

A Newsy Trip Around The World

By Elizabeth Saunders

At Hartford, Conn., Mrs. Chance Sherwood arrived from Los Angeles for a surprise visit to her sister, Mrs. John H. Cassens. On the same day Mrs. Cassens arrived in Los Angeles for a surprise visit to Mrs. Sherwood.

At Bridgewater, Mass., stands an old four-legged tree, or a tree with four trunks. There is an old legend connected with it that lovers who make wishes under the arch will have their wishes granted.

King Albert, of Belgium, dips his beard in his morning coffee when he can. "The queen doesn't like it and only lets me do it when there is none present but the family," he says.

When she refused to accept a kiss instead of money in exchange for a forget-me-not on tag day, Clarence Johnson became angry and hit her in the face with a custard pie, Miss Lillian Culle told a Chicago judge.

Because her husband bragged so much about being fined for speeding, Mrs. J. P. Sangor, of Chicago, deliberately rode past a traffic signal, reported herself and asked the judge to fine her so that her husband would stop bragging when she had a fine to brag about. She was fined $1 and costs.

Just listen to this one. In Houston Texas, one finds a hot dog stand in which is run by two sisters named Ura and Ima Link.

Two silver dollars over 130 years old, and a newspaper printed at the close of the Civil War are in the possession of Dr. H. B. Mix of Riverside, Mich.

At Punxutawney, Pa., John Arney, 78, died of a fractured skull a week after the clapper of a church bell he was tolling fell on his head.

In Springfield, Ill., the Jordan Bros. Inc., purchases 60,000 head of horses every year; they are slaughtered, the meat pickled and shipped to foreign countries. This is said to be the largest horse buying corporation in the world for slaughtering and meat eating purposes.

Ripley says that at the tombs of 47 Ronins in Tokyo incense has been kept continuously burning in the open day and night rain or shine for 300 ars.

Captain Clement of the University Alabama football team is almost ways know as "Foot", and this is cause he wears a No. 14 shoe.

At Tyler, Tex., James Franklin Neely, 70, was arrested for a murder committed in 1883.

You might know that this happened in Kinston. D. E. Wood, sportsman claims that he was hunting when he came upon a six-foot rattlesnake. It was shot; the body was cut into. Three hound dogs ran up to investigate it and were bitten by the part including the head and about 12 inches of body. All of the dogs were dead within 30 minutes.

It is estimated that only about two per cent of the manuscripts submitted for publication in book form are ever actually published.

Newport School Class Attended State Fair

By C. S. LONG
Agricultural Teacher
Newport, October 22—Newport Vocational Agriculture Class makes visit to State Fair.

Vocational Agriculture is a new development in the Newport School; his being its first year in operation, and of course, it is still in its infancy. We were very fortunate in securing a school truck (by agreeing to be responsible for all expenses) to make a visit to our Capital City, in order to see the State Fair.

We left Newport early Wednesday morning, October 15, and arrived at Raleigh in due time to see a few of the many places of interest, such as, the Museum, State Prison, Capitol, Governor's Mansion, Curtis Airport, State Hospital, State College Poultry Plant and College Dairy Farm.

We spent the night at State College and had the opportunity of seeing the football team in night practice.

Arising early Thursday morning we went out to the fair grounds; there we proceeded to tour the many exhibits in a group. The Swine, Poultry and Cattle Exhibits were of much interest to the boys. They were able to see some of the finest specimens of livestock in the U. S.

About three o'clock in the afternoon, we were entertained by horse racing and free attractions in front of the grandstand.

The display of fireworks Thursday night was inconceivable. The three nights previous were rainy; therefore on Thursday night they gave a double-header which was greatly approved by all.

We left Raleigh near twelve o'clock Thursday night and arrived in Newport about 4:30 in the morning. Needless to say we were in great need of rest and sleep.

I think this trip excels words of expression in educational value. No doubt, some of the boys saw things that they had never dreamed existed or was possible.

The boys all express themselves as highly pleased with the trip and are living in hopes of making a similar trip next year.

Irish Potato Growers To Meet Here Tuesday

By HUGH OVERSTREET

County Farm Agent
A meeting to acquaint Carteret County potato growers with the Irish potato outlook situation will be held in the court house at Beaufort Tuesday Nov., 4th at two o'clock.

This meeting will be held as a cooperative effort between A. E. Mercker, executive secretary of the interstate Irish potato committee, Washington, D. C., the state division of markets and the college extension forces. Speakers in addition to Mr. Mercker will be L. H. Bean, price analyst of the bureau of agricultural economics Washington, D. C. R. B. Etheridge chief of the North Carolina division of markets, and John Wallace, general manager of the Southern Produce company of Norfolk, Va.

Because of good average prices North Carolina doubled its potato acreage in 1928. Because of heavy production all over the early producing area prices dropped that year to 54 cents a bushel and many thousands of bushels were allowed to rot in the fields.

In 1929 the acreage was reduced from 40,000 to 25,000 acres in the state or 45 percent. Similar reductions were made over the other parts of the potato region and the price of the North Carolina crop rose from 54 cents to $1.10 a bushel. In 1930 the state acreage was increased by 23 per cent and the number of cars shipped by 21 1-2 per cent. North Carolina enjoyed a favorable marketing season by reason of bad weather conditions in other sections and this is why North Carolina sold her entire crop at an average price of $1.47 a bushel.

Mr. Mercker and other agricultural experts think it highly desirable that the growers hold the acreage in 1931 to the present level and not increase.

I hope all farmers who grow Irish potatoes in Carteret County will avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing these representatives of the state and Federal departments of agriculture, present facts similar to the above.
Don't forget the time and place.

Cabbage All Water

Cabbage is as near all water as any grown product, for 97 per cent of its bulk is aqua. Consequently while its food value is low, it is highly valuable as a preventive of, or remedy for, scurvy. There are several kinds of headed cabbages—red, green, and the savoy, or wrinkled leaved variety.
