TREASURER WILL NEGOTIATE LOAN FOR STATE DEBT (Continued from page one) out of county quota following future allocations. This decision is expected before the Court begins its summer vacation on June 24.

L. C. Brogden, supervisor of rural education of the State Department of Education presided over the joint annual conference of school supervisors and county superintendents in the Hall of the House of Representatives during the week. Addresses were delivered by Superintendent Allen, Mr. Brogden and others interest especially in the development of rural schools. The reaction to this meeting is expected to be improved class room instruction, scientific tests and measurements and proper administration and adaptation of a general course of study. Greater efficiency all along the line is anticipated.

Governor McLean has appointed J. K. Dixon, a member of the State Fisheries Commission Board to represent North Carolina on the newly created Atlantic Fisheries Commission inaugurated by Secretary Hoover of the Federal department of Commerce for the purpose of increasing and conserving the fisheries products of the Country.

The Board of Trustees of the State College of Agriculture and Engineering met during the week and approved the action of the executive committee in accepting the resignation of Dean Kilgore, of the School of Agriculture. The Board "resolved" favorable to Doctor Kilgore to follow out the plans this fall.

gore and, also, to the College president. It did not have a "thing a-gin" anybody connected with the institution. However, Mr. Kilgore is out and has gone to Europe on an official trip for the Farmers' Cooperative Association. On his return he will fill a number of lecture engagements at agricultural colleges in various sections of the Country.

Funds For Firemen

Insurance Commissioner Wade announces that the North Carolina Fireman Relief has received $30,644.66 from the 1924 collection of the tax of one-half of one per cent of fire insurance premiums last year. 114 cities and towns participate in this fund, only those having organized fire departments and fire districts being eligible. Mr. Wade, who is president of the Fire Marshals' Association of North America, plans to attend the annual convention of that organization in San Antonio Texas September 14-16.

Because of the press of State business Governor McLean decided to forego the pleasure of attending the Governor's Conference at Poland Springs, Maine, June 28 to July 4. The Governor considers the inauguration of the executive budget act and the budget system authorized by the General Assembly more important to the State than running away on an official junket. He also declined an invitation to address the North Carolina Society of Washington last Friday on account of official engagements.

Bribe-takers are in bad standing with the State administration. Billie Peterson, former chairman of the board of commissioners of Mitchell county, is a shining example of this policy of the Governor who declines clemency for taking $800 in an election contest. The court sentenced Peterson to a year in the State's prison and required to pay a fine of $1,000. A petition containing nearly 3,000 names asking for the pardon of the convicted official was presented to the Governor, but he declined to interfere with the judgment of the court.

Convict Gets Reward

Sawyer McIver, serving a term on the roads of Lee county, was allowed to leave the camp to aid in rescue work at Coal Glen following the recent mine disaster, showed conspicuous bravery in risking his life to aid other and is now a free man. He had been convicted for driving an automobile while intoxicated, had served a good portion of his term and Governor McLean decide to reward his bravery with freedom. McIver was an experienced miner and did not have to be told what to do on his arrival at the scene of the disaster.

Will Williams, Scotland county murderer of Frank Green, colored, a member of his own race, met death in the electric chair on Friday. A strong fight was made for commutation on the plea that Williams was dominated by Spencer Gay, an accomplice, who turned State's evidence and was sentenced to thirty years in State's prison.

Trustees of the Caswell Training School, in session recently, found nothing startling to report on conditions at the institution. A statement for the public may be made later on the prospects of retaining all present wards of the school regardless of reduction in the maintenance fund.

The debit balance in the State's general fund as of May 31, 1925, is $9,583,885.92, according to the latest announcement, or $78,098.29 in excess of the estimate of the Budget Commission on which the last Legislature based its appropriation.

The State's mineral resources are to be further developed by the establishment of a department of mining and engineering at the State College. Special instructions in mining is to be an added feature in the course of study beginning with the next collegiate year.

The family of Governor McLean has joined him at the Mansion and contemplate a stay of several weeks here. Following a vacation trip to the mountains later on Mrs. McLean and the children will be here with the Governor. The Lumberton home will not be closed, however, until repairs at the Mansion are completed.

Study the home grounds this summer and see where a shrub is needed or one should be removed, and "resolved" favorable to Doctor Kilgore to follow out the plans this fall.

Hen Appears to Have Little on the Ostrich

The next morning we forded scores of small streams, so cold that they were like ice water, as they are fed by melted snow from Mt. Kenya. Up to this time we had seen little game, as the plains animals don't come into the mountains; elephants and rhino and buffalo could be found in the forests towards Kenya, but they are seldom seen from the road. Now we commenced to see the Kenya hartebeeste, small herds of common zebra, many ostriches and a few Grant's gazelle.

The ostriches are funny creatures; they would feed until we were opposite them, then they would start running along parallel with us. We would put on all our power and race them for a mile, but they always beat us. As soon as they were a hundred yards ahead they would put on an added spurt and cross the road, often slipping and falling as their feet struck the hard roadbed. When they had reached the other side they would stop and watch us go by, seemingly perfectly contented and satisfied that they had crossed the road. This would happen a dozen times in an hour—they always did the same thing, no matter which side of the road they happened to be grazing on.—Martin Johnson in the World's Work.

Most People of Siam Pass Lives on Boats

The ordinary Siamese citizen may be said to possess no home at all.

He lives with his wife and naked babies on a boat in a canal, writes Lyman Bryson, in the Atlantic Monthly. Costumes are adapted to water living, and a people addicted to bathing can slip off their front porches, that is, their front decks, into water at any hour of the day or night.

Along the shores are the gilded, glittering, flame-like temple spires, and even a few ugly business buildings on a blazing hot and dusty main street. Scattered about in compounds and paradises are the dwellings of princes, most of them in European style.

His majesty's throne room palace of Italian marble, which cost millions of dollars, began to settle in the mud when it was half built. It rides now in an understructure of concrete, an ingenious boat which was put under it, and supports it as long as the chugging engines keep the water pumped out of the basement.

Dress for Dinner

Dressing up for dinner is not excluded to the class of people we call society. It should be a practice in every home, even though the dressing up consists of a clean gingham dress. And it should not be excluded to the wife and mother, but each individual should observe this rule as well. Children should be taught the habit in the high-chair days.

This custom not only takes the family out of the "shiftless class" but aids digestion as well. An unkempt person at the table spoils the appetite of the rest of the family and makes the dinner less appetizing and less attractive. And when the member of the family who has cooked that dinner has labored so hard over it that she is "just too tired to dress" she has defeated her purpose.—Exchange.

Fair Warning

A china store, situated at the intersection of two Paris streets much frequented by motor trucks and taxis, very often receives the engine of an omnibus or the wheel of a truck or a taxi carburetor through its plate glass show window. Consequently, two watchmen have been posted before the door, on either side of which is a notice reading, "No Thoroughfare." No doubt the plate glass will now be safe from the impetuosity of drivers whose feet itch for the accelerator.—From Le Figaro, Paris. (Translated for the Kansas City Star.)

Violin Varnish

Hart's "The Violin and Its Maker" contains the following: "The varnish of Bergonzi is often fully as resplendent as that of Giuseppe Guarneri or Stradivari and shows him to have been initiated in the mysteries of its manufacture. It is sometimes seen to be extremely thick, at other times but sparingly laid on; often of a deep rich red color, sometimes of a pale red and again of rich amber, so that the variation of color to be met with in Bergonzi's violins is considerable."

Extent of Our Country

The land area of the United States proper is 2,970,000 square miles. The appertaining waters have an area of 55,000 square miles. The area of Alaska is about 570,000 square miles. The insular possessions have a land area of about 125,000 square miles, of which about 115,000 belongs to the Philippines, 6,000 to Hawaii and 3,000 to Porto Rico. The total area of the domain of the United States is, therefore, in round numbers, 3,700,000,000 square miles.

Proscribed Sect

The Adamites were a religious sect that has been repeatedly suppressed, first in the Second century. Its pretensions were that the members have attained the primitive purity of Adam and are, therefore, able to dispense with marriage and to go without clothing at their meetings, which are called paradises. Upon each appearance it has been proscribed, the last attempt at rejuvenation having been in the years 1848-49.

NOTICE WARNING

It has come to our attention that MILK is being sold and re-sold as "HOLLY GROVE" Milk that has not been produced at our Sanitary Dairy. This substitution is made possible because of the fact that certain unscrupulous dealers have been using our Branded Milk Bottles in handling other grades of milk than HOLLY GROVE MILK.

It is our intention to protect the public from the dangers made possible by a practice of this kind through the aid of the U. S. PURE FOOD LAWS. However it is impossible for the law to always protect, therefore you must watch your milk supply closely and ALWAYS REMEMBER—That Milk strengthens the body to resist disease.

- Milk contains lime which helps build healthy teeth.
- Milk is a great aid to the digestive tract.
- Milk contains the vitamins needed to growth and health.
- Milk builds strong bones.
- Milk prevents malnutrition among children.
- Milk gives a balanced diet.
- Milk gives more food value for less cost than any other food.

This means good milk and pure milk and in order to be that, it must be procured under sanitary conditions. But to produce in a sanitary way, modern equipment is absolutely necessary. We invite you to visit our modern and sanitary dairy and inspect it.
