

Seen And Heard Around Court

Judge said that was very unusual—that most folk "had only a bottle of beer" when they came before him. Fifty dollars and the costs, license revoked for 12 months, and three months suspended sentence.

Theodore Rogers of Franklin, was another youngster who told the truth about being drunk and driving a car (or rather a pickup truck) and he, too, got the minimum sentence of $50 and costs.

Best thing to do to avoid having past due court costs is to stay out of trouble, was one of the very timely remarks made by His Honor.

Frank Kilgore, gentleman of color, who was charged with non-support of illegitimate child was given six months, but suspended on condition that he pay the mother's doctor bill of $25, the court costs, and $1.50 weekly toward support of the child.

The usual Will Gravelly case was up Monday morning, and settled immediately after lunch when he agreed to pay his wife $6 monthly, and $3.00 per month on costs. In case he fails just one day over the first of the month he gets 12 months on the roads. Solicitor Ridings told the judge that he had been trying for four years, and he wanted something definite done about it. Judge Pless said that he himself had been contending with Will for maybe ten years.

Mrs. Velma Brown, charged with having whiskey for sale, was given a modified sentence after she submitted, due to the fact that she had several small children to keep. She was given suspended sentence, and put on probation for two years.

Thelma Lloyd has been working in the pail as cook—she is still working there, but her pay has stopped for 60 days. She took a swipe at another colored woman with a razor, and now she is serving a two months' sentence.

Other cases disposed of Tuesday and Wednesday morning included: Raymond Wilson, board bill and carrying concealed weapon, six months suspended; Bill Bradshaw and Ray Miller, affray, continued for defendant; Howard Whitmire (of Rosman) and Fred Chapman, breaking into school house, not guilty; Louie Whitmire, house-breaking, two years; Clyde Barton, Frank Barton, and Arthur Barton, affray, six months suspended on payment of one-half costs and pay $50 to Bill Bryson; Bill Bryson, affray, six months suspended; Bennett Stancil, affray, one-half costs, and six months suspended.

Doyle Sims, assault with deadly weapon, six months suspended; Marlon Covel, public drunkenness and assault with deadly weapon, 45 days in jail; Joe Mace, assault with deadly weapon, 30 days suspended; Willie Reynolds, larceny, 12 months; Elzie Young, violation prohibition laws, $25 and costs, and six months suspended; John English, violation prohibition laws, three months; Jess Walker, fornication and adultery, six months; Odell Ward, violation prohibition laws, $50 and costs; Jess Owenby, public drunkenness, 15 days in jail; Roxie Clayton, violation prohibition laws, continued; Ralph Gravelly, non support, continued.

Buck Bowen, costs in public drunkenness case, 30 days; Gainus Bowen, costs in public drunkenness, 30 days; Oscar Riddle, driving car under influence whiskey, $60 and costs; Cliff Baynard, public drunkenness, and driving car under influence whiskey, instant process; Howard Whitmire (of Rosman) and Lawrence Davis stealing truck—Whitmire 3-5 years; Davis 12-18 months.

Will Bennett, assault with deadly weapon, 12 months; Hubert Clayton, violation prohibition laws, six months; Matthew Bailey, carrying concealed weapon, six months suspended; Sank Ellis, disturbing religious worship, $10 and costs; Millie Woods and Mary Jane Woods, six months suspended on condition leave state as agreed.

A number of instant capias were issued, and several cases were rendered judgment absolute against bondsmen, with expectation that there will be a large group in court to face His Honor Monday morning when the civil term opens, and to which a number of cases have been set for answers, either from the defendants themselves or from their bondsmen.

Sheriff George Shuford was instructed to get defendants who had not paid, or who had not appeared, and hold them in jail until Monday.

Waterfront Directors Met Here Wednesday

Camp waterfront directors from all sections of Western North Carolina gathered at Camp Carolina near Brevard on Wednesday for a one-day training school in waterfront management. Ramone S. Eaton, of Washington, D. C., director of the annual aquatic school here for the American Red Cross was in charge of the day's program assisted by other experienced instructors. Between thirty and forty camp waterfront directors were in attendance at the all-day session.

TRAIL WORK PUSHED IN NATIONAL FOREST

building waterbreaks and stone steps. A vista will be cleared on the top of the mountain and hikers should be able to see into Asheville, fifteen miles distant. The Mount Pisgah trail is accessible from the Pisgah Motor road from Candler and Asheville and connects up with the State Highway from Brevard and Waynesville at Wagon Road Gap.

The second trail in popularity is the Lookingglass trail from Davidson river to the top of Lookingglass Rock. This trail is two miles in length and has been recently reconstructed by the Forest Service.

Hikers who like to get out in the rough will enjoy the trail along the Pisgah Ledge from Wagon Road Gap to Tennessee Bald. This is a twelve mile hike. Two fine springs are located at Tennessee Bald and Cold Springs. Hikers should either plan on having someone meet them with a car at Wagon Road Gap or at Pinhook Gap. This trail passes above Big Yellowstone and Little Yellowstone Falls on the Pigeon River. It also follows the route of the new survey of the Park to Park Highway. Anyone taking this trip should secure a berry permit from the Pisgah Ranger Station as this is blueberry time.

The South Mills Trail has been maintained from the Turkey Pen Guard Station to the Cantrell Creek Lodge by Warden Huffman and a crew of local men. This trail is in excellent condition and is ideal for horseback travel. Permission can be secured at the supervisor's office in Asheville to camp at the Cantrell Creek Lodge over night.

This same Lodge is used as a checking station during the South Mills Wilderness hunts. From the Cantrell Creek Lodge a trail is to be constructed by Warden Huffman's crew to Squirrel Gap up Cantrell Creek. This trail will enable travelers to walk to the Thompson Creek Trail and from there to the Pisgah Lodge. The main trail up South Mills river passes Wolf Ford and High Falls and joins the Thompson Creek trail at the TVA water gauge. This trip through the heart of the Game Preserve is well worth taking, as wildlife in abundance can be seen.

Old Vanderbilt trails of interest are the "Shut In" trail, from the Elk Pasture on the Pisgah Motor road, through Big Creek passing the Ferrin Knob tower to highway No. 191 at Bent Creek, a distance of 14 miles, and a carefully graded trail; and the Laurel Mountain trail from the Pisgah Motor road at the Pisgah Inn to the Yellow Gap road a distance of eleven miles and then follow the road to the North Mills River Recreational Area.

Numerous places of interest can be seen from the trails on the Pisgah district that cannot be seen any other way. Many beautiful falls rumble unheard because the public hates to leave the roads and their comfortable cars. Two of the finest falls in this country are the Devils Courthouse Falls and the Hamilton Neill Falls, yet visitors are few and far between. The Devils Courthouse Falls are located above CCC Camp F-14 in Balsam Grove on the Courthouse road and are only a quarter of a mile from the road. The Hamilton Neill Falls are located below the Davidson River Trout Rearing station and a trail takes off from the Daniel Ridge Road a few hundred yards above the intersection of this road and the Davidson River road. The Hamilton Neill Trail follows an old railroad grade to the very top of the falls. Another trail crosses below the falls.

Brevard is fortunately located within two miles of many picturesque trails. Notable among these are the Cagle Mt. trail that begins at the intersection of highway 280 and 284 and continues for fifteen miles to Gloucester Gap on the Cathey's Creek road; the Kings Mills trail to Cat Gap and Johns Rock, the Lamb's Creek trail down Shut In or Horse Cove and many others that afford a network of enjoyable trails in this vicinity.

Ranger John W. Squires realizes that a great deal of the country covered by the Pisgah trail is new to visiting nature hikers and would be glad to give information on these trails to anyone who will stop at the Ranger's office at Pisgah Forest.

Check Flashers Try Sneed Siniard Again

Sneed Siniard of North Brevard had his second case of check forged against him last week, and again the forgers have been captured, without the checks having been charged against Mr. Siniard's account.

Two checks were turned in against Mr. Siniard Monday morning of this week, for $10.50 and $12.50, but they were turned down by the cashier at Transylvania Trust company, and the officers called.

Bill Vaughn, aged about 18; Walt Pearson, and Reuben Clayton, were arrested this week by policeman of the town, and are being held in the case. Vaughn is said to have written the two checks, and Pearson and Clayton did the cashing, taking one to each of the two A&P stores.

GLANCING BACK AT BREVARD

(From the file of August 15, 1902)

The Masonic Lodge is undergoing a general overhauling. A raised platform has been extended all around the room, with new rostrum at the end of the building. The walls are being papered, matting is being placed on the floor and the entire inside of the hall is to be repainted and varnished. New and handsome chandeliers will be put in and other little improvements that will add to the beauty and comfort of the hall will be made. When all the work that is now started is completed the Dunn's Rock Lodge will have a home second to none in this section of the country.

The Hawkins safe blowers are still at large with very little if any clue as to who they are. The basket they used and left by the safe, was identified by Mrs. Ledbetter of Davidson River. The parties who borrowed it on the evening before the robbery claimed to be a camping party and bought some rations from Mrs. Ledbetter and borrowed the basket to carry it out to their camping place. The same parties were seen by others in this section on the day before the safe was opened and since have been missing. Policeman Alken and others have taken in the surrounding country and towns in search of the guilty parties, but so far nothing has been learned as to their whereabouts. Mr. Hawkins says 22 or 23 watches were taken instead of 15 as first reported.

It is thought now that the new residence of Dr. J. W. Wallis, opposite the Franklin hotel, will be finished in the next two weeks, and that the work of the Woodbridge house will be completed within three weeks. Work on Jasper Orr's residence is being pushed ahead, and it looks as if the outside work was almost completed. The side wall of the new store room adjoining England's store is up to the first joist, while the rock and brick for the foundation of J. W. McMinn's new brick building have been placed on the ground ready for use.

A series of meetings is in progress at the Baptist church this week. In these services Pastor Newton is assisted by Rev. D. W. Herring. The congregations so far have been good and much interest is being manifested. Mr. Herring is a fine preacher, a devoted Christian and is doing good work.

Mrs. Sam Allison, who has been quite ill for some two weeks, is still very sick. There has been little if any change in the last few days, and her condition is still almost hopeless. Last Monday she was moved to the Dr. Sales place near the home of Mr. Allison's father. Her many friends sincerely hope that she may yet recover.

On Wednesday the Epworth League and Methodist Sunday school went out to Glen Cannon falls and enjoyed the day picnicking in the woods. Pastor and Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Puett and Miss Mamie Allison chaperoned the party.

Robert and Henry Moss, who live in Buncombe county, were arrested Monday in the vicinity of the Pink Beds for digging ginseng contrary to law. They were brought to Brevard and appeared before Justice W. P. Whitmire Tuesday. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed on each.

V. B. McGaha met with a painful accident last Saturday afternoon. In attempting to drive several cattle from a cane patch he fell and broke his arm near the wrist. While it gives him much pain, he is not confined to his room and is able to be about his work.

Few persons who remain constantly in their home town comprehend how rapidly they are growing or at what pace they are traveling the road of progress to prosperity. After an absence of more than four months yet rested and renewed News editor returns to the peaceful haunts and equable climate of Brevard to find that his town has almost outgrown his recognition, and he hastens to tell his old readers of the many improvements which have been commenced, continued and completed while he was resting among the lakes of Michigan and Indiana. The fact that these investments are largely by our own citizens marks our town as under the control of men of marked ability, enterprise, progress and business sagacity. We doubt if there is another town of less than 600 population in the South, or even in the United States, that has as good a water supply and sewerage system, and there is no reason why it should not be the most popular health resort in the mountains. The following gives a list of the improvements that have been started or completed since we left Brevard in March, and the approximate cost of same: J. W. McMinn, residence, $6,000; J. Woodbridge, residence, $10,000; Dr. W. J. Wallis, residence, $3,500; M. J. Orr, residence, $3,000; N. McMinn, cottages, etc., $1,500; J. L. Bell, cottage, $750; A. H. King, cottage, $2,000; A. K. Orr, two cottages, $4,000; J. W. McMinn, business bldg., $20,000; T. W. Whitmire, residence, $3,500; Misses Hume and Breese, improvements, $1,000; Industrial school building, $7,000; N. and N. E. McMinn, business building, $4,000; sewerage, $2,000; brick and tile improvements, $1,000; J. C. King, barn, $400; J. L. Hawkins, dairy, $500; Uriel Cooper, cottage, $450; A. C. Norton, cottage, $400; W. J. Puett, improvements, $200; Mull cottage, $500, all totaling more than $75,000 invested in improvements in our little town—and the end is not yet.

Part of Hiway 284 Closed to Traffic

Old highway 284 from the Pink Beds to the first bridge at the intersection of the new highway in the Pisgah National Forest was closed on Wednesday for a two-week period, it has been announced by W. W. Huber, assistant forest ranger. The forest service road toward John's Rock and up to the Pink Beds will remain open and is in good condition.

The White Pine and the Davidson River camp grounds will not be available to the public on week days during this period, but might be available on week-ends, it is announced. There will be no attendants of the CCC boys at White Pine camp while this section of the highway is closed.

Warning has been given by forest officials that it will be dangerous to use the Davidson River swimming hole during the next two weeks, on account of dynamiting which will be in progress on the road above the pool. Chandler Brothers in charge of the road construction work will employ experts in the business to do the dynamiting to avoid damage to the pool and surrounding sections.

Fishermen who wish to use the Avery Creek over the week-end may do so, it is stated officially, but it will be necessary for them to walk up from Davidson River.

Invention of Ice Cream Cones

GEORGE WASHINGTON liked to eat ice cream. He had a specially-built freezer in which his servants made ice cream for him whenever they could get ice.

But no one ever tasted an ice cream cone before 1900. The honor of its invention goes to the girl friend of Charles E. Menches, a young ice cream salesman in St. Louis. Menches was doing his courting during the St. Louis exposition in 1904.

On one occasion he brought his fiancée a bunch of flowers and an ice cream sandwich at the same time. Lacking a vase, the resourceful lady took one of the layers of the sandwich and rolled it into a cone to act as a vase. She then rolled the other cone in the same way, and so was invented the ice cream cone.

The ice cream sundae is of an earlier origin. About 1870, the city council of Ithaca, N. Y., passed a law prohibiting saloons from selling drinks on Sunday. The law, however, did nothing to prevent bar customers from getting thirsty on Sundays the same as any other day. The pharmacist in a drug store across the street from the city's leading saloon was not slow to capitalize on this human frailty. He devised a Sunday concoction made of ice cream to provide relief for thirsty customers on that day in place of stronger fare. In almost no time, his idea had spread to all the other towns in the country that also had Sunday closing laws for saloons.

Plenty of room on the "Honor Roll"—send in your renewal today.
