SHIRLEY MASON DUE IN PICTURE "QUEENIE"

Shirley Mason, the William Fox star, will appear here on Wednesday, Nov. 8, in her latest Fox picture, "Queenie," at the Movie Theatre. If you see a box dropped off the train on that day with a sign attached to it, reading "Shirley Mason," don't think that Miss Mason is in it. She is dainty, but not small enough for that—and, besides, no one would think of handling the tiny star so rough.

In "Queenie" Miss Mason is said to portray the character of a girl who starts life as a drudge in a young ladies' seminary. There are some wonderful adventures in store for the pretty wif, and so charming a little person deserves all the happiness she obtains at the end.

NOTHING COMPARES WITH CHEVROLET

"ACCORDING TO THEIR MEANS"

Contributions of Church Members, a Century Ago, Evidently Meant More Than They Do Now.

Fresh-laid eggs are frequently deposited on the contribution plate in some of the backwoods Episcopal churches of the South. Which goes to show that the spirit of giving hasn't changed so very much in the 100 years of the Church Missionary society just being rounded out. The first report of the society, dated May 30, 1823, was dug up the other day, and while it shows no contribution of eggs, a score of other articles of merchandise seem to have found their way to the plate from people who gave "according to their means."

This report, for instance, shows that back in 1821 David Sneathen gave a basket of groceries for the support of the missionaries; Stephen North contributed a medicine chest; William Royland, a cross-cut saw; Joe and John Needles, two sieves; S. Masy, a coffee mill. John and T. Cluy contributed, alas! a singularly empty gift—a safe. John Burson came along with a tub, whether bath or wash is not stated. C. Buckley is credited on the books with "Deduction on hat," $1.60; John McAllister donated a thermometer.

Among the other miscellanies are hymn books, slates, spades, shoes, trousers, chairs, soap, bridges and locks. Finally, from one Richard Markall there is a hoghead of tobacco, which encourages the hope that some good missionary of the church in his lonely station afar off enjoyed a comfortable smoke.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

MOURNS OVER "OLD TIMES"

Bright and chipper, Mrs. Lou Thacker of Mount Airy, N. C., celebrated her one hundred and eleventh birthday here yesterday at the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. J. M. Edmundson, says a dispatch from Greensboro, N. C., to the New York World.

She "worries" Mr. Edmundson because she insists on helping him feed his hogs and work in his garden, and wants Mrs. Edmundson to let her wash the dishes and "red up" the house. The day before her birthday she rode uptown in an automobile.

The old lady was born near Stoneville, in Rockingham county, N. C., August 20, 1811. Four years ago she injured her hip in a fall and doctors told her she would never walk again. She laughed at them and today is walking with the aid of a stick.

The jazziness of the young today does not meet with her approval. "Folks ain't like they used to be," she said. "Seems like they haven't got as much religion."

He "Rang the Bell."

A number of well-known newspaper men returning the other night from one of the summer resorts had just managed to get to the city when their engine commenced to slow down, relates the Washington Star. A hurried examination disclosed the fact that the gas tank was nearly empty. Two of them elected to venture forth in search of an all-night garage while the other two remained in the car. The searchers, after traversing many streets, finally came across a station on which was a sign "Open all night." No signs of life, however, were visible. Finally one of the scribes happened to notice a rope protruding through a window of the building in which were kept oils, greases, accessories, etc. Giving the rope a vigorous pull, he nearly yanked the custodian of the service station out of bed, the rope being attached to the caretender's foot—a rather new and novel way of ringing the door bell.

Princess Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, the second of the ill-fated daughters of the ill-fated Charles I. was born at St. James' palace in 1635. When she was six years old civil war broke out in England and the remaining nine years of her life were passed with strangers. She saw her father only a few times, the last being on the day before his execution. Charles took the child on his knee and gave her such advice as might be expected from a father about to die. A year and a half after his death she, too, at the age of fifteen, breathed her last. By some it was said Cromwell had decided to apprentice her to a buttonmaker, but historians deny this. It is known the protector provided amply for her during her short and unhappy lifetime. A monument was erected for her by Queen Victoria on the occasion of rebuilding the church at Newport, where she was buried.—Chicago Journal.

Picric Acid for Farmers.

That the farmers of the country have not been slow to avail themselves of the opportunity to obtain a good agricultural explosive at a low cost is shown by the fact that in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, 3,234,700 pounds of picric acid has been distributed by the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture.

False Eyelashes.

False eyelashes are one of the latest ways in which science is co-operating with nature. They are made of real hair, come in several lengths, and are arranged on a bit of adhesive silk material which will cling to the eyelid—or is supposed to.
