In Memoriam—Jessie T. Brewer.

The past year which has darkened so many American homes with the shadow of bereavement, has seen the hand of sorrow laid heavily upon our dear friends, Pres. and Mrs. John B. Brewer of Chowan College, who have tearfully but triumphantly seen two of their lovely daughters go forth in all the joy of a clear, unwavering faith to the promised reward of the pure in heart. Mamie (Mrs. Penton) was suddenly called to the higher service some months ago, Jessie followed on November 27th. Of them it may be truly said "They were lovely and pleasant in their lives and in their deaths they were not divided." Each possessed charm, versatility and a rare zest for noble unselfish service. Music, the divine art in which Jessie so early attained recognized excellence both at home and abroad, seemed the natural expression of her beautiful spirit. Her wonderful skill at the organ was enhanced by the gentleness, sympathy and calm strength which were characteristic of her. She was the essential artist. Her personality attracted and held a large circle of devoted friends to whom her own loyalty was intense. The keen disappointment of a serious and painful illness that gave pause to a career of brilliant achievement did not betray her for one moment into gloomy thoughts or complaining. It was fitting that "Death's bright angel" should come to her in the cultured home of her happy girlhood, at Chowan. Thinking of her as a small child there, watching the lovely bud expand into fragrant Christian womanhood, so fit for the Master's use, witnessing her signal successes in both art and life, there come to mind the lines that will live in honor of such lives while human hearts can love and remember—and thank God.

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of
the bar,
When I put out to sea.
But such a tide as moving seems
asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out
the boundless deep
Turns again home."
The deepest sympathy of warm friends in many States goes out in full measure to the stricken home-circle.

Edward Bruce Hardy.

On Saturday, December 21st., 1918, I received a message to hasten to the bedside of my friend, Edward Bruce Hardy, residing in Port Norfolk, Va., but formerly of my town, Roxobel, N. C., and upon reaching his home was shocked to find that death had suddenly taken him from his dear wife and friends.

Edward was born in Roxobel, Bertie County, N. C., forty-eight years ago, and was the only surviving son of the late Joseph H. Hardy, his mother being Lucy Bishop Hardy. His forbears are among the oldest, most respected and best known families of Bertie County. He married Miss Ada Lee Hardy of Coleraine, N. C., who is a daughter of the late John Hardy. He is survived by his mother, a sister, Mrs. L. Y. Holoman, of Roxobel, N. C., and his wife, Mrs. Ada Lee Hardy, of Port Norfolk, Va. He was by nature of a retiring disposition, preferring always the companionship of his good wife and a few friends, rather than mingle with strangers, and for that reason was not better known throughout the county. He was courteous, of splendid mental attainments, and possessed a high sense of honor. The refinement of his nature was reflected in his personal attire, which was at all times scrupulously clean and neat. It was my privilege to live by him for many years and perhaps knew him better than many others. He was a progressive farmer, a good neighbor and a splendid citizen.

His remains were interred in the Methodist church yard in Coleraine, N. C., the rites being conducted by the Rev. Brincefield of the Episcopal Church, of which he was a baptised member.

Peace to his ashes and may the God of us all bring comfort to all who mourn his death.

His friend,
ALANSON CAPEHART.

nesses, I measured it out, finding a total yield of 5040 pounds or 90 bushels of good dry corn on my acre not counting that which was overlooked in gathering.

(By Wilson Garris, Conway)

I joined the corn club one day at school, when the County Agent came to see the boys at home. I did not make as much as I thought at first, because the drought killed some of it and I had a bad stand. I had lots of fun this year and have been worried some. One day I was plowing in my corn when it was higher than my head. It was very pretty. The mule jumped off and ran through it and broke it down. I was worried then. I was sowing fertilizer in it one day when a cloud came up and got me wet. That was fun. I thought I had an acre until Mr. J. J. Boone and Mr. C. W. Brittle came up and measured it, and it was 77 X 62, not quite an acre. Who looks over this record may say well I don't see how he can get that done for that, but what I got here is right. Some one will say, he did not make that much I know. If you don't think so ask Mr. Boone, he is a preacher, I don't hardly think he will lie. One thing I enjoyed this summer was my camping trip. If I am in the club again next year, and they have a camping trip I want to go. My little brother keeps me laughing all the time about my corn.

First prize of $10.00 in War Savings Stamps won by Edward Outland of the Woodland School for the greatest production of corn on one acre. This prize was given by Sheriff H. L. Joyner and Mr. E. W. Lewis of the Jackson Drug Co.

M. W. WALL,
County Agent.

The Thrice-A-Week Edition of The New York World in 1919

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the great world war, and a large army of ours is already in France. You will want to have all the news from our troops on European battlefields, and 1919 promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our universe.

No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE ROANOKE-CHOWAN TIMES together for one year for $1.75. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.00. Send all subscriptions to ROANOKE-CHOWAN TIMES, Rich Square, N. C.

Your Reading For 1919

Let me handle your Magazines for you during this year. I have the agency for any Magazine published, and can save you money on club orders. Your remittance and the work is done, I do the rest. Also take renewals for all Magazines. Will be glad to quote you prices.
