CHAMBER COMMERCE OPENED AT CITY HALL

Commodious Office Furnished Through Courtesy Bre- vard Aldermen

Brevard Chamber of Commerce opened offices in the City Hall building Tuesday, with Mrs. Ralph Fisher in charge as executive secretary.

A sign is being placed on the square directing the traveling public to the new West Main street location of the office, and a large sign is also being placed at the office.

Ample desk room and lobby space has been provided in the new city hall for the Chamber of Commerce, and the town board in meeting Monday night extended the courtesy of the office to the civic body. Private telephone will be installed.

Hundreds of inquiries from many sections of the country have already been handled this spring by the Chamber of Commerce, and those wishing to list their places of business with the chamber are requested to call at the new office at any time.

Special call is being made for furnished apartments and cottages at this time. Mrs. Fisher reports, with some calls for larger and more pretentious places.

A very nominal fee is being charged for membership in the chamber this year, and with the wide advertising program that was planned last winter and is now being carried out, better service than has been possible to give contributing members is assured.

Good Catches Made In Pisgah Fishing

While many of the fishermen who were in Pisgah National Forest the past week-end reported thousands of six and seven-inch trout, a few extra large fellows were caught, and altogether the open dates were satisfactory.

Bob Casler of Pisgah Forest, and I. T. Hall of Asheville each reported some 15-inch rainbows, while the average was between 9 and 10 inches.

Next open date in the Pisgah Preserve will be June 17, 18, and 19, in the North Mills River area. Only 40 men will be allowed to enter each day.

Such local sportsmen as John Smith, Osborne Bradley, and Dr. G. B. Lynch, looked the situation over carefully while in the forest last week, and are of the opinion that there are plenty of fish in Davidson River, and that by another season this will be a real fishing section.

Twenty-nine anglers caught their limit during the three days, with total catch by the 163 entries being recorded as 850, or an average of 5.21 per man.

NYA Classes Study Craft Working Here

Kimzey, McIntosh, Morgan High In Democratic Primary Voting

No Announcement Made As To Second Balloting For Clerk And Collector

Pat Kimzey, Spalding McIntosh, and Edwin Morgan were high men in the Democratic primary held last Saturday for selection of representative candidate, clerk of court, and tax collector, respectively.

R. Lee Whitmire led Congressman Zeb Weaver in this county; Bob Reynolds for senator hardly knew he had opposition from Hancock, so far as Transylvania county was concerned; and the Winborne-Grady fight for utilities commission was about an even draw.

In the representative race, Kimzey was nominated by a vote of 1352 to 1001; Spalding McIntosh polled 1061 votes in the clerk's race, followed by Fred Miller with 602, L. P. Wilson 287; Ed. H. Singletary 198, A. M. Paxton 194, and R. F. Tharp 97. Edwin Morgan for Tax collector polled 915 votes, R. P. Kilpatrick 756, O. L. Erwin 508, and Elmer Gillespie 184. No announcement had been made Wednesday by Mr. Kilpatrick whether he would call for a second primary in the tax collector's race, nor had Fred Miller said whether or not he would call for a run-off in the clerk's race. The second high men in each case have ten days in which to call for a second primary.

Lee Whitmire's count was 1430 against 382 for Congressman Weaver, although Mr. Weaver went ahead close to 15,000 in the district, piling up a tremendous vote in Buncombe, while Whitmire carried Henderson overwhelmingly.

Senator Bob Reynolds' vote gave him nearly 100,000 majority over Congressman Hancock. Wallace Winborne kept his seat as utilities commissioner by around 50,000 majority.

Abolishment Of County Home Is Studied By Board Commissioners

Many New Applications Now Filed For Old Age Assistance

Official proposition was made before the board of county commissioners by representatives of Haywood and Henderson counties whereby the county may be able to entirely dispose of the county home plant at Selma, and save considerable cash outlay each year.

The commissioners have taken the matter under advisement and are making a study of the proposition. No decision was made at the meeting Monday.

Under the plan submitted, people in the county home here could be cared for in either the Henderson or Haywood institution at a little more than half the cost now entailed and at the same time give the inmates as good or possibly better care than is now being operated in Transylvania.

It was pointed out that the average number of persons cared for in the Transylvania county home is 10, and that it costs nearly $250 per year per inmate to give care to each.

Most of these now in the county home here are eligible for old age assistance under the state and federal regulations, and while the cost would be nearly one-half as high to make allocation of funds to each of the old people as it is to keep them in the home, only one-fourth of this cost would be chargeable to the county, as the state and federal governments pay three-fourths of the monthly instalments sent as aid to aged people.

Three patients at the home would necessarily have to be taken care of in an institution, but under the proposition made, these could be cared for at the Henderson county home at a minimum cost of $12 per month, which is half of the cost per person at the small unit operated here. It was pointed out that Henderson and Haywood each have a large number of patients to care for at their homes, and that in caring for larger numbers the cost of operation is naturally smaller per person.

Another factor to be considered is that wherein approximate cost per person to Transylvania county is $250 per year, this same amount put into the co-operative old age assistance fund would provide aid to at least eight persons at $10 per month at no increased cost to the county. Thus for the cost of caring for ten people in the county home, $10 per month could be secured through the old age assistance plan for 80 people at no increased cost to the county.

The commissioners did not pass on the matter at their meeting Monday, but are studying the figures as presented, and are checking with county boards in the state considering the same plan.

Eighty-one aged people in Transylvania county are now receiving old age assistance, and there are a number on file for over a hundred additional ones.

In Brevard township, W. C. Smith was nominated for constable of 739 to 545. C. M. Lance was named constable in Catheys Creek township of 126 to 26. Perry Gravely was named over M. C. Collins in Henderson township by a vote of 192 to 95.

More votes were cast in this race than any other, with 2,409 being tallied. For the representative of the north, the vote was 2,852, and 2,362 in the south.
