

MANY WORKERS ON ECUSTA PLANT JOB

First Steel Tank Completed—
Buildings Going Up In
Pisgah Forest Valley

Over 300 Transylvania men are employed at the new plant of the Ecusta Paper Corporation at Pisgah Forest, and from the square in Brevard one is able to see the first of three water tanks that has been completed.

Another high structure being erected is the huge smokestack that will reach up 225 feet. Already more than 130 feet of the chimney has been built, with the letters "CORP" built of white tile brick. The name "Ecusta Paper Corp." will be built into the tall stack facing the Davidson River bridge and entrance to Pisgah National Forest.

Steel workers follow close on the heels of cement men who are laying the wide and deep foundations down to bed-rock for the several buildings. The rat-tat-tat of the air hammers and the slinging of white hot rivets from the forge below form a fascinating operation as beam after beam of the steel structures go on up to make the main buildings.

Still other crews of men follow the steel workers, enclosing the buildings, with brick and steel, and putting on roofs, with painters close behind.

At other places on the two-hundred acre tract of land, crews of men with shovels and wheelbarrows make ready for carpenters to go down in the earth and build forms for other concrete foundations, and the operations are repeated again and again, as another and another of the buildings take shape.

Fiske-Carter Construction company of Greenville, are following closely the request of the Ecusta Corporation in giving Transylvania men first chance at all jobs, and this adds to the increase in business which the Ecusta has brought to business houses in Pisgah Forest and Brevard.

Completion of the plant in early 1939 will, in many respects, mark the beginning of a new industry in the United States. Almost all of high type cigarette paper used by leading cigarette manufacturers in their national brands is now imported from France.

North Carolina will, with completion of the Ecusta Paper Corporation's plant, be able to give to the American smokers a "Tar Heel cigarette" in its entirety, with the tobacco grown in Western Carolina, the fine paper for wrappers manufactured from native grown flax and the processing of the component parts into the already popular brands by plants within the confines of Tarheelia.

Leading American cigarette manufacturers have already expressed their entire satisfaction with the paper that the new American corporation has made after years of experiments with all-American products, and a ready market is assured for the product of the new plant, which will give employment to several hundred Transylvania men and women.

CHRIST SCHOOL TO PLAY AT BREVARD FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Game Starts Early — Shift In Lineup Probable To Give
Locals More Fight

Christ School comes to Brevard Friday afternoon to play Coach Cox's eleven on the high school grid.

The game will start at 3 o'clock, and is destined to be one of plenty scrapping. For the past several years Brevard and Christ School have had it nip and tuck with the Greensies having the edge insofar as number of games won.

Two Brevard chaps—Charles Pickelsimer and Chicken Loftis, are playing in the Faysoux backfield, being two of the smaller boys on the squad.

Christ School's line averages 162 1-2 pounds against Brevard's 148 1-2; the backfield trails Brevard by one pound average.

Coach Cox said Tuesday that his probable starting lineup would be Allison and Wright at ends; Lance and Dick Hamlin as tackles; Hilemon and Jones as guards, Pat Hamlin center; Teague, quarterback; Hollar and Misenheimer, halves; Ashworth full. Varner and Wharton, as well as Jackson and Walker, will see action during the game.

Tickets are already on sale, with interest running high. Christ School defeated Waynesville last week, which makes them look much better than Brevard, but the Coxmen will be fighting at home, which always adds to their aggressiveness.
