Congressman Weaver Throws Hat In Ring

Congressman Weaver is now serving his tenth term in Congress. He is a member of the Judiciary Committee of the House, and holds an important position on this committee, as chairman of one of the sub-committees charged with handling many important matters. At the present time the sub-committee, of which he is chairman, is considering, under a Resolution of Congress, the question of procedure and costs in the Federal District Courts, and especially has under consideration rules of procedure recently promulgated by the Supreme Court, under an Act of Congress passed in 1934. It is the purpose of these rules, and this Congressional action, to simplify and make uniform the practice in our Federal Courts throughout the country. This will be of much interest, and Mr. Weaver hopes, of much benefit not only to the members of the legal profession, but also to litigants throughout the nation. It will simplify the procedure and greatly reduce the costs in the courts.

CHRISTENBURY WILL COACH AT COLLEGE

Asheville High Mentor Takes Over Athletic Duties Here In August

John Christenbury, for the past year Asheville high school coach, will head the new Brevard college athletic program which is to be started during the year.

Christenbury, who will replace Coach Arthur Ranson, (who has tendered his resignation to enter the business field) will bring as his assistant here, Cline Farthing, associated with him for the past year in the Asheville high athletic work. Coach Christenbury expects to report for work August first, and Coach Farthing will be here prior to opening of the fall term.

In announcing selection of a director of athletics, President E. J. Coltrane stated that he had selected the man he believes will best fill the needs of the improved athletic program which is to be instituted at the college this year, and also stated that he is well pleased with the selection of assistant made by Coach Christenbury.

A more modern athletic set-up will greet the new mentor at Brevard, with work already having been started on the grassing of the athletic fields, and definite plans announced by President Coltrane for building of a $25,000 brick gymnasium. Grading work, and erection of a stone wall was completed last year by the WPA, with the college and town of Brevard cooperating, and upon completion of the sod work, cinder tracks, and other planned improvements, Brevard's athletic outlook will be second to none in junior college conference circles.

Christenbury is a native of Statesville, and made his mark in athletics at Davidson College where he was active in three major sports. In addition to this work in football and baseball, he was leader in the wrestling team for Davidson. He made the first string baseball nine three consecutive years.

He accepted the position of athletic director at Altamont consolidated high school, Crossnore, upon his graduation at Davidson and had three successful years there as director. Leaving Crossnore in the fall of 1934, he was named athletic director of the Bolles Military Training School at Jacksonville, Fla., where he remained until the fall of 1937, when he took over the head coaching position of Asheville high school.

His teams at Asheville in football and basketball had very successful seasons during the present term. Wins over Charlotte, Highpoint, Greenville, and Blue Ridge show the type work he did at Asheville. In basketball, his teams lost only two games during the season and went up to the Southeastern Tourney for high and prep schools at Washington and Lee.

Farthing is a graduate of Appalachian State Teachers college, Boone, where he played football for three years and was captain of the wrestling team. He was assistant coach in football last fall at Asheville and in charge of boxing.

Plans at the college are to enter teams in football, baseball, basketball and track in the North Carolina Junior conference this year.

Coach Arthur Ranson, who is rounding out two years work here has already started baseball work, and will remain as head coach at the college until June.

Pretty Girls, Airplanes, and Magazines

They were pretty girls, all of them, and they were very polite, very suave, and genteel—in fact they were plumb, smack, dab, nice.

"Are you interested in flying?" was the method of approach and the attractive lady had already had ten hours in the air (so she said) with prospects of getting the required extra ones.

PROVIDED—of course there was a provision in her getting the extra flying hours so necessary for a pilot-ess license, or whatever it is that lady flying machine manipulators get before they are allowed to go up in the big expanse between the earth and sky.

When and if she secured two hundred names of prominent business people, the extra flying hours would be provided, and "Would you give me your name and address, please," with a lot of copy, persuasion on the -Pu-Le-As.

We're Waiting, Please!

SEEKS REMOVAL OF MEMORIAL ARCHWAY

Local Citizens Want Soldiers Monument Placed Between New Road Entrances

Local citizens are interesting themselves in plans for moving the Pisgah National Forest memorial archway so that it will be set at a vantage point when the new link of highway 284 is completed.

Route of the new Pisgah Forest highway leaves the memorial arch to the left as it enters the forest, and plans of citizens here are to have the archway relocated in the triangle entrance of the new highway just beyond Davidson River bridge.

Approximately 100 feet of space will be left between the two wings of the new road where it leaves the Boylston highway, and those interested in the matter hope to be able to set the arch about half-way between the Boylston road and the forks of the double wings.

Built of reinforced concrete with a cobblestone veneer, the rugged arch was erected immediately after the close of the World War in commemoration of the boys from Transylvania county who lost their lives in the 1917-19 struggle.

Dr. C. W. Hunt, for years one of the outstanding physicians of Brevard, was instrumental in the erection of the monument, and his efforts are recognized by a bronze plate with the following inscription: "Originated and promoted by Dr. C. W. Hunt." Another plate on the arch carries these words: "Erected by citizens of Transylvania County, N. C., to honor men who served in the World War, 1917-19. This tablet was given by the Brevard Betterment Association."

Real purpose of the beautiful structure is given on a tablet on the left-hand pillar: "In loving memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice for their country—D. Monros Wilson, Boyd Wiley Ross, Thomas Joseph Turner, Brance Lorenzo Glazener, Ellis Freeman Burton, Scott Doggin, Buford Raines. This tablet was given by the National League for Women's Service."

Total cost of the structure was estimated at around $3,000, with the money being raised by popular subscription, and much of the material and labor given.

At the dedication of the archway, during 1920, all of Transylvania county declared a holiday, and a gala affair was held, with many notables from North and South Carolina in attendance.

TWO CREWS BUSY ON PISGAH FOREST HIGHWAY PROJECT

Chandler Started Grading On Lower Five Miles—Upper Being Completed

Workmen are engaged on both the lower and upper links of the Pisgah Forest road, with Chandler Brothers having around fifty men at work on the lower project.

The grade work is being started at the Looking Glass bridge, with the right-of-way work completed, and part of the structure finished. Four of the eight large culverts have been completed, Engineer G. G. Page reported Wednesday.

Plans call for completion of the entire 14-mile road by this fall, and work is being resumed near the top of the mountain this week by C. A. Ragland company, with around thirty men at work on the sub grading and crushing.

Fourteen miles of grading have been completed from the south of Looking Glass Creek to the top of the mountain at Wagon Road Gap, and surface work has been done on a part of this road.

The lower link comprises 6.3 miles, connecting with the Boylston road at the Davidson River bridge. The road will have a 20-foot surface of 4-inch stone, and will be surface treated later.

At no place on the 14 miles will the grade be over an eight percent maximum, and in the lower link, Engineer Page said that five percent would be tops.

Shrubbery Planted On Primary School Plot

The recent planting of shrubbery around the new primary school building on Broad street has added materially to the attractiveness of the building and its surroundings.

The shrubbery planting was sponsored by the Women's Civic club, as its major project for the year. It is said to be the best all-round planting program yet undertaken by the civic club.

John B. Verner, local landscape gardener, did the landscaping and supervised the planting of the shrubbery.

This is the fourth planting project of the civic club. The other three projects included the planting of shrubbery around the grammar school, the high school and the court house.

Many Children Given Diphtheria Treatment

Nearly five hundred children have been immunized against diphtheria in the past few weeks by the county health unit, with Dr. G. B. Lynch and Mrs. Chance visiting all schools in the county.

Cost of the toxoid was taken care of by the Red Cross and the Brevard Kiwanis club, with the medicine being furnished free in order to reach as many children as possible.

Dr. Lynch said that while the charge of ten cents was small, that a number of children in the county would not have taken the diphtheria treatment had it not been for the fact that cost of the toxoid was furnished by the two agencies, and he requested The Times to publicly acknowledge the donations made by the Red Cross and Kiwanis club.
