JORDAN'S CRUISE.

Mr. Exchange.—What a beautiful fall! Just frost enough to let the navy know that the summer has retired. At the closing of the year the average farmer has much to be thankful for. The crops have yielded better returns than the most sanguine expected. With our fair cotton crop and prevailing prices the farmer is in comfortable shape, which is in evidence all around us by the new buggies, mowers, sewing machines, etc. There is so very encouraging to see the farmer sowing so much winter oats, wheat and corn, and preparing the soil so early. That is right brother farmers. I see also that the tobacco subject is again being agitated, and that is another good outlook for the future of Scotland. Of course our soil is the best for the high-grade yellow leaf for export, and it requires no figuring to see that with cotton at 25c tobacco is far more profitable to raise. You have only to look at the account sales to see it will quite double cotton.

A startling surprise. Very few could believe in looking at A. T. But a wonderful change followed his taking Castoria. "Two bottles wholly cured me," he writes, "and I have not felt a twinge in over a year." LAUREL HILL "POINT OF VIEW."

What's the good word? The agony is over, "the vote is cast." Now?

Mr. Sam'l W. Speed, of Robeson county, is spending a few days with his kinfolk in Speed town.

Mr. A. D. Gibson, took in the sights at Wilmington last week. He reports a splendid time.

Several of our boys are sporting brass new buggies. They are up to something. We're watching 'em.

Mr. Joe L. Faria, "The young man," is out on the road this week with his Fox Hailer. Joe is a hustler.

The joke is on one of our boys who went calling some nights ago. He found it would hard to get himself together to start for home, and when he did he could not find his hat. The young lady didn't hide it either. Nearly all the public schools are in session now and the REVERTON ITEMS.

On account of election and relay weather not much progress was made last week in gathering crops.

The election passed off quietly at Spring Hill. No negro put in his appearance. A. E. Shaw, D. A. Watson, and W. W. McGirt were elected magistrates, and D. W. L. Smith, constable.

A few years ago at the election at Spring Hill, there were always a few whites, in color, who looked after negro votes. They would give them tickets and arrange them between their fingers so as to get them in the right boxes. When dinner time came they would go off and eat without giving any to their brother in black. But the poor negro did not resent it.

Mr. D. A. Watson suffered severely last week with a boil on his hand, but was compensated by being elected Justice of the Peace. It is Esquire Watson now, but the rest of us are the same old fools.

While surveyor Matthews was running some land last week he ran in a yellow jacket's nest. It is needless to say he ran on for awhile at a lively rate.

One of our neighbor's attended a political speaking. He was much enthused on the tariff. At dinner he explained it to the women at length. After dinner he heard them in an animated discussion. Thinking they were discussing the tariff he went to hear them, but found they were discussing the time they set the old black hen.

young idea is acting in target practice.

Rev. C. O. DuRant fills his last (conference year) appointment at Sneads Grove the 5th Sunday.

All on account of 13c bacon. The news reaches us of an interesting "Possum hunt." On last Thursday night several of our citizens decided that they would defy the meat trust, so they sallied forth, nine persons strong, with four dogs, one axe and no gun. After walking through swamps and over logs, etc., about two hours, they heard one of their old hounds strike a trail; then the others all fell in and such a time for about ten minutes when the dogs began to bay. Everybody went right into the thick swamp, without regard to the way. The dogs had two 'possums treed up big black gum's. About that time the moon went down and it began to rain; still they kept cutting the tree. The rain began to pour, so our hunters had to start. Now which way? Everybody knew but each pointed a different direction, so with one accord they started, but soon everybody was lost. They began to get fully alarmed and wet, and called a caucus. They then made one supreme effort and succeeded in getting on high ground. They arrived home wet, but wiser men. The boys are all sorry that Theodore Roosevelt was not along.

Mr. C. E. Duncan, has suggested that the next Good Roads meeting for Scotland county be held at Laurel Hill, more particularly at that heavy sand hill about 1/2 mile from town. All hands to bring a shovel and try his hand at actual experiment.

Last Wednesday night, the store house at the Richmond Cotton Mills was broken into. Money seemed to be the object, as the cash drawer was broken down and opened. They succeeded in getting $10 or $15, so we hear. The attack was carefully planned and executed, showing the scoundrels to be artists in that line.

The educational awakening is now on in full force. We are at last realizing that universal education is a necessity for our people, and also that in our higher institutions of learning we must speedily raise the best scholarship and culture. Libraries, laboratories, and great teachers must give scholarship a chance.—Edwin Mims.
