BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Account of so many of our people going to the several memorial day services held last Sunday our attendance at the Sunday school fell below the four hundred mark.

As the pastor, Rev. R. C. Smith was away attending the Southern Baptist convention at Houston, Tex., there was no preaching service last Sunday, but many of the Baptist people attended the services at the Methodist church. At the close of the Sunday School Miss Rosa Lee Anderson, of Limestone College, sang a beautiful solo.

Sunday evening there was a song service. The choir and people of the Methodist church having been invited and joined in the service. Many of the old hymns were sung and at this time it was suggested that on some future date the choirs and members of the other churches be invited to take part in a service. "An Evening With the Old Hymns." It was suggested that a short sketch of the composers be given stating the event or incident that inspired the writing of the hymn, then having the hymn sung. Some as solos, duets, quartets or as a chorus. The matter was left with the directors of the Baptist and Methodist choirs. M. T. Greene and C. D. Hughes, respectively.

Mr. D. C. Whitaker had charge of the prayer service last week and will conduct the meeting this week as the pastor is not expected to arrive until Thursday.

Sunday evening the following telegram was read to the church: Houston, Texas, May 15, 1926.

Have had great convention. Came with some apprehensions. Returning with thanksgiving and rejoicings. General unanimity everywhere. Your pastor sends love and greetings. Let every one help to make today's worship helpful. Pray for each other, the work in Cliffside and the uttermost parts of the earth. Remem-

The pastor is expected home Thursday, but a message from Mrs. Smith, who is visiting her parents at Niota, Tenn., states that her mother is very ill and a sister also and she may not return for a few days. We trust that the sick may soon recover.

Local Happenings

A baseball team was recently organized here with Mr. C. W. Wilbanks as manager; Curtis Splawn, umpire; Chas. McCurry, scorer. Teams desiring engagements will get in touch with Mr. Wilbanks, manager. A schedule as follows was planned:

Forest City at Forest City, May 15.

Spindale here, on the 22nd.

Spindale at Spindale, on the 29th.

Forest City here on June 5th.

Let's rally to our team and give to them the support they deserve.

The new looms for weaving Terry towels have begun to arrive and a number of men are engaged in clearing out the old looms and placing the new ones. Work on the Bleechery is progressing and the new finishing plant will soon be ready for use.

Mr. Sam Haynes, who for several years has been in charge of the Riverview Store on Riverview street has resigned and moved his family to Forest City. Mr. White Jolley has succeeded Mr. Haynes at the Riverview Store.

The Lake View Roller Mills has recently spent several thousand dollars in adding equipment to the plant. They have an ad in this issue.

Cupid seems to be wide awake and on the job here. A week ago Mr. J. B. Nanney claimed for his bride Miss Lucy Greene. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Greene. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Nanney.

On Monday afternoon of last week Mr. Paul Packard and Miss Vergie Padgett were married at Gaffney. Miss Padgett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Padgett and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Packard and the nephew of the late W. L. Packard, who for several years was the beloved superintendent of Cliffside Mills. We join the many friends of both these young couples in wishing for them joy and prosperity.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Cliffside Mills was held here on Wednesday of last week.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, delightfully entertained the teachers of the Cliffside schools at the Cliffside Hotel on last Saturday evening, May 15. The hotel was beautifully decorated with roses and other cut flowers. Many old games were played and enjoyed. Mr. John G. Roach received the prize for the Bean Quiz contest, and Mr. R. C. Hinkle won the prize for the doll dressing contest. Splendid music was furnished by Miss Beulah Heafner. Mrs. R. C. Hinkle, chairman of the refreshments committee, served the guests with fruit salad, iced tea and sandwiches.

Miss Mabel Bridges, entertained Tuesday afternoon honoring her mother, Mrs. Boyce Bridges, on her birthday. After the guests had assembled a word contest was held with Mrs. Chas. McCurry winning the prize. Later an advertisement contest was enjoyed with Mrs. C. M. Collins the winner. Much merriment was created when each guest told of the funniest incident in their lives. Just before the refreshments were served, the guests were invited to inspect the gifts.

Miss Bridges, assisted by Misses Mabel Scruggs and Ollie Tate, served a delicious ice course. Those invited were Mesdames. G. C. Martin, J. C. Carpenter, G. C. Shuford, Paul Carpenter, Mayme Erwin, Chas. McCurry, B. L. Davidson, C. C. Tate, L. H. Campbell, C. M. Collins, Jesse Padgett, V. V. Fortune and Misses Flora Morris, Ruby Wilson, Lucile

Teaching Him a Lesson in

Benjamin Franklin, a wise man born of thrifty people, said: "If you would know the value of a dollar—try to borrow one."

How true.

Teach your son or your daughter that Franklin truth and nurture in their minds the appreciation of the value of the dollar while they are in the penny age. It takes a stronger hold and becomes so deep rooted that all later influences toward reckless spending and careless handling of money cannot destroy the habit of thrift—the solid rock upon which all success is built.
