

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema

Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire. There is a harassing discomfort caused by Eczema that becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source.

The source of Eczema is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle today, and you will see results from the right treatment. Write for advice. MEANT FORM OF CRITICISM
Original Expression, "Getting the Dickens," Was Not, as Many Think, Something Profane.

Sometime, somewhere, from somebody we all get "the Dickens." And those of us who become prominent get it more than the others.

Among those of us ordinary mortals who occasionally find relief in letting off steam in the form of something more expressive than slang, there seems to be a common misconception that "getting the Dickens" is a modification or abbreviation of (heaven help us!) "getting the devil." It is not. It is a harmless, legitimate and respectable expression that may be used with impunity in the best of company. It is simply an allusion to our old friend, Charles Dickens.

Though immortal as a novelist, Dickens was well known in his own time as a newspaper man. So vitriolic is he said to have been in his attacks on faulty public officials or other prominent men that gradually it came to be said, when anyone was criticised by him, that he got "the Dickens."

REASON IN LOWER ANIMALS

That They Possess More Than Mere Instinct Seems to Have Been Abundantly Proved.

In the woods when male deer get to fighting, the rattle of their clashing antlers may be heard a long way off, and sometimes other males hearing the sound make toward it and lure away the female over which the other two are fighting.

Hunters frequently employ this knowledge of deer habits to decoy bucks into range of their rifles by rattling together a couple of sets of old antlers.

Take it all in all, it is hardly fair to the animals to say they merely possess instinct, when we have so many instances of their reasoning powers. If monkeys were able to preserve the history of each generation of their species as humans do with the printing press—well, anyway, it is too bad that Garner didn't live to establish on the Florida coast his monkey colony. Had he done this, who knows what startling discoveries he might have made concerning their intellect?—Exchange.

LEGIONAIRES OF DIVIDED OPINION

TWO EXPRESSIONS OF CONVICTION ON BONUS MAKE INTERESTING READING.

ONE WANTS ACTION RATIFIED

Another Thinks Conditions Just Now Do Not Justify Enormous Expense Bonus Plan Entails.

Raleigh.

Officers of the American legion in North Carolina are far from being united in their position on the proposed bonus or extra pay plan for soldiers, now being considered by a congressional committee.

Of four men who have replied to a letter of inquiry from Dan W. Terry, state publicity officer, one is in favor of relief legislation along the lines suggested by National Commander D'Olier, one regards the bonus as an appreciation of service, but not as pay, two are opposed with reservations in favor of the disabled soldiers.

Allen Adams, of Greensboro, member of the executive committee of the Fifth district, is of the opinion that the state commander should assemble the executive committee together at some central point and that this committee should pass a resolution endorsing the actions of the national commander.

Of very different tone is the communication of A. R. Parshley, of Clinton, another member of the executive committee of the Third district. He said:

"I am very glad of an opportunity to raise my voice against any bonus plan for ex-service men. I should, however, like to make exceptions with regard to disabled men. I do not believe that the amounts received under the War Risk Insurance are ample, and it is quite possible that much injustice has been done. As for the ordinary man, like myself, there are jobs a-plenty, and I do not begrudge at all the time I spent in service. Nor do I think that conditions would justify the enormous expense which any bonus plan would necessitate.

Dissension in the Ranks.

The McGirt-Kirkpatrick plan for a bond issue of $50,000,000 to build roads in North Carolina has developed dissension in the ranks of the North Carolina Good Roads association. Some of them, notably Miss Hattie Berry, secretary of the association, have come out actively against the plan to press the matter at the July session of the legislature.

The Governor on Suffrage.

"I have a profound conviction that the special session of the North Carolina legislature will ratify the suffrage amendment regardless of what other states may do," declared Gov. T. W. Bickett, after declining, on the grounds of propriety and courtesy, to send telegrams to Delaware urging the ratification of the amendment by that state.

Tax Supervisor Seventh District.
J. C. Reid, of Charlotte, has been appointed tax supervisor for the seventh district to succeed Major A. L. Bulwinkle, of Gastonia. Reid takes up the work as supervisor under the state revaluation act and will have charge of the district comprising the counties of Mecklenburg, Gaston, Cleveland, Lincoln, Catawba, Stanly, Anson and Union.

Professor of Farm Crops.
Announcement is made at State College that Mr. W. H. Darst, associate professor of Farm Crops at Pennsylvania State college, has accepted the professorship of Farm Crops and will enter upon his new duties at West Raleigh May the first.

Professor Darst comes to State College with splendid equipment both as to training and experience and highly recommended by some of the biggest agricultural men of the country. He was born and reared on a farm in Miami county, Ohio.

State Printing More Costly.

The state printing commission met recently in the governor's office and allowed an increase of 20 per cent to the five concerns who do the state's printing. This increase dates back to January 1 this year, but does not apply to work which was given them prior to that time and which has not yet been completed. The publishing house plead the high cost of labor, stating that their expenses are enormous. There is a clause in the contract under which the increase is allowed.

Teachers Properly Graded.

For the first time in the history of the teaching profession in North Carolina the large majority of teachers in city and state schools are in possession of either first or second grade certificates. Of the more than 16,000 teachers in North Carolina only 300 or 400 have not been certified by the state board of examiners, although the teachers themselves claim that they have qualified for certificates. That they have not been furnished with certificates is very likely due to delay of superintendents in forwarding the reports to the offices here.

More than 12,000 teachers have qualified and are in possession of first grade certificates, the second grade certificates going to less than 3,000.

With the teachers of the state on a substantial professional basis the big problem which the schools are confronted with, or will be at the opening of the fall session, is to persuade the teachers to continue in the school work instead of entering other employment. This has been the history of North Carolina's teachers for many years, and there is every reason to believe that the same thing will happen again. Hundreds of the state's best teachers are early lured from the school rooms into other work by salaries far above that paid them for teaching.

The only way that North Carolina can maintain its present teaching force and persuade others who are badly needed to enter the profession, is to increase the pay.

Fire Prevention Day

October 9th is designated by law. "Fire Prevention Day" the governor being required "to issue a proclamation urging the people to a proper observance of the day," and the insurance commissioner is commanded "to bring the day and its observance to the attention of all municipal officials and especially the firemen, and where possible, arrange suitable programs."

The week beginning March 28 and ending April 3 was selected as fire prevention, or clean-up week.

Setting the Governor Straight.

Governor Bickett, three days after he had made public his intention of advising the democratic party to get on the suffrage bandwagon and that he would urge the special session of the general assembly to ratify the Susan B. Anthony amendment, received a telegram from J. H. Gaines, representing the anti-suffrage league of West Virginia, stating that West Virginia had not legally ratified the amendment. His purpose of setting the Governor straight was in the interest of letting the public know the facts.

Examination for Postmasters

Washington, (Special).—Civil service examination will be held on April 14 for presidential postmaster at the following places in North Carolina: Rosemary, salary $1,400; Lakesville, salary $1,500; Rich Square, salary, $1,400; Robertsonville, salary, $1,500.

Members of the North Carolina delegation in the house voted for a small army before the army reorganization bill passed. They supported a motion to limit the size to $85,000 men.

Appeal by Power Company Dismissed

Washington.—The supreme court dismissed for lack of jurisdiction appeals from North Carolina supreme court decrees perpetually enjoining the Hiawasse River Power Company, upon the application of the Carolina-Tennessee Power Company from constructing and operating power plants on the Hiawasse river in Cherokee county.

Simmons against Sale of Ships

Senator Simmons went to bat again to stop the sale of ships needed in the south and elsewhere in this country. Constituents have wired him that the government is making sales despite the protest here.

"Senators will recall that recently there was a strong protest against the sale of government-owned ships," said Senator Simmons, "arising out of the proposal then to sell certain German ships. The senator from Washington, Mr. Jones, introduced a bill to the general effect that the shipping board should not proceed with sales until Congress had announced its policy and provided for continued government operation."

State Has Had Ten Capitals.

The first complete report in connection with the Raleigh and Wake county community study shows that the state of North Carolina has had at least ten capitals, Bath, Edenton, Brunswick, Wilmington, New Bern, Hillsboro, Smithfield, Fayetteville and Raleigh. The reason for so many lay in the custom prior to 1791 of transferring the seat of government to the temporary place of assembly.

In 1791 one square mile of land was bought for the foundation of Raleigh as a permanent seat of government.

The Truth About Revaluation

"The Truth About Revaluation" is the title of a pamphlet that is being printed, containing the series of Monday morning "Sermons on Taxation" written by T. W. Bickett.

Governor Bickett has received scores of letters from over the state and from other states commending his stand for an equalization of taxation in North Carolina. One was received from Dr. E. W. Gudger, member of the faculty of the North Carolina College for Women, now doing special work in New York.
