Brevard Pastor Probably Be Transferred—Change In Rosman Expected

The Rev. J. H. Brendall and several Methodist leaders from this section are attending the annual Western North Carolina conference which is meeting in Charlotte, Thursday through Sun-

The Rev. Mr. Brendall is rounding out four years work at Brevard, and will probably be sent to another field, in accordance with the transfer plan of the conference of allowing one minister to remain on a charge for four years. The Rev. John Bennett, who has been in charge of the Brevard-Rosman circuit, is asking for his release in order to devote his full time to teaching at Brevard College.

During the four years that Mr. Brendall has been in Brevard, many improvements have been made at the church, and the indebtedness has been cut from $12,000 to $7,400, to make a fine material showing

Bond in the sum of $5,000 for Mr. Ly-Forest people, had gone to Lenoir to attend the hearing.

Chief witness for the state was Mrs. Fred Tolbert, widow of the slain man, who took the stand first. Mrs. Tolbert testified that her husband leaped from the window of their home on the county game warden, came to arrest Tolbert on a charge of hunting squirrels out of season and resisting an officer who had attempted to arrest the young man on the hunting count. She said she saw Lyday running after Tolbert and that he fired at the young man from behind while he was running. She stated that Tolbert had no weapon.

Lucille Tolbert, sister of the slain man, and other members of the family, took the stand and substantiated her

START SUNDAY EV

Series of Meetings Will Be Held By Noted Minister -All Are Invited

The Rev. Dr. Zeno Wall, pastor of the First Baptist church, Shelby, will begin revival services at the Brevard Baptist church Sunday, with morning and evening services to be held throughout the week, and possibly longer. He will assist the pastor, the Rev. Yancey C. Elliott, in the special series of meetings.

Dr. Wall is beginning his 14th year as pastor of the Shelby church, and the years of his service there have been attended by great success spiritually and otherwise. The total church membership is over 2,000, and during the past year there have been 193 additions to the church. The average Sunday school attendance is around 900, with a training union attendance of around 500, and the total offering through envelopes on one Sunday re-cently was $1,059.87.

Dr. Wall has held successful pastorates at other churches in this state and elsewhere, and has conducted successfully revival meetings in various Baptist churches.

Much interest is being shown in preparations for the revival here next week, which promises to result in bene-fit to the church and the community.

An invitation has been extended by the pastor to those of other denomina-tions to attend the opening service Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The services each evening through the week will be held at 7:30, and the morning hour will be announced Sunday.
