

Stella-Vitae

THE GUARANTEED TONIC FOR WOMEN

Stella-Vitae has been in successful use in the treatment of those diseases peculiar to women for more than a third of a century. It has been sold under a plain, positive guarantee to benefit. Less than one bottle out of every one thousand sold has been returned for, and every claim for a refund has been satisfied. Thousands of letters like this praising Stella-Vitae and telling of benefit to suffering women have been received.

"I was in a most wretched condition; had palpitation of the heart and would swell and bloat in a most distressing way. When I began using Stella-Vitae I weighed 108 pounds. Now I weigh 135. I am more thankful than I can ever tell you for the great good this wonderful medicine has done me."

Mrs. B. M. Russell, of Mill Springs, N. C., gratefully writes us as follows: "I had in a most wretched condition; had palpitation of the heart and would swell and bloat in a most distressing way. When I began using Stella-Vitae I weighed 108 pounds. Now I weigh 135. I am more thankful than I can ever tell you for the great good this wonderful medicine has done me."

Stella-Vitae has proved a boon to suffering womanhood, to young girls approaching their first vital period, to women approaching the anguish of childbirth, to women approaching the "change of life." Stella-Vitae strengthens the female system and promotes regularity in the monthly menses.

All women who wish to keep their health and their beauty should use Stella-Vitae. It will return your money if it does not benefit you. Don't put off a trial.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Frise of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child... I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time..."

"I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble,' so he got me 5 bottles... After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved... before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared, my strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my household work and attend to my six children as usual."

You can't get safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it.

IF THE ARMISTICE IS SIGNED WILL OUR WAR PROGRAM BE CHECKED.

Some Men in Congress Believe When Armistice Is Signed Retrenchment Should Begin.

Washington, Nov. 10.—If an armistice is signed tomorrow the problem of the administration is the determination of a policy regarding further mobilization of troops at the training camps, further construction at the camps and the further outlay of money for strictly war purposes.

To what extent shall the war program be checked? Is it safe for the military arm of the government to assume that the war is over with the signing of an armistice and the outbreak of revolution in Germany, or shall preparation for fighting proceed until the proclamation of actual peace?

Already there is developing here a difference of opinion between the military and civil minds. A number of men in Congress, led by the Democratic chairman of its appropriations committee, Senator Martin, believe the hour of retrenchment arrives at the time the armistice is signed. Instead of sending additional selections to the training camps, Senator Martin would empty most of these camps immediately and send the embryo soldier back into civil life.

Must Take No Chances. Certain military men, on the other hand, would take no chances and would keep practically full speed ahead on the fight program until the war is actually over. They contend that America would act foolishly were she to halt abruptly all military preparations, and that such a course would be unwise, not only on the ground of preparedness, but the effect it might have at the peace conference.

Gen. Peyton C. March, the chief of staff, was asked within the past 24 hours to indicate what the policy of the department would be following the signing of an armistice. He declined a direct answer to the question and announced the country would have to await the issuance of army orders.

General March was asked, "Will any more men be sent overseas if an armistice is signed, and what will be done with the men now in cantonments here?" "That will be announced in the war department orders at the proper time," was the reply of the chief of staff.

It is understood that the department has determined upon the definite policy. In fact, both the legislative and administrative branches of the government must have a meeting of minds on this question, which will come to the front strongly with the signing of an armistice.

Early Decision Advisable. Concrete examples show the necessity of comparatively early decision. Within the past week additions to training camps have been authorized at a cost of $25,000,000. Whether the government shall go ahead and enlarge these camps almost on the eve of demobilization is a practical question.

Construction of the big artillery camp at Fayetteville affords another example. The construction is now proceeding but a considerable addition has been just authorized at Camp Bragg and the government must decide whether the artillery camp to be maintained in peace times shall be as large as that it planned a few weeks ago.

Despite talk of permanent peace and partial disarmament, it is felt that two camps in the country stand a better show than the others to be retained as permanent training places. The artillery school at Fayetteville and the small arms school at Columbus, Ga., are likely to be retained as training camps, at least for several years to come.

Close Down Cantonments. While there is as yet no announcement, it is assumed that most of the cantonments will be closed down with the actual advent of peace. If this government eventually determines upon a policy of universal military training, it is likely that not more than a half dozen "peace time Plattburghs" will be retained throughout the country.

It is well understood that the ship-building program will go ahead for a while. The shipping demands of peace will be great, and abandoned shipyards are not expected in the immediate future. There is also a likelihood that the army will retain one tank school and the army tank corps at Raleigh has a chance to survive. The average aviation field, engineer school, quartermaster camp or cantonment, however, will go into the discard when peace comes.

And if the administration is slow about shutting down the major activities of war, Congress is likely to take a hand and force curtailment because it will take the nation 50 years or more to pay the war bills already made.
