Noted Physician Is Heard In Lecture

(Contributed)

A large and enthusiastic audienc was present at Lyday Memorial hospital Friday evening, January 7th, to hear Doctor D. Lesesne Smith of the Children's Clinic of Spartanburg lecture on the care of infants and child-

Beginning his talk with statistics showing the remarkable progress in preventive medicine, resulting in lowering the death rate in children, espec-ially infants, before they reach the age of one year. Dr. Smith stated that during the week of January 10th hundreds of specialists in children's diseases would hold a convention in the city of Washington, their objective being the cutting down of infant mortailty to a still lower percentage.

Quoting Doctor Smith: "For a num ber of years children have been suc cessfully immunized from two dreadful diseases, small pox and diptheria and it is now entirely possible to prevent their having whooping cough and measles."

Taking up the matter of habits and the early training of children, the speaker interspersed his remarks with a good deal of humor which was very informativie and highly entertaining. At the close of his lecture Dr. Smith very graciously answered several questions from the audience.

For the next lecture in the series being conducted by the board of trustees of the hospital an outstanding specialist in diseases of the nervous system will lecture on "Health

Psychology. Those in charge regret that limited seating space necessarily limits the number of guests, but it is hoped that during the series everyone interested will be able to hear one or more of the lectures

1-Day Service Not Adequate To Give Attention To All People of County

Approximately 225 people visited the re-employment office Wednesday, with 125 filing claims for unemployment conpensation, and many of the men registering for work.

The office workers will be in Posman Friday, and expect to again use the high school auditorium for the work of registration and filing claims. Over a hundred were registered there last Wednesday, according to Frank King, who is assisting in the work.

It is necessary that those coming under the unemployment compensation coverage, report each week at the reemployment office, and those requesting work are also urged to make applications at the office.

Effort is being made by county of-ficials and leaders here to have the re-employment and compensation office open as much as three days per week. Schedule now only calls for one day. However, the Friday engagement will be filled this week at Ros-

Many Children Have Diseased Tonsils

Facts of interest and information concerning the activities of the Transylvania unit of the state board of health were given by Miss Edith Bunton, state health nurse, Tuesday af-ternoon at the regular meeting of the P.T.A., held in the grammar school building.

Miss Bunton brought out among other things that 1,450 children of the county schools have been examined for various physical deficiencies. Of this number 25 percent were found to have defective tonsils; nine per cent bad vision; 33 per cent underweight. In the Brevard school 195 children were given dental examination and treatment, and 54 of this number were found to have defective teeth, and bad tonsils were discovered among 230 children.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. B. D. Franklin, and the vice president, Mrs. Goode Loftis, the meeting was in charge of the secretary Mrs. W. C. Austin. Mrs. Franklin's resignation was read and accepted with regret. The association voted to pay for two pair of glasses for the eye clinic held on Wednesday by the health unit. Mrs. C. E. Buckner, room represen-tative, requested the grade mothers to donate clothing for a number of needy 12-year-old boys.

Presbyterian Services

At the Presbyterian church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock a special sermon by the pastor, the Rev. C. M. Jones, will be delivered honoring the birthday of R. E. Lee, whose birth date is January 19. The sermon will be on "The Secret of Lee's Greatness." Visitors are cordially welcomed.

COMMUNITY PLANT

Centrally Located Unit Will Provide Recreation For Youth of Section

ROSMAN, Jan. 12-Plans are going forward for erection of a community building here which will be built by the community and the NYA.

Plans which have been drawn by F. H. Holden, county supervisor for the National Youth Administration, call for a log structure which will be court when the rooms are thrown to-gether, and will also be so construct-ed that boys and girls of the community will have separate units for their work and play, as well as space for community or fraternal gatherings

The lot near the Gloucester Lumber company store will be used for the building site, and materials for the project will be furnished by the community, the NYA and other agencies. When completed, the building will be similar to the one which is now being completed on the Brevard high school grounds, probably some larger.
