman fairs in the lower end of the high school, where the large gym and school buildings and grounds will be utilized.

Committees appointed in each of the communities of the county are already at work on the preliminary work of the fair program, with more committees expected to be added within a few days.

Details for both the Brevard and Rosman events are being worked out by those in charge of the fairs, and definite plans to be made within a few days.

Special emphasis is requested by the two agricultural leaders on the fairs, that all people of the county are expected to help make the fair a success.

Committee chairman to serve in each community have already been appointed by Professor Corbin, these chairmen and others to assist in the fairs, are being held for school students, but that all people of the county are expected to help make the fair a success.

Professor Glazener is meeting with people of the different sections in the lower end of the county each evening, discussing the fair plans, and at the same time discussing the importance of cover crops, clover, vetch and Austrian peas, being stressed.

Meetings set by Professor Glazener include: Penrose, Thursday night at 8 o'clock; Little River, Friday night; Davidson River, Monday night; Conestoga, Tuesday night; Cedar Mountain, Wednesday night; Selma, Thursday night. All people of the community are invited to attend these meetings and take part in the discussions.

Pug Hinton Will Fight on Monday

Pug Hinton, Brevard's fistfight artist, will appear on the Kimrey-Gemas card at Asheville next Monday night, according to announcement made here this week. Pug has been chalking up some pretty stiff wins in the past year, and is attracting attention as a light heavyweight.

Dewey Kinney, heavyweight champion of the Carolinas, meets George Gemas, Philadelphia veteran in a 10-round bout. Kinney recently scored a sensational knockout over Gemas in Asheville after having himself been on the verge of a knockout a few seconds previous. The bout was one of the most sensational ever staged in the state.

Since a group of prominent boxers will also be seen on the program. Al Massey of Goldsboro, will meet Mike Owens of Asheville, in the semi-final, while Willis "Tippie" Hines of Canton, meets Chick Hill of Asheville, in a special bout. Joe Lipps of Charlotte, will meet Bill Keeling of Hendersonville, in a return bout, the pair having recently fought.

The first preliminary will be a bout between Bob Allison of Charlotte, and Pug Hinton of Brevard.

Since all fighters have at one time or another been seen in main events, the September 12 program is veritably an "all-star" program.

Pickens Road to Open on Friday

Paving work on the South Carolina side of the Pickens-Brevard highway will be completed and traffic may now over the route of this week, according to information received in Brevard Wednesday. This link of highway has been closed for several days, while surface treatment was being applied.

Completion of the hard-surfacing by the South Carolina authorities is being awaited, and in a couple of days a short route into South Carolina, especially for the upper section of the county. A six-mile stretch from Rosman to the state line is unimproved, but a fine road, with newly constructed bridges and culverts, built within the past year by the state highway commission.

Officers of Enon Church Will Be Elected Sunday

Next Sunday, Sept. 11, has been set aside as election of church officers at Enon Baptist church, with T. F. Middleton, N. L. Ponder and G. F. Mitchell as nominating committee.

Members of the Enon church and community enjoyed hearing Mr. Ernest Brown preach his first sermon in the Enon pulpit, last Sunday night. A large number of people were in attendance at the services.

Mr. Brown preached an interesting sermon, showing the marks of good preparation, presentation and excellent training. His appearance in the home church brought many favorable remarks from his friends. He is a ministerial student at Mars Hill college and will complete his studies there this term.

The Rev. Dr. Purser, pastor of the Citadel Baptist church of Charleston, S. C., was present at the meeting. He was introduced at the close of the service and spoke of the many leading people who have gone out from the mountains of North Carolina and the state. Dr. Purser's son, David, student at Mars Hill college, was also present.

Officers Chosen By F. F. A. Boys

Officers elected by Brevard chapter Future Farmers of America at Western Carolina speaking convention, held at the home of the Rev. E. B. Yates, pastor of Rosman Methodist church, opened the program with fitting devotionals, followed by James C. Fisher of Tryon, who delivered the address of welcome. The Rev. S. B. McCall, pastor of Lake Toxaway Baptist church, and candidate for state legislature, was the principal speaker. An interesting part of the program was a history of the Fisher family given by T. B. Reid of Oakland.

Officers elected to serve for the coming year are: James C. Fisher, president; Ralph R. Fisher, Brevard, vice president; and Mrs. Lee P. Norton, Oakland, secretary-treasurer.

All children between the ages of 6 and 13 who attend dental clinics are unable to pay the necessary charges, are urged to take advantage of this free clinic.

Fisher Reunion Is Enjoyable Affair

A large crowd of friends and relatives of the Fisher family gathered at Lake Toxaway last Saturday for the annual reunion. The speakers listened to several speeches, ate to content of a picnic dinner and otherwise enjoyed the occasion to the fullest.

The Rev. E. B. Yates, pastor of Rosman Methodist church, opened the program with fitting devotionals, followed by James C. Fisher of Tryon, who delivered the address of welcome. The Rev. S. B. McCall, pastor of Lake Toxaway Baptist church, and candidate for state legislature, was the principal speaker. An interesting part of the program was a history of the Fisher family given by T. B. ## EXCHANGE HAS BEEN SUCCESS DURING FIRST YEAR'S WORK

That the Women's Exchange has proved a profitable enterprise for its first season of operation was brought out at Monday afternoon's meeting of the Women's Bureau, which organization is sponsoring the Exchange.

It was pointed out in the report of Miss Lillian Jenkins, in charge of the Exchange, that 35 members had enrolled during the past season, and that the greatest profit had been made on the exchange of fancy articles, though food supplies predominated in the greatest quantities. A balance of something over $30 was shown to remain in the treasury, over and above the season's total expenditures, and including the 10 per cent profit due the Exchange on sales. The remaining proceeds went to the individuals or organizations contributing articles for sale. Fancy articles were sold through the exchange ranging from the finest and daintiest handkerchief to the most elaborate quilt or spread, and foot

The generally expressed opinion among members of the Bureau was to the effect that the Women's Exchange was an altogether successful undertaking for its first season, benefitting the tourists or those who purchased and the contributors of articles placed on sale.

The Women's Exchange will close the season on September 15, but an effort is being made to keep it open on Saturday during the winter at the same location. Definite announcement of this schedule will be made at an early date.

Other matters of business of a routine nature and otherwise were transacted at Monday's meeting. The Bureau reports from the recent flower show and quilt show sponsored by the Women's Bureau showing that both of these outstanding summer attractions were highly successful in every respect.
