Three Agencies In Transylvania Receive Praise of National Representative

Ladies Are Active
In addition to the fact that the county is making a fine showing in funds sent to national headquarters, work is also being carried on by ladies in the sewing rooms, and in the knitting circles which were established several days ago.

Garments and medical supplies are being furnished by ladies of the sewing department, and sweaters are being knitted by a number of ladies in their homes. All supplies will be shipped immediately to the war-stricken areas, and all funds collected are sent to national headquarters.

Aid Is For Allies
Ray Eaton, staff member of the American National Red Cross, said here Tuesday that all supplies, and all goods purchased by the American Red Cross would be distributed by and through the American agencies in the battle-torn and refugee-housing areas, and that in no instance would Germany be allowed to use funds or supplies.

"We now have seven people in France supervising the relief work we are doing there," Mr. Eaton told The Times, "and unless Hitler agrees, and carries out the contract of allowing our own officers to have full and complete charge of all distribution, we will immediately withdraw to England, and other refugee sections where there is plenty of work, and more, to do," the official stated.

"The American Red Cross is now maintaining offices in Paris, in Bordeaux, and other centers," Mr. Eaton said, and we have an agreement with the German government that our methods and manner of distributing relief will not be disturbed, and when this agreement is broken, we leave the refugee situation immediately to his own account."

Strict Enforcement of Law Being Pushed Throughout State of North Carolina

Several others have made inquiry, Mr. McIntosh said, and it is expected that an equal number more will be registered within a few days. Notice was carried in The Times last week to the effect that failure of any non-citizen to register would be punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Two people who have been residents of this section for more than 20 years had failed to register, it was noted by Mr. McIntosh, and while they are regarded as good citizens in every respect, they too, were required to register under the 1927 act of the legislature which is being put into strict enforcement all over the state as a move to thwart possible "fifth column" activities in North Carolina.

Chamber of Commerce Asks 'Missed' People In Town To Aid Further Census Move

Preliminary census report for Transylvania county released Wednesday afternoon gives a total count of 12,229—Brevard's count as 3,048.

Supervisor Charles Z. Flack of the Asheville office, said that these figures were subject to correction, and would possibly show slight change after thorough re-check has been made.

The census figures show only 27 vacant houses in Brevard, which is believed to be the best record of any town in the state of like population.

The count shows 1,018 farms in Transylvania county, which is a gain of 288 over 1930, but a loss of 58 over the

Have You Been Counted In Census?

If you live inside the City limits of Brevard, and have not been counted in the 1940 census report, the Chamber of Commerce requests that you telephone the office, No. 14; the City Hall, No. 15; or The Transylvania Times, No. 7, and give name of the head of your family, number in the family and the correct street address. Effort is being made by the C of C to increase the count in Brevard.

check in 1935. Some counties have shown a 25 percent loss in farm count.

In Brevard there are listed 712 housing units in which one family was residing at the time the census was made. Some few of the vacant houses in Brevard belong to summer residents, and were vacant at time of the census, several weeks ago, but are now being used.

Brevard had an approximate population increase during the past 10 years of 30 percent, while percent increase throughout the county was 27.

Housing units occupied in the entire county were listed as 2662, with 298 units vacant.

Only 14 infants under the age of four months were listed in Brevard, and only 96 in the entire county. This shows a decline over ten years ago of better than 10 percent.

Increase in population for the county over 20 years, shows: 1920, 9,803; 1930, 9,589; 1940 (preliminary) 12,229. For the town, 20 year period shows: 1920, 1,858; 1930, 2,339; 1940 (preliminary) 3,048.

The increase in both Brevard and county population figures is regarded as exceptionally fine, the district supervisor said.

In the guessing contest conducted by The Transylvania Times, with $5.00 cash prize, and two subscription prizes offered, Mrs. T. A. Smith of Lake Toxaway is nearest to the preliminary report, with 12,225; Mrs. Robert Scruggs of Brevard R-2, 12,222; Walter Shipman, Penrose, 12,237; Mrs. D. H. Hollingsworth, Brevard R-2, 12,241.

Prizes will be sent as soon as the district office certifies the figures as being correct. However, the count may be changed slightly, Mr. Flack said over the telephone Wednesday when he reported the preliminary count.
