Columnist Requires No Special Place for "His"

Where a few more or less well-known Pittsburghers carry the bankroll (names withheld for the sake of their dependents): A prominent musician carries his in an old-fashioned snap purse, which he always opens at arms' length to let the moths escape!

The town's most colorful gambler packs his, which is big enough to require a rubber band, loose in a trousers pocket. Another has built-in pockets along the belt band of his jeans and in his vest, which hold a "last stake" in case of emergency.

A political figure of the Hill district is said to start the day with $10 in quarters loose in a coat pocket. By evening he has dispensed them all to impecunious followers who park on his trail. An ex-pugilist carries his "paper" in a shoe.

The greenbacks of a movie organist may be found inside his right sock, just below the garter. (Oh, that's all right. Don't mention it.) And a certain columnist carries his roll loose in a pants pocket. He likes to hear it and his keys jingle.—Pittsburgh Post Gazette.

Protecting the Birds

"Few small birds," says a writer in Bird Notes and News, "can keep ahead of a car for any length of time if it is going 40 miles an hour or more." The statement is not made as an interesting example of relative speeds, but as an appeal to motorists to take thought of the birds when driving through wooded country. Such thought, if exercised by all drivers, would nowadays save more birds to the woods than many realize.

Fruit of the East

In size the lychee is about that of a strawberry or small English walnut. The shape more nearly resembles that of the strawberry, however. When fresh the skin has the toughness of a thick-skinned grape. It is eaten like a grape, too—the pulp being removed after the skin is broken. When dried, though, the skin snaps open with the brittleness of our paper-shelled almonds. The dried fruit resembles a raisin.

Here's the Perfect Male

The perfect man possesses the following qualifications, in the opinion of girl students of the medical and legal faculties at Prague university. He must be tall, fair, 50 per cent a sportsman, 25 per cent a good dancer, and 25 per cent a humorist; he must sunburn a rich brown color and be reasonably smart. He must drink and smoke. He must not kiss after eating cheese or drinking beer, or when he has his hat on.

England's Old Broadway

Some folks deem it a shame that such a lovely English village should possess the name of Broadway. Perhaps more New Yorkers seek it on that account than if it were called by some other more poetic name suited to its loveliness. Hidden away in Worcestershire, it is only 90 miles from London. Like its American namesake, Broadway virtually consists of one street. But nothing about it is modern. There are charming cottages and the Lygon arms, one of England's most ancient and picturesque hostleries.

The farm agent of Catawba County reports 750 boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H clubs of the county.

Union County cotton growers have ordered another supply of pedigreed Mexican seed from the Experiment Station plots to further upgrade the cotton of that county.
