

MRS. HAYNES AND ECK SIMS WILL BE DRY-WET LEADERS

Registration Books Will Be Open For One Day On October 28th

Transylvania county's repeal fight will be between Mrs. L. B. Haynes and Eck L. Sims, these two having qualified as banner carriers for the dry and wet forces in the election to be held here on November 7th when the question of repeal of the 18th amendment will be decided upon.

Mrs. Haynes filed several days ago as candidate for the drys, 187 names being on the petition presented to the county board of elections. Mr. Sims filed Saturday, with 260 names on the petition asking that he be allowed to qualify as wet candidate. No opposition was seen for either of the candidates, Mrs. Haynes having been placed in nomination several weeks ago by the executive board of the North Carolina United Dry Forces, and no petition being circulated in opposition to Mr. Sims.

It is not expected that the two candidates will hold any joint debates on the topic, but speakers of prominence are expected to be in the county before election day, November 7th. Mrs. Haynes has already spoken in several communities in the county, and expects to visit others.

Jake F. Newell, ardent dry, and Republican candidate for the United States senate, running on a dry ticket against Senator Robert R. Reynolds, will be brought to Brevard within a couple of weeks, it is announced by the Rev. J. K. Henderson, chairman of the dry organization.

Clyde Hoey, ardent orator and politician in the Democratic fold has been invited to speak here before the end of the campaign, but has been unable to find an open date, he being in great demand in all sections of the state.

No announcement has been made of organization of the repealists in the county to carry on the campaign.

Registration books will be open for one day only, Saturday, October 28, when those who have moved from one precinct to another will be required to register in order to be eligible to vote. No registration is required for those who reside in the same voting precinct as that of last year.

Ralph Lyday, chairman of the board of elections, is preparing ballots for the election, one of which will be for and against calling a convention, the other for the wet and dry candidates.

ENON SCHOOL WILL ORGANIZE FRIDAY

Teachers and patrons of Enon school have set Friday night of this week as date for organization of a Parent-Teacher association for that community.

All parents of the community are given a cordial invitation by the principal, Professor N. L. Ponder to be present and take part in the work of organizing the civic group.

Many Things of Wide Interest Seen At First Transylvania County Fair

Aside from the interest that was natural in exhibits at the county fair here Friday and Saturday, several individual entries were of especial interest, among them being a topographical map of the county, fur craft, paintings, and wood craft.

David Norton of the Brevard agriculture class was proud displayer of the soil map of Transylvania county, having laid out the county in very estimable style, and placed inside the bounds an outline of the soils to be found here. Porter's Loam takes up 65 per cent of the county, according to the map made up by young Norton, with Porter's Sandy Loam running second at 21, Porter's Clay 5, Toxaway Loam 3 and Toxaway Fine Sandy Loam at three to four. Crops best adapted to the various soils were also shown, the young man expertly and interestingly talking to hundreds of folks during the fair of this phase of farming.

In the paintings display there was the kind of beauty that is not only restful to the eye but to the soul as well....the several pieces being doubly of interest here because county people handled the brushes. Mrs. W. H. Grogan had several exceptionally fine drawings and water colors; Mrs. Charles Ashworth and Miss Katherine English also having one or more entries each.

Fur Craft, shown by Hubert Wolfe of Route-2, attracted every passer-by during the two days, and comments were heard from many, praising neat work shown.

Ulys Merrill for years county jailer, had the most unique display, a table top made from native poplar and walnut, so wrought together, a tiny piece of poplar and a tiny piece

CONNESTEE MAN FINDS POTATO CURING METHOD

F. P. Tinsley of the Conneestee section, has a way of "holding up" potatoes that is outstanding, in that potatoes put up the Tinsley way in the fall of 1932 are still in good condition this fall, with no signs of sprouting or decay.

GOVERNOR ASKED TO RUSH ROAD PROGRAM

North Carolina Has Projects
For Only One-Fourth
Of Allotment

The following Washington dispatch is of especial interest to people of Transylvania county inasmuch as practically all people are interested in seeing the Boylston road completed and work started on 284 across Pisgah National Forest:

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Public Works Administrator Ickes telegraphed Governor Ehringhaus of North Carolina, today asking him to "expedite" the public works highway program in that state.

Similar telegrams were addressed to all governors in what was described as "a new effort to expedite construction and employment under the $400,000,000 allotment" made for highway construction under the local supervision of state highway departments.

Jakes pointed out that although North Carolina has been allotted $9,522,293 of this fund only 58 projects, with their total cost estimated at $2,502,000, had been approved up to October 5.

"I direct your attention," Ickes wired the governors, "to the increasing lapse of time between the approval of recovery highway projects and the placing of these projects under actual construction."

"While rationally 2,160 highway projects have been approved, contracts have been awarded in only 1,359 cases and actual construction is under way in 757 instances."

"On the basis of these figures, it would be possible throughout the nation to have 1,000 more highway projects under actual construction."

"Will you advise me what you can do to expedite this important work so that men can be put to work as soon as possible. If there is anything I can do to assist please advise me."

DAHLIA CLUB MEET ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Transylvania Dahlia Club will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Brevard high school on Tuesday evening of next week, at 7:30 o'clock.

Professor Julian Glazener will lecture on dahlia diseases and preventive measures, with special emphasis being given on care of bulbs during the winter months.

The club is already making plans for staging another dahlia show here next fall, the first one this fall having won wide acclaim. It is expected that the show will be put on next year during the month of August.

Downstairs, in the livestock department lovers of purebred smiled with satisfaction as they viewed the increased numbers of purebreds on display. Spotted Poland China pigs, gilts and sows were shown in abundance, with Hereford cattle and Hampshire sheep following close. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilson led in the Herefords, with vocational agriculture students and graduates of Brevard high school taking the cake with their spotted Poland Chinas.

Arthur Whitmire was shower of blooded sheep that drew much attention while Alney McCall of the Gloucester section had a fine one year old bull on display, weighing 1235 pounds. One of the prettiest things in the eyes of some was a celt shown by "Bud" Allison that was perfection itself with a team of two and three-year olds raised by Davis Glazener and now owned by E. Carl Allison running in a close second.

It was a revelation, the many things that could be seen at the fair, and many people looked, went away to see something else, and back again and again to see the same thing. A vast improvement over the community fairs of the past few years, people in general were well pleased.

DEER SEASON OPENS ON OCT. FIFTEENTH

Brevard sportsmen are cleaning rifles, checking over last year's ammunition supply and doing a lot of sunbathing, in anticipation of opening of the deer season on October 15th, which happens to fall on Sunday this year.

The season will be open two months, October 15 to December 15, and during this time every huntsman in the county has the hope to bag one or more of the prize specimens that are to be found in this county.

Brevard Football Team Shows Great Promise of Being Outstanding Outfit

Brevard has a football team! This is welcome news to many of the boys, their parents, and boosters of the sport in general here....a general mixup having been in existence here for several weeks.

Nearly three teams were out on Wednesday, working hard, and looking like a college squad, with Coach Tilson putting them through the ins and outs that are necessary to whip a good team into shape.

The Brevard team is composed of those boys in high school this year and those who attended last year, using the Brevard high school equipment and getting regular coaching from Coach Tilson. The team will average around 160 to 175, with plenty of material for subs.

A game is being arranged for Friday or Saturday afternoon of this week, to be played here, probably with Fletcher High school. Regular schedule will be worked out following this week's game.

The arrangement seems to be a happy solution to the football squabble which had its advent with beginning of the school term, when rules were adopted by the school officials to the effect that boys who had not made three passing grades last year would not be allowed to play on the high school team.

In the meantime, the regular Brevard High school team, made up of boys who passed three subjects last year, are continuing their workouts, and show great promise of making a fast if not a heavy team.

GALLOWAY TO GET POSTMASTER POST

Made Highest Grade in Recent Examination—Appointment Expected

Official word has been received in Brevard that T. Coleman Galloway, acting postmaster since last July 1, made the highest grade in the recent civil service examination conducted for candidate for the Brevard postmastership.

Mr. Galloway made a grade of 90.60, which was high and made him "eligible No. 1." A letter from Congressman Weaver states that Mr. Galloway is being recommended as permanent postmaster, which is practically an assurance that he will be appointed.

Four other aspirants took the examination for the postmastership, their grades not being announced. Mr. Galloway was appointed acting postmaster on recommendation of Congressman Weaver upon resignation of Roscoe L. Nicholson who had served for several years.

TEACHERS TO ATTEND MEET IN ASHEVILLE

Transylvania county teachers are expected to attend at least one of the two-day sessions of the Western District Teachers Association which meets in Asheville on Friday and Saturday of this week.

DEER SEASON OPENS ON OCT. FIFTEENTH

Brevard sportsmen are cleaning rifles, checking over last year's ammunition supply and doing a lot of sunbathing, in anticipation of opening of the deer season on October 15th, which happens to fall on Sunday this year.

CEDAR MTN. GRADE AT BREVARD SCHOOL

Seventh grade pupils of the Cedar Mountain school are being transported to Brevard to relieve congested conditions at the one teacher school at Cedar Mountain.

A total enrollment of 51 with an average attendance of 46 for the first month of school is supposed to give another teacher to the Cedar Mountain school. Finding it impossible to get appropriations for another teacher there, Professor Bush had the seventh grade brought to Brevard.

GREAT THROGS AT FIRST COUNTY FAIR

Plans Being Made For Staging Another Event Next Year

Between four and five thousand people were estimated attendance at the two-day county fair held here last week, with the entry list reaching close to two thousand, and covering all phases of farm and home life.

Two large buildings on West Main street, donated for use of the fair by Judson McCrary and Mrs. W. L. Harris were used for display rooms, with the basements and back lots being utilized for livestock.

Committees in charge of the event were well pleased with response made to this the first county-wide event here in years, and plans are already in the making for staging another fair next fall with the county home in all probability being used as site.

Vocational agriculture and home economics teachers of Brevard and Rosman schools took a leading part in preparation and staging of the fair, with officers of the Transylvania Fair Association and committee members working for several days in order to make the fair a success.

Due to the fact that some of the chairmen in charge of departments have not turned in lists of blue and red ribbon winners, complete list of prizes will not be carried in this paper until next week. All committee chairmen are requested to send in lists to The Times office at once.

MARRIAGE BUSINESS ON INCREASE HERE

More people are "trading at home" for their marriage licenses, according to Register of Deeds Jess A. Galloway, a total of nineteen couples having procured the necessary papers here during the last three months, against eight in the previous quarter.

Mr. Galloway attributes this to the fact that the compulsory medical examination law was repealed by the last legislature, thus saving in the price of certificates.

IMPOSSIBLE TO ENFORCE PROHIBITION LAWS, SAYS CANDIDATE FOR REPEALERS

Editor Transylvania Times: I shall thank you to allow me to state, through the columns of the Times, my position with reference to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and also my past as well as my present attitude towards the liquor question, which I hope to do very briefly.

In the first place I desire to state that, as a candidate for delegate favoring repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, I am not thereby advocating the removal of proper and necessary control and regulation of the liquor business but rather because I am in favor of and advocate such necessary and proper regulation and control I am offering to become the candidate or delegate for the forces advocating repeal.

With reference to my personal attitude towards the whiskey question I respectfully ask that my record as a law-enforcement officer for some twelve years or longer in this county be recalled and reviewed. Without thought of egotism or boasting I can say that, as an officer, I have cut up more whiskey stills, arrested and procured the conviction of more men for violation of the prohibition law, captured and poured out more boot-leg and blockade liquor than any single officer, past or present, this county has ever had. I have faced unflinchingly—many times single-handed and alone—every type of liquor law violator including blockade runners, boot-leggers, liquor runners and racketeers, en masse; have captured their outfits, their vehicles for conveying their wet cargoes, arrested and procured the conviction of many such men and carried them to their gaols of this and other

HEAVY FROST REPORTED IN SEVERAL SECTIONS

Heavy frost was reported in several sections of the county Tuesday, with some localities finding truck crops damaged to some extent.

Smoke was seen spiralling from many chimneys in Brevard during the first of the week, with bathing suits a thing of the past.

MUSIC CLUB MEETS HERE OCTOBER 21ST

Western District Convention
To Hold One-Day Session in Brevard

Annual meeting of the western district of the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs will be held in Brevard Saturday, October 21, with the local Music Lovers' club acting as hostess to the 100 or more delegates and visitors expected to attend the one-day session. The meetings will be held at the Brevard Methodist church, and the luncheon at 1 o'clock will be served in the church dining room by ladies of the Methodist church. Price for the luncheon has been set at twenty-five cents per plate.

The morning program, featuring the senior music clubs, will begin at 10 o'clock, and the junior program will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The morning session will be presided over by the district director, Mrs. George S. McCall, of Marion, and an interesting and varied program has been prepared.

The largest number of juniors ever to attend a district meeting has signified intention of being present. Some of the most talented junior musicians in this section will appear on the program, it is said. A special feature will be a chorus of 50 voices from the Forest City Junior club. Also the jurors from this district who won first place in the state music contest at Salisbury will appear on the district program in vocal and piano solos and ensemble playing. Mrs. A. W. Honeycutt, of Lexington, state junior counselor, will deliver her annual message to the junior clubs.

Outstanding speakers on the day's program include Mrs. O. C. Hamilton, of Asheville, member of the national board; Mrs. Eugene Davis, of Statesville, state president; Mrs. Erick Norden, of Wilmington, chairman of national music week; Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Adams will be special honor guests.

The Mars Hill music club will furnish special music, and the Brevard club will entertain with musical numbers during the luncheon period.

TAX RECEIPTS SHOW LARGE CUT IN RATES FOR REAL PROPERTY

County Assessment Is Less Than Half That Of Last Year

Tax payers of Transylvania county who received their notices during the past few days have been especially pleased with the reduction in the amount, this being especially true in real property owners.

The rate, last year set at $1.65, is this year only $1.55, and added to this is the fact that the valuation of real property was cut in half at the last listing time, making a tremendous saving over last year for real property owners.

A particular instance is cited as follows: On a piece of property in the county last year assessed at $5,000 the tax was $82.50. Taxes this year under the rate are only $33.75.

EXTENSION COURSE TO BE OFFERED TEACHERS

Announcement is made that Mrs. Grace P. Woodman of the Extension Division of the University of North Carolina will meet with Transylvania county teachers at Brevard elementary school building Thursday afternoon of this week at four o'clock.

Mrs. Woodman is offering to form classes for teachers in extension work, the courses to carry two hours University credit and apply toward raising or reviving certificates on life or an A. B. degree. Eight hours may be earned during the school year.

counties while the hosts of good citizens who are now crying from the house-tops for you to vote against repeal were lounging sipping in the comforts of their own firesides unmindful and unconcerned as to the efforts I was making to halt the evil now so loudly complained of. Should they succeed in the present campaign they will be lending their aid in helping to perpetuate the evils above referred to.

After long experience and an honest effort to enforce the so-called prohibition law I long ago reached the conclusion that it is impracticable and impossible of enforcement. Its effects on the youth of our country have been most deplorable and until we bring the manufacture and sale of whiskey and other intoxicating beverages under government regulation and control, and I maintain that by no other method shall we be able to remove the liquor traffic from the hands of the cut-throat and the racketeer,—we shall continue to see our men and boys—and our women too, as for that matter,—able to buy upon the highways and byways of our country the present concoctions called whiskey, but which are, in reality, only a blending of certain poisons which, when taken into the stomach of man, render him almost immediately crazy and which would, if administered in larger portions, cause immediate death or permanent insanity.

These are some of the evils and conditions which repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the placing of the liquor business in the hands of the government will remedy.

There is involved in this campaign
