Mr. A. D. Currie says that with a Baker in the cabinet Villa will look like a boarding house hawk within 30 days. Watch the prediction.

Jess Willard is to receive $1,500 a minute for his fight with Moran, which makes Charlie Chaplin's $675,000 per year look like 30 cents.

Newspaper men may take heart—A fellow up in Pennsylvania has been working for 51 years without a vacation.

An exchange wisely says "It doesn't see how Justice Hughes could expect to get the vote of the barbers."

An exchange offers the following advice: "Pray for the Allies, but put your money on the Kaiser."

If you feel a little "hippy" today, read "Have You a Pile of Sand?" elsewhere in this issue.

General Carranza has offered $50,000 for Villa, dead or alive—preferably dead.

The ring down her in the Seventh is not near full of hats yet.

A Worthy Paaple.

Rev. W. H. Brown, pastor of St. John and Gibson churches, has formed a mighty good feeling for his people, as he expresses in the following communication to the Raleigh Christian Advocate:

"The 1915 Annual Conference is now three months behind us, but we have just got settled in our new home. When the order to move came, which order was more unexpected than at any previous time in our ministry, wife was sick in bed. She grew worse and had to be taken to Charlotte for an operation and was forced to remain there until last Friday, February 25th. Thanks to our kind Heavenly Father, she is now at home and greatly improved, though yet very weak.

We took up our work here alone on the third Sunday in December and we have met every appointment but one and our elder was here on that one. We have labored under great difficulties, but we have seen some signs of increased interest and we are encouraged.

We have found our people here to be very kind and considerate. They have shown a deep interest in me and my sick wife and have bestowed upon me many kindnesses which I shall always cherish in my memory. They sought to make up to me, as best they could, for the absence of my loved ones for these past months. I shall always love them for their sympathy and help in the hours of my greatest need."

Daps on Bad Husbands.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carey, mother of 13 children, outlined in Supreme court in New York how she learned when her husband was false. The statement came in the midst of Mrs. Carey's testimony in a suit for $50,000 damages against Mrs. Minora E. Toler, charged with alienating Mr. Carey's affections, after Mr. and Mrs. Carey had been married 34 years.

If your husband dresses regardless of expense, and gets a sudden, though belated, fancy for modish apparel, it's time to become suspicious, said Mrs. Carey. If he goes to the theater without you, and does not come home until early in the morning, it's time to begin questioning him. If he gives unsatisfactory answers to every question you ask him, it is time to accuse him openly of paying attention to another woman. And, finally, if he receives postal cards or letters, containing excerpts from the Bible, his love for the woman is too great to be changed. Carey was a moving picture critic and met Mrs. Toler in the theater.—Ex.

You Must Help.

Your presence at the graded school tomorrow night is most earnestly desired. You will be entertained; rub elbows with your neighbors and have a dandy good time. You are invited to the same on everybody else. Now don't think that it will be all right for you to stay away for you are particularly wanted and needed.

THE FAITHFUL HORSE.

One Old Timer That Understood The Schedules And All.

We would rather print a good animal story, if true, than a whole page about the Colossal Lady or Julia O'Grady. We have an idea we do not pay enough attention to our dumb friends; that we fail to understand them; that they are wiser than we think. So it is that when we see a good story about a faithful animal we always read it, and if we can, we print it so that others may enjoy it. The following about a horse that knew his business; that understood a system, comes from Omaha and is well worth while:

"Old Jim, one of the Union Pacific's most faithful employees, has been slated for retirement, on pension. Jim is 21 years old and has been continuously in the employment of the Union Pacific during the last ten years. The retirement of Jim is mainly due to the fact that the work that he has been doing during the last ten years in the future is going to be done by an automobile.

"In the past Jim's work has been to haul the Union Pacific mail wagon between the headquarters building and the depot. Jim knows the details of his duties as well as his driver, Ed. Hawk, as evidenced by his performance the other afternoon. Jim's last mail delivery from the headquarters building to the Union State week days is made at 5:45 o'clock in the afternoon. At least that is the time when he and his driver should leave the building. Friday afternoon he was at his post of duty at the appointed hour to keep his date with his driver. The driver was in the building and he was not in a hurry, but Jim was.

"He remained at the curb until 5:55 o'clock when he seemed to realize that he had to get started if he caught a 5:10 o'clock train to deliver his mail. Without waiting longer, in his teeth he picked up the leather strap to which was attached a ten pound iron weight, turned around and down Dodge street at a slow trot started for the depot. Arriving there he waited the usual length of time required to unload the mail from the wagon, again picked up his weight and left for the stable down on Seventh street.

"At the stable the hostler, knowing that it was time when Jim should have finished his work for the day, spitched him and turned him into his stall, where he was given his customary allowance.

"In the meantime Ed. Hawk, the driver, had gathered up his mail at the headquarters, but when he emerged from the building could not find Jim. He loaded the sacks onto a street car and at the station learned that Jim had been there, arriving and departing on schedule time. Knowing the habits of the horse, Hawk went to the stable, where he found the horse, he apparently feeling that he had performed his duties and was entitled to the rest that followed."—Ex.

Snead's Grove Items.

Snead's Grove, March 21.

A high standard for amateur theatricals in Scotland county was set here Friday night when the story of "A Poor Married Man" was unraveled for the public. The play abounds with humorous situations, and it was presented to one of the largest and certainly the most appreciative audiences that ever saw a play here. It is thought that the play will be produced in the county somewhere on Friday, March 21, however the management hasn't decided on the place yet.

Mr. Fairly Monroe spent the week-end in Charlotte.

Mr. and Mrs. John Covington, of Mervon, are spending the week-end with Mr. Covington's mother.

Messrs. Doc and Roy Norton spent Sunday in Redford with relatives.

Messrs. Jim Patterson and Newton Covington, of Redford, spent Sunday here with relatives.

Seventh grade examination for admittance to the high school were held here Monday and Tuesday. Each year these examinations are becoming a more serious part of school work and requirements.

In a contest held at the school house last Friday, Miss Ruby Norton and Masters Bernice Cole and Alton Bowman, won the distinction of representing their school in the spelling contest at County Commencement.

On Friday night, 24th of March, a township contest for selecting the Recorder and Declaimer from this township to County Commencement will be held at the school house. An interesting program will be carried out, and it is hoped that all people of Laurel Hill township will come out to witness the contest.

In five years Durham county has saved $17,500 by shifting from the fee to salary basis in employment of its county officials, and the benefits therefrom have been transferred to schools and roads.

Oriental Cream.

Grate a fresh coconut, adding the milk after grating. Knead into it as much confectioner's XXXX sugar as it will take up. Roll on sugared board, 1-3 inch thick. Cut in two pieces, cover one-half with finely minced dates, lay the other portion on top. Press firmly together and with a sharp knife cut in blocks like caramels. Set away to dry for a few hours.

Fill stoned dates with small portions of the Oriental cream before rolling it. Then roll dates in granulated sugar.

Old Jake as They Didn't Originate.

Shakespeare: "There are a lot of pretty chickens on the street today."

Bacon: "Yes, one of them is coming across."

Shakespeare: "By the way, what makes a chicken cross the road?"

Bacon: "This one happens to be my wife and she's coming across to take lunch with me."

Making Candy Apples on the Stick.

Select nice apples that are not too large. Mount them on thin sticks; meat skewers will do. Have them ready so that by the time the sirup is ready for dipping no time may be lost.

Sirup. One pound of sugar, one-half cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of cream of tartar, one tablespoonful of butter. Cook until dropped in cold water the sirup is hard, or to 300 degrees Fahrenheit on the candy thermometer. Keep hot while dipping the apples. Coat thoroughly.

A reliable candy thermometer can be bought for one dollar. As an investment it will pay for itself time and time again. Learn to make jelly by using the thermometer.

Why Water Gurgles from a Bottle.

Water or any other liquid cannot flow from a bottle in a steady stream because until the bottle is empty there is a continuous struggle between the tendency of the liquid to fall from the bottle and the rushing of the air to get in.

When a full bottle without a cork is turned upside down there will be an alternate realization of two operations—the liquid to follow the attraction of gravitation and the air to obey its natural impulse to fill a void.

To Move.

Folks down on the east end of Church street very much regret the fact that Mr. T. C. Everett and his good family will soon leave their neighborhood and move to the McBride cottage on South Main street.

Stole for Sister.

A pathetic story of slavery, devotion and love was told by Ida Pliskow, of Detroit, when she learned that her brother, Peter Pliskow, a Detroit High school graduate, had been arrested in New York city after having confessed to the robbery of 20 or more houses. The girl declared that the boy's crimes had not been committed for a sweetheart but for her, and she intends going to New York in an effort to win leniency from the judge who will pronounce sentence on the youth.

"I worked hard and saved every cent to bring my brother and sister to America from Russia five years ago, nearly starving at times," she said. "My health failed me, and I was finally compelled to go to a tuberculosis sanitarium and was there nine months. If they will wait until I can get to New York and tell them what he has done, they won't send him to prison. He was desperate for me, and they couldn't send him to prison for that. He didn't want me to go to the poorhouse."—Ex.

TOWN ORDINANCES.

The Board of Commissioners of the Town of Laurinburg do ordain:

That it shall be unlawful for any person to carry on the business of dealer in junk, buying and selling old metals of any kind, without first applying to the mayor for license to do such business in the town of Laurinburg, and paying the sum of twenty-five dollars for said license, which license shall be issued and run as other privileges license.

That any person, firm or corporation dealing in junk shall keep a daily record of the amount and character of junk bought with the name of such person, and amount of junk purchased, and the hour of the day when same shall be delivered, or when the first shall be delivered, and the hour when the delivery shall be completed, which record shall be kept in a book permanently bound and preserved carefully and kept open to inspection of the mayor and police of the town at all business hours. Any person violating this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined fifty dollars.

No junk bought by any dealer in junk shall be commingled with the general stock of said dealer so as to lose its identity entirely, within less than ten days after the same shall have been purchased, and no junk purchased by any dealer in junk who maintains a place of business in said town shall ship or remove from the place of business any of the junk he purchases within less than thirty days after having purchased same; provided that in case any person shall claim and identify any such junk as his own, and state that same was stolen from him it shall be lawful for same to be delivered to the true owner, in the presence of any member of the police of the town of Laurinburg, a record of which shall be kept in the book in which the purchaser are kept.

No person shall purchase junk, without license to carry on such business in said town, provided that wholesale buyers of junk may purchase junk from the owner, provided that the same shall not be delivered to the purchaser thereof until the same has been inspected by the Chief of Police or some person acting for him under his authority, and a certificate of inspection given authorizing the removal of same.

Any person, firm or corporation found guilty of violating any of the foregoing ordinances relating to dealing in junk, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined fifty dollars.

Sec. That it shall be unlawful to store or keep exceeding ten gallons of gasoline in any tank above ground or in barrels within the fire limit of the town of Laurinburg, provided that this shall not prevent the carrying of the full capacity of the service tank in any automobile or automobile truck.

Any person violating this ordinance shall be fined five dollars for each day the same shall be violated.

Sec. In case of an alarm of fire to which the fire fighting truck of the town is being hurried, it shall be unlawful for any vehicle of any kind to be driven in front of the said truck or to pass around said truck while same is moving forward, answering a fire alarm thereby putting such conveyance in front of the said truck along the same street on which said truck is going, the intention being to keep a clear street ahead of the moving fire truck. This not to prevent a vehicle from passing the truck when same is motionless in the street, provided that the clearance space is sufficient, and such passing shall in no way hinder the operation of the fire truck.

Any person driving to a fire at a greater rate of speed than allowed by law shall be apprehended by the police and dealt with according to law, provided that this shall not apply to the driver of the fire truck answering a fire alarm.

All persons occupying streets with vehicles in the line of the route of the fire truck in answering fire alarm, shall get out of the street and give clear space to said truck, or move to the side of said street so as to give all possible clearance of the street for said truck.

Any person driving over any line of fire hose in use by the town, or driving in front of the fire fighters laying a line of hose to a fire shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined fifty dollars.

Sec. No automobile, automobile truck, wagon or other vehicle shall be stored in any street over night or over Sunday, nor shall any such vehicle be abandoned and left on the street except for the purpose temporarily leaving same.

Any person violating this ordinance shall be fined five dollars for each offense and each day it is violated shall constitute a separate offense.

Ratified 24th day of March, 1916.
