

BETTER BUSINESS OUTLOOK IS SEEN

Commerce Department Reports on Favorable Developments During July

Washington, Aug. 2.—An upward movement in the business situation was noted today by the department of commerce.

In July, it said, there was a cessation of the outward flow of gold and a moderate return movement, a general strengthening of the bond market resulting in improved prices, a halt in the urgent liquidation in the stock market and an advance in prices of a number of important commodities.

While the department made no predictions, business and financial experts pointed out that previous hard times had ended during the summer months when gradual upward movements had started in commodity prices, industry had begun to manufacture and sell at a profit, even if slight, and the movement of farm products had brought about an increased buying. They said improvements in the past had not been noticed until six or seven months after the change had come.

The improvement noted in July by the department came after further recession in June and was heralded as constructive developments that have "contributed to an improvement in sentiment."

The adjusted index of manufacturing activity showed several industries recording advances, after adjustment for seasonal factors. These advances were made by the automobile, textile, cement and tobacco industries.

FOUR MURDERS IN LESS THAN WEEK

Officials Try to Solve Several Mysterious Killings

Elizabeth City, Aug. 2.—Deaths from violence in less than a week in this section had mounted to four today with the death of Mrs. Clyde Elliott who was fatally wounded with her husband near Hertford Saturday.

An unidentified person fired a shotgun charge into the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott as they rode with their four children along a road during the late afternoon. Elliott died a few hours later and his wife died last night in a hospital here. None of the children was hurt.

Yesterday Linford Chappell was found shot to death not far from the spot where the Elliotts were ambushed. A short time before Sheriff Whit Wright had announced Chappell would be arrested and charged with the slaying of Elliott.

The officer expressed belief more than one person was guilty of way-laying the couple and that Chappell was slain to prevent his revealing incriminating information.

While an investigation into these deaths was under way, officers attempted to learn the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. George Lane who died soon after eating breakfast last February.

Today Lane was in jail at Hertford charged with murdering his son who was found with his head crushed near a chopped tree Thursday.

Lane told police he and his son, Woodrow, were chopping trees and that one fell on the boy but officers said blood was found 20 feet from the body. They investigated the theory that Lane killed the boy and his wife saying he carried insurance on both.

Poultry Outlook

The poultryman has led all of his fellow farmers in adjusting supply to demand. Four hens, on an average, have been taken out of every farm flock in the United States or about 20,000,000 hens. In addition fewer chicks have been hatched, so much of a decrease in fact that some forecast a shortage of eggs next winter. Prices are bound to reflect this adjustment just as they will in every other agricultural product when the same adjustment takes place.—Exchange.

Poultry Facts

Stale, inferior eggs probably kill the demand for eggs far more than do prices.

Overheated incubators represent a real fire hazard. Lamps should be carefully inspected and watched.

If your poultry flock has experienced an outbreak of fowl pox within the past year, vaccinate all chickens between the ages of three and one-half and four months.

Poultry production and poultry population has decreased, according to the federal authorities.

Questionnaires sent to Iowa farmers from Iowa State college reveal that 82 per cent gather eggs only once a day, and 72 per cent market eggs only once a week.

It is a safe rule to allow one square foot of floor space for every three chicks. For best results not more than 370 chicks should be brooded together in one pen or brooder house.

Anti-Saloon League Will Oppose All 'Wets'

GREENSBORO, July 3.—"We appeal to all the citizens of North Carolina to see to it that no wet is elected to office," the North Carolina Anti-Saloon league stated yesterday in a formal declaration of policy with particular reference to the 1932 campaign for the various public offices. "Let us sit tight and not be confused by any wet argument or deceived by any wet strategy; and let us vote first and last for those who favor the retention of the 18th amendment; for those who favor repeal, never."

This statement was made public yesterday was formulated by a special committee composed of Rev. A. J. Barton, D. D. of Wilmington, chairman, and A. W. McAlister and George J. Burnett, of Greensboro. Dr. Barton is chairman of the board of directors of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon league, and Mr. Burnett is superintendent of that body. Mr. McAlister is a director of the league.

Will Invite Borah to Speak Here
However, the basic material embraced in the statement was agreed upon at a special meeting of the board of directors of the league at the King Cotton hotel Monday. The members of the special committee were authorized to put the board's ideas into the form of a statement, and this was done yesterday.

Tentative plans for a statewide meeting of people interested in retention of the present laws dealing with the liquor question, with Greensboro as the place of assemblage and September 9 as the time, were announced here yesterday. Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, will be invited to address that gathering.

Poultry Notes

Skimping on growing chicks' rations never pays.—"Feed them or sell them."

It is estimated that a chick will consume four pounds of feed during the first eight weeks of its growth.

Since production the first year is usually 15 to 20 per cent higher than in later years, one should cull during that time, discard the poor producers, and keep the best over for the next year.

Ducks are apt to be the most satisfactory breeders during their first season of production.

Only one chick disease is known to be transmitted directly from hen to chick. This is pullorum disease, commonly known as bacillary white diarrhea.

Heat Records Broken During Month of July

The month of July certainly furnished some unusual weather in this vicinity according to the records of the local U. S. Weather Station and also according to the feelings of the population. It was very dry and very hot. Usually there is considerable rainfall in the month, this year there were only 1.70 inches. There were 29 clear days.

During the month of July there were 23 days in which the thermometer registered 90 degrees or better, which is a thing that the oldest inhabitants do not remember as ever happening before nor do the weather records show any thing of the sort. The highest temperature was 99 and was recorded on the 15th. The lowest temperature was 63 and that was on the third. A redeeming feature however was that for 17 days a strong southwest wind blew and that made the heat bearable. The wind blew from the northeast seven days, southeast four and from the east, south and west one day each. The temperature figures are given below for the whole month.
