A Newsy Trip Around The World

By Elizabeth Saunders

Near San Benito, Tex., a posse set bloodhounds on the trail of a band of thieves. When the bloodhounds bounded up, the thieves caught them, tied them together by their collars, hung them over a limb. The pursuing posse took down the sad-faced dogs, again sicked them on the trail. This time the thieves shot the bloodhounds.

Altho he has lived in New York City all his life, Gorge Gallagher, 83, has never seen a movie, ridden a trolley car, or been in the subway. He seems to have no keen desire to try any of these "modern wonders."

Turning on the gas to commit suicide Herman Griebel, a recluse of Chicago, caused an explosion that killed him, blew the roof off the house, injured five neighbors, and shattered windows for blocks around.

During the first hour on the first job he had had for four months William Chase 40, of Cortland, N. Y., suffered his leg broken by a cave-in of a part of the ditch he was digging.

In Sterling, Colo., Benny, a two-headed calf, owned by the Budin Ranch is attracting attention. Benny was born with two complete heads, each equipped fully. He sees with all four eyes, and drinks with both of his mouths.

If real beer is legalized, the Henrich Brewing Company in Seattle, Wash., will be ready. It has increased its capitalization from $25,000 to $250,000, and is getting ready for the manufacture of soft drinks.

Two editors rule the town of Friend, Neb. W. A. Brown was elected mayor and H. E. Hannes, editor of a competing paper, was chosen police judge.

Sam Davis, Cleveland taxicab driver, is a quick thinker. When two gunmen tried to rob him Davis suddenly reversed his cab, backed over the curb and pinned one robber against a fence. The other escaped.

A phonograph with amplifiers connecting loud speakers in the tower has been installed in St. Andrew's parish at Totteridge, England, to summon the parishioners to the services.

Frederick Hill, 76, of Boston, has a real fish story. He is in a hospital recovering from a ducking he received when a big fish pulled him overboard off Boston Light.

Animal lovers can buy pets from the city of Waco, Texas, cheap. Food bills at the zoo were too high, and the animals can be had for almost nothing. Sample: Good monkey, $15.

The Ball cousins, Joe and Isaac, of Michipicoten Falls, Canada, have a pet moose which follows them about like a dog. The moose, orphaned when it was three days old, was fed at first from a bottle. It refused to leave the man.

Herminda Hernandez, 18, of Bogota, Columbia, tried to commit suicide by jumping over the ledge of Tequedama Falls, a 400-foot drop. But her scarf caught on a jutting rock and held her suspended until police rescued her.

In the Bronx, when Officer Pierce Glynn ordered him to move his push cart, Phil Cohen, cherry peddler, refused. Officer Glynn arrested Peedler Cohen, ordered him to push his cart to the police station. Peedler Cohen flatly refused. Sweating Officer Cohen marching by his side blithely chanting: "Chay-rees! fresh chay-rees."

Old horses have a friend in Archer Milton Huntington, New York capitalist, who buys broken down mules and horses at $2 on head and "retires" them on pastures of his estate near Georgetown, S. C. They are never ridden or worked.

A round the world voyage in a 21 foot boat has been begun by Torrence Keogh, 26, at Woods Hole, Mass. He expects to be gone two years.

An actress, Patricia McMillan, sued a hair dresser in Dublin, Ireland for $1,500 and was awarded $1,050 when she testified that her pure white hair turned dark blue under treatment.

Arrested while tampering with the seal on the door of a box car full of bicarbonate of soda, Clifford Ferris, of Kansas City, Mo., explained he didn't intend to steal anything. It was an attack of indigestion which urged him to break into the car, he said.

One hundred pounds of myrtle leaves yield about five ounces of perfume.

BROAD CREEK

A bank, like any other business concern, desires to earn some profit for its stockholders but its chief concern should be to serve its community in the most efficient manner possible. That is the view that we take of our responsibility to our patrons and to the people of Carteret county. In order to be of the greatest possible benefit to the field which we try to serve it is necessary to have the support and cooperation of the public.

WE INVITE YOUR PATRONAGE and promise to give you the benefit of our facilities and whatever aid many years of experience in the banking business may be worth.
