

In The Realm of Women

Dial-448-1

THREE THIEVES

One, being hungry, took a loaf of bread;
Another, footsore, stole a pair of shoes;
These two, as common thieves were duly tried,
And paid the penalty the law required for petty crimes. A greater thief than they,
And one far more deserving punishment,
Escaped unscathed and unrebuked, although,
That which he took was valued more than gold,
Or life. He robbed a man of his good name,
And left him helpless, in a mesh of lies.

Road Adjustment Plan Progresses

Satisfactory progress is being made in the matter of getting the various counties' claims before the Road Bond Adjustment Commission recently appointed by the Governor sit at the Court of Equity to determine how much if any, these counties are entitled to have refunded to them by the State, according to a statement made by Judge Guy Elliott, general Chairman of the Steering Committee working on this project. More than a score of counties up to now have indicated their willingness to cooperate with the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce in presenting a united front to the Commission. "It is clearly understood by the counties, that each county will file its own claim and present this claim to the Commission at the proper time, Chairman Elliott said. While each county will file its own claim and present this claim in any way it sees fit, the molar support of all the other cooperating counties will be back of each individual claim. After all is said and done, according to Chairman Elliott, whatever is awarded to the counties, will have to be done by a majority vote of the House and Senate at the 1937 General Assembly. This makes it the more important that the counties cooperate through a central Steering Committee, which has been appointed by the various counties. Each county selected a member from its own official family to sit on this Committee. At the present time more than a score of counties have done this and on or before August 26th each of these counties will have filed its individual claim with the Commission. In every county up to now, the County Attorney has been designated to lead the argument for his county.
