

Winners Of Annual Leadership Contest Among Student Body

The annual Elk's youth leadership contest was won this year by Charles Taylor. He received a $50 savings bond as first prize.

Taylor is also active in many extra curricular activities in and around BHS. He is co-editor of the annual staff, president of the Key club and Teenage center, member of the debating team and active in 4-H.

Floyd McCall, another outstanding student at BHS, won second prize and received a $25 savings bond.

Capturing third honors in the boys' competition was Brevard's outstanding athletic scholar, Jerry Cabe. He and McCall were almost tied with Taylor for the winner's award.

In Rosman high school, Sarah Whitmire was the first place winner in the girls' competition and received a $50 savings bond.

Each contestant prepared a folder containing his record and recommendations. The awards were given on the basis of youth leadership in the school and community.

All students entering the contest will be able to compete for the State and National scholarships.

Brevard's winner last year, Doug Page, won the state grand prize of $500.

PLAN OF FLOOD

to be flooded on an average of about once in ten years. All roads leading out of Brevard, with the exception of the Asheville road, are flooded on an average of 3 times annually, sometimes for as much as 24 hours.

Land used within the flood plain area is limited by the frequency of flooding. Land that floods on the average of one to two times a year is used for production of vegetables, even though complete losses occur frequently. Land that floods more frequently, but is not subject to severe scour, is used for pasture and hay. Areas that flood most frequently are also subject to severe scour from flood water and are therefore returning to perennial woody vegetation.

Numerous farmers spent from ten to fifty dollars per acre reshaping and leveling flood plain land as it is damaged by the sediment deposition and scour resulting from flooding each year. Data is not available as to the average annual dollar value of damages caused by flood water, sediment, and flood plain scour; however, farm leaders estimate that the annual loss is in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Approximately three-fourths of the water shed is in forest cover and, in addition to the crop losses referred to, sizeable losses are being incurred in damages to timber and grazing areas. Improved forest management is one of the major needs on the water shed and would be one of the major accomplishments of the flood control plan.

These are the physical factors with which the flood control plan will deal. We are now ready to consider the objectives of the plan. (To Be Continued)

SENATOR SAM

(Continued from Page Four) country a written constitution. It is incompatible with the primary object of all law. These men, the Founding Fathers, "were not visionaries toying with speculations or theories, but practical men, dealing with the facts of political life as they understood them." Chief Justice John Marshall declared in his great opinion in Gibbons vs. Ogden that "the enlightened patriots who framed our Constitution and the people who adopted it must be understood . . . to have intended what they said."

Court Role Clear It is as clear as the noonday sun that the role of the Supreme Court as the interpreter of the Constitution is simply to ascertain and give effect to the intent of its framers and the people who adopted it. The meaning of the Constitution was fixed when it was adopted. The changes that experience would teach should be made were provided for by Article V. In this matter there is no judicial usurpation.
