ADIGRAPHS

Items Picked Up Here And There, Some Seen, Some Heard, Some Neither

(By Adman)

Spring has come—

Own an UNDERWOOD (Shipman Ward) $3.00 down.

In about 60 days we will be taking a dive off the old Inn dock, Hot dog!

Have you got your dish pan? better hurry, they're going like hot cakes

An advertisement from the Beaufort Realty Corporation this week, its interesting, read it.

Will have to say it, one or two of the Womanless bride's maids looked right flapperish.

The moving of buildings on Front street will no doubt change the complexion of the street considerably.

Jretty hard for a guy to perform when the paraphernalia consists of a pair of womens shoes size 4 to match up with a number 6 foot eh?

Don't overlook the last adigraph, it shows exactly what the Merchants Association of Greensboro think of advertising other than in local publications.

I note around the different stores that new spring goods are beginning to arrive, and from the looks of some that I've seen, its all mighty springy looking.

While its a little in between seasons, it would be a good idea for every merchant in town to get together and pull off a Dollar Day to boost up trade. By clubbing in, the cost of advertising and circularizing would be so distributed that it would be down to a low figure.

HERE'S A GOOD ONE

"The cod fish lays a million eggs, While the helping hen lays one, But the cod fish does not cackle To tell what she has done, And so we scorn the codfish coy, But the helping hen we prize— Which indicates to thoughtful minds IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

The Bank of Beaufort has an anniversary at this week. The Beaufort Shoe Shop has an ad with a few words. Carteret Broadcast Service Co., has a space about radio. The Beaufort Banking and Trust Co., has a change of copy and space this week, and also an ad from the Fowler Automobile Co., of New Bern. Look 'em up and read 'em them are interesting too.

HITS AT "ADVERTISING SCHEMES."

Greensboro, March 2—Advertising other than in newspapers, monthly magazines college and school publications within the trade rea of the city is frowned upon by members of the local Merchants' Association, a vote being now in progress by post-card, with members of the organization balloting. Advertising managers of 75 per cent of the concerns in the city had previously endorsed the proposition. It is directed at advertising "shemes" and according to the proposed bylaws of the association a member violating would have to pay a fine for the first offense of $15, for the second of $25 and for the third offense forfeit his membership in the association.

The proposed amendment reads: "Advertising: No member of this association shall be allowed to advertise in anything but a regular daily, weekly, or monthly publication and in the annuals of the colleges of the city except through personal advertising and it shall be a violation of the by-laws of this association for any member to subscribe to any special advertising scheme which has not first been approved by the advertising committee; such offenses to be punishable, first offense $15; second offense $25 fine; third offense forfeiture of membership."

Meant All She Said

They were evidently married and must have disagreed before they came to the lecture the other evening. For every once in a while she would deliver some cutting remark to him. But the best came when he shifted his chair so that it was directly in front of her. But he still tried to be polite. "Is it hard for you to look over my shoulder in public?" he asked. "No," was the cutting answer, "not a bit harder than it is overlooking your faults in private." —Indianapolis News.

POOR FIDO!

"Madam," said the dignified gentleman, "your dog bit me on the ankle." "He did?" cried the lady. "Oh, I must send for a doctor!" "Oh, I assure you it isn't as bad as—" "You're the third person he's bitten today," broke in the lady, "I just know he isn't feeling well."—Bursts and Duds.

Helpful Suggestions

"What are you?" "A college graduate looking for a job." "What's the trouble?" "I can't find any place where they can use metaphysics, Greek or astronomy." "You studied philosophy, didn't you?" "Yes." "Well, apply that."

EXPENSIVE PRESERVES

Mrs. Nuvorich—And all that money goes for just current expenses, Mrs. Kratt? Mrs. Aristah Kratt—Why, yes—it's not excessive. Mrs. Nuvorich—Seems to be a large sum for just that one kind of preserves.

Best Seller

The author acquires some glory And gathers in some pence By telling the old, old story For a dollar and fifty cents.

Snappy Work

"Who are those men hanging around the harems?" inquired the sultan. "I understand that one is a former beau of your latest favorite, and the other seems to be playing second fiddle to him," replied the chief eunuch. "Hum!" mused his majesty; "well, just see the captain of the guard and tell him to hang up the fiddle and the beau."—London Opinion.

Handicapped

Minister—Why do you not get a wife, Donald? Donald—I might get a bad one. Minister—Trust to providence, and you'll be all right. Donald—I'm no' so sure, minister, for ye ken providence has to dispose of the bad as well as the good.—London Humorist.

Extremes Meet

"Isn't a lawsuit involving a patent right about the dullest thing imaginable?" asked one court fan of another. "Not always," was the reply. "I attended a case not long ago that was really funny. A tall lawyer named Short was reading a 6,000-word document he called a brief."

Why Refused

Roommate—So your father refused to send you money? I suppose he's forgotten that he spent money when he went to college? Blinks, Jr.—Not a bit of it. And he hasn't forgotten what he spent it for, either.—American Legion Weekly.

TO KEEP LOVE ALIVE

"And, my dear, he even puts love before food!" "Still, if you marry him, take my advice and put food before love."

Disclosure

Now pleasant to the sight men find An ankle and a stocking. But he who bares an ugly mind Unto the world is shocking.

Looking Far Ahead

"I wish I knew how to move my big stock of axes," lamented the hardware merchant. "Why don't you start a tree-planting campaign," suggested his wife.—Good Hardware.

Both Lucky

Mrs. Kawler—As Miss Gabbins at home? Maid—No, ma'am; she went out to call on you. Mrs. Kawler—How very fortunate for us both.

BIRTH OF SON.

On Tuesday a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Julian Hamilton. The child has been named Julian Hamilton Jr.

CATCHING MENHADEN AGAIN.

Most of the fish scrap and oil factories have closed down until next Fall but some fishing is going on nevertheless. On Monday Captain Bonner Willis of the Chas. S. Wallace and Captain Will Willis of the W. M. Webb decided to try their luck and they had very good success. The Wallace came in with 304,000 in her hold and the Webb brought in 195,000 fish. The fish were of a very good size, some roes, but as usual at this time of the year did not produce much oil. Fish are reported to be rather plentiful off shore but weather conditions have not been very favorable as most of the time it has either been foggy or too windy.

ECONOMY IS SLOGAN OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Without doubt, hardy, George Ross Pou will be recommended to this board for reappointment as superintendent of the prison. Mr. Pou has so far withstood all assaults on the prison without serious hurt and it is understood that the governor in no wise blames him for the prison deficit, which the legislature absorbed when it ordered the institution on an appropriation basis, the same as other institutions.

May Come Back

Although an economical start such as the legislature has made would indicate strong objections to the expense of a special session, it appeared to departing members this week that there may be a call for an extra ordinary meeting before the spring of 1926. Some of the members are confident they will be back for an extra session; Governor McLean says that he can see no reason for another session until 1927.

Much depends on how the revenue bill pans out. If it raises the twelve millions its framers think it will, an extra session may be avoided. If it does not, in order to keep things balanced, Governor McLean may summon it back to levy additional taxes.
