Senate Anti-Lynching Bill Being Considered

Casual poll of people in Brevard shows that present interest in the session of congress is for the most part in the attitude of senators on the anti-lynching bill.

It is expected that a vote to "gag" the fillibustering Southern senators will be held Thursday of this week, and Washington observers Wednesday were of the opinion that the bill would be laid aside at that time.

Under the anti-lynching measure a county is which a lynching occurred, would be liable for damages of $2,000 to $10,000, with the damages going to relatives of the lynch victim. The federal government would enforce the regulation under the bill.

J. M. Wells, manager of the re-employment service, said that regular schedule would be observed in Brevard on Wednesday and at Rosman on Fridays, while there was need for two-day service in this county.

Original plans three weeks ago were to have the office open only one day per week-at Brevard-but the registrations in the upper end of the county were so heavy that two days were found necessary.
