Henderson Says Press and Magazines Largely Owned By Brewery Interests

Editor The Transylvania Times: The story of the official career in this county of the candidate for repeal is very interesting. It sounds like the career of Gus Aiken back in the good-old days of the saloon and government distillery, when he was raiding every creek and branch and cave and dark corner, cutting up stills and knocking heads out of whiskey barrels and turning over wash; and "single-handed and alone" rushing into a great still house, as pretentious as any ordinary government distillery, and while the inmates rushed for their guns, turning over whiskey barrels and striking a match to light wood splinters and rushing out into the dark while bullets whistled about his head. Yes, the match and lightwood and whiskey gained headway until the flames were leaping into the tree tops as "Gus" made good his escape across the hill. It was exciting indeed, and dangerous, but "Gus" did it for the money and was quite willing for others to "comfortably lounge by their firesides" if they liked. It was freely whispered around in those days that the revenue officers would often cut just a few holes in a still so it could be easily patched, so they could get pay for cutting it again. And I have heard it hinted in those old days that the officers often carried a jug to keep their own "brandy cellars" well supplied while they were pouring out "such excellent brew" in the branches. And it was charged that certain blockaders kept the officers supplied and were not molested. Well, whether they tried or not, they didn't break up the blockading and they didn't cut out moonshine.

STATE PRESS GETS WET WIRES CROSSED

Create Impression That No Repeal Candidate Filed In Transylvania

Much confusion was caused here Sunday when a Raleigh Associated Press story was read in the Sunday papers to the effect that no candidate for repeal had filed in Transylvania county, thus ceding this and three other counties to the dry column without contest. It is not known how the misinformation was given the Associated Press.

Check up at the office of the board of elections revealed that Eck Sims duly filed petition for his candidacy as set out in a news story to that effect in The Transylvania Times of October 12, at two o'clock on the afternoon of October 7, 260 names being noted on the petition filed by Mr. Sims. Mrs. Jean Adams Haynes, candidate for retention of the 18th amendment filed several days prior to the seventh, with 187 names attached to her petition.

State papers of Monday afternoon and Tuesday carried a story correcting the impression, after the story had been corrected by The Transylvania Times through the Associated Press and the United Press.

FOOTBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Local Boys Meet Franklin In Second Game—Defeat Bryson City 7-0

First football game of the season to be played on the Brevard high school field is scheduled for Friday afternoon of this week, starting at 3:30, Franklin being the visiting team. Brevard fans are eagerly looking forward to a great game, the Brevard team showing up in fine manner in their first go which was played on the Bryson City high school field last Saturday afternoon resulting in a 7-0 win for the Brevard eleven.

Several brand new faces are seen in the Brevard lineup this year with plenty of beef in the line and some fast and peppy end and backfield material rounding out a good aggregation.

While no probable lineup has been announced for the Friday afternoon game, it is expected that practically the same team that played so well on the Bryson City field last Saturday will be started here Friday.

Tickets will be on sale Thursday afternoon at the Brevard high school and Friday morning in the uptown section, each person attending the game being expected to buy a ticket. Prices have been put at ten cents for students and 25 cents for adults in order that no hardship will be worked on any person, but at the same time the small contributions are expected to take care of expense of bringing the visiting team here.

A record crowd is expected to be on hand to root for the home team Friday afternoon at three-thirty, and regular workouts are being held by Coach Tison in order to get his eleven ready for the stiff team.

COMMISSIONERS SET EMPLOYMENT OFFICE TAX PAYMENT RULES

Will Accept Bonds On 1932 and Previous Year Tax In Lump Sums

The board of county commissioners in meeting Saturday ordered Tax Collector O. L. Erwin to refuse to accept bonds in payment of debt service portion of taxes in "piecemeal." That is, the debt service portion of 1932 and previous taxes may be paid with bonds as heretofore, but it will be necessary for the bondholder to pay sufficient taxes at one time to take up the entire $1000 bond in debt service instead of depositing the bond with Mr. Erwin and writing orders against it for varied amounts as has been the case heretofore.

It was the expressed opinion of board members that inasmuch as profit was being derived from those having bonds to apply on debt service portion of taxes, that it should be their duty to do the necessary allocation, instead of putting this extra work on the tax collector.

Settlement for the 1932 tax levy was made by the county commissioners in the meeting Saturday afternoon, report to the board made by Mr. Erwin having been audited by L. V. Sigmon and Alex H. Kizer.

The following resolution was passed by the board in regard to the payment of debt service portion of taxes in bonds past due:

"RESOLVED, that the report of O. L. Erwin, as Tax Collector for the 1932 taxes is found to be correct, except the balance on certain bonds paid by taxpayers on the debt service portion of their 1932 and previous year taxes and it appearing that the said O. L. Erwin that he has collected $253.11 from three certain bonds leaving a balance of $746.89 in his hands personally to be applied as directed by the owners of said bonds in the payment of their taxes. That said Erwin be directed to require the owners of said three bonds to immediately make arrangements for the payment of $746.89 as the debt service portion of such tax payers as said bond owners may sell interest in said bonds to."

"Upon motion duly made and carried, the said O. L. Erwin, tax collector, is directed not to receive any bond or bonds in payment of the debt service portion of taxes, as provided by the act of the Legislature of 1933, until and unless said bond is accompanied by sufficient tax bills to take up said $1000.00 as said debt service portion of said taxes and the remainder of said taxes in cash."

A total of $52,594.70 was reported collected by the tax collector against a levy of better than $147,000.
