Legion Post Seeks Veterans Hospital

Carteret Is Desirable Location For Such An Hospital

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR CURRENT YEAR OF POST

If there is any possibility of securing the proposed Veterans Hospital soon to be constructed somewhere in East Carolina, Carteret Post Legionnaires will get same for Carteret county. It has been unofficially announced that those in charge of locating and building the proposed structure desire a locality somewhere along the Central Carolina coast. As soon as that announcement leaked out Legionnaires of the local Post went to work and at a meeting last Friday they adopted the resolution which follows:

RESOLUTION

A location in Eastern North Carolina, for the building of a Veterans Hospital, being most desirable, and the project being now contemplated by the authorities;

And, Carteret County possessing all the necessary natural advantages sought: the climate and recreational facilities being unsurpassed;

Be it Now Resolved by Carteret Post No. 99, of the American Legion, in regular meeting assembled, this June 18, 1937:

1. That this Post goes on record as favoring the building of a Veterans Hospital;

2. That the attention of the Veterans Administration Officers is requested to careful consideration of the advantages and facilities afforded by Carteret County;

Covering The WATER FRONT

By AYCOCK BROWN

A MANUFACTURER in Pennsylvania would like to establish a shirt factory in Beaufort. He does not expect the citizens to put up any cash for the erection of a building, he does not expect or ask the town or the county to give him free taxes, free water or free power. All that he wishes is a location where he would be assured of free rent for a few months during which time he would make plans to build a factory of his own here. Goldsboro has gone after the plant, but the manufacturer prefers to locate in this coastal town if possible. Among other things he promises employment to a minimum of 150 operators at the very beginning with the assurance that he will pay a high scale of wages. If there is a building hereabouts which (Continued on page eight)

HE ALMOST SAW HISTORIC FORT

Mr. Haasis of Alabama, who is spending his vacation here with his family, is disappointed in Fort Macon Park conditions. He attempted to drive to Fort Macon over the road now being improved by the State Highway crews and found that he was violating Section 12 of the North Carolina laws and was advised by workmen to try the route along the surf on the ocean beach. He then attempted to get on the beach, but was informed by a gate keeper that only government employees and Salter Path residents had the privilege. Then Mr. Haasis and party returned to Beaufort and chartered a launch to take him to the fort on Wednesday morning. Upon their arrival they could find no caretaker to unlock the gates, after waiting until nearly noon. "Things like that put a bad taste in the mouths of out of state tourists like myself, who have driven hundreds of miles to see your Fort Macon State Park," said Mr. Haasis, and he is returning to Alabama today, perhaps still wondering what the ancient fortress which he almost saw after several attempts looks like.

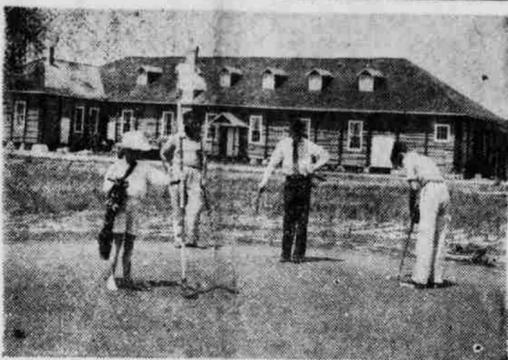

Atlantic Beach's Popular Manager

Robert E. Connell

Atlantic Beach has had some fine managers since it was established back in 1928, but this fast growing ocean resort has never had a manager who is more genial and friendly than Rob't. E. Connell who is directing the operation this season. Bob Connell, and he likes to be called "Bob," is a native of Tennessee, but during the past several years he has lived in Palm Beach where he managed hotels. If Bob Connell knew these cutlines were being written he would say, "Tell them about the many added attractions we have booked for the Fourth of July holiday, and quit raving about me." Bob Connell is a swell guy.

GULF STREAM LINKS AT BEAUFORT

Six of Nine Holes Open to Players

The above photo reprinted through courtesy of The News and Observer is the first taken of players on Gulf Stream Golf Links at Beaufort Community Center. It is sand-green No. 1 and in the background is shown a partial view of Community Center Auditorium building. The Gulf Stream Golf Links have attracted a number of non-resident players in addition to club members who use the completed areas daily. Shown in the photo are Ritchie Perry, Taxwell, Va., Blythe Noe and Aycock Brown of Beaufort. The caddy is one of several youngsters who are profiting from the use of the course by players. Auction Mart

Tomatoes sold on the Beaufort Auction Market since it was opened for the season last Friday have brought as high as $1.85 per bushel basket with excellent prices prevailing at all times. Until noon today only a few bushels had passed through the market and top price had been $1.35, but even that is far above the average farmers were receiving before the Auction Market, which is sponsored by Beaufort Business Association was opened. Last week before competitive buying was established farmers received only 90 cents and $1 per bushel for their tomatoes.

Another Catch of Gulf Stream Fish

Four dolphin, one amberjack, two sea bass, one trigger fish, two bonito and one small snapper was taken Sunday by Red Tucker and party of Raleigh, fishing with Capt. Jesse Pagels and Jack Windley aboard the former's Gulf Stream charter boat Jesse. They sailed from Beaufort about 4 o'clock and had reached the Amberjack grounds south of Knuckle Buoy about 20 miles off shore by 8 o'clock. Here they landed the first amberjack and the sea-bass. Shortly afterwards they sailed on to Light Ship Buoy and landed the four dolphin and other species. Capt. Pagels and his party were the only Gulf Stream fishermen out Sunday. It was the second successful fishing trip off there this season. On the previous Sunday Frank Kugler and Brownie Kugler of Washington, Jack Neal and Christopher Jones of Beaufort, and James Crozier and John Dornan of Philadelphia fishing with Capt. Guy Lewis aboard the Piggie, landed five dolphin, the initial catch of the 1937 season.

Lucky Frank Feinberg Winner of 150 Grand Atlantic Beach Guest

Lucky Frank Feinberg of Farmville, Va., who won $150,000 in The Irish Sweepstakes a few months ago was a visitor on Atlantic Beach and a guest at Atlantic Beach Hotel this week. He liked the famous resort mighty well and judging from a conversation a News man had with him this resort is the tops as compared to other resorts in North Carolina. What Mr. Feinberg likes best though is a horse named "Midday Sun" which won the 150 grand for him.

The winnings have not yet been actually paid over, but that is only a matter of form. Even since he arrived on Atlantic Beach he has been advised by his folks in Farmville that the draft has arrived there and it would be necessary for him to return sometime within the next 30 days and identify himself by Notary affidavits. Then with the forms all filled out they will be returned to Ireland and a short time later his money will be coming in. Mr. Feinberg figures the U. S. Government will take a $65,000 cut in taxes, but he makes no secret of the fact that he had much rather Uncle Sam get that slice in preference of himself changing his residence to Ireland. Mr. Feinberg was accompanied to (Continued on page five)

Coast Guard Bill Gets Endorsement

HAYNE FARM TO DISPLAY GLADS

New varieties of gladiolus will be displayed in Joe House Drug Store on Saturday, June 26, by the Hayne Quality Gladiolus Farm, it was announced today. The display is being presented by Mr. Hayne for the benefit of local flower lovers and visiting tourists who are coming to the Carteret coast in ever increasing numbers as summer goes along. Unusual colors, including the rare purple and smoked varieties will be in the display. Visiting flower lovers will be asked to vote on their favorites of the varieties displayed. This will be done in an effort on the part of Hayne Quality Gladiolus Farm to determine which is the most popular variety. Mr. and Mrs. Hayne, operators of the Hayne Gladiolus Farm are members of The Florist Society of North Carolina. They invite everyone to attend the show Saturday.

New Commander of Legion Post Here

William Hatsell

Beaufort has no finer citizen than William Hatsell and Carteret Post Legionnaires conferred a well earned honor on him last Friday night when he was elected their commander for the coming year. For the three previous years he was adjutant of Carteret Post No. 99. During the World War he was Machinist Mate 1c aboard a sub-chaser. The editor of this newspaper could write many complimentary things about William Hatsell, but as he happens to be our linotype operator and incidentally the 'main spring' of The Beaufort News, the editor knows the cut-lines would never be published.

Dr. Shaftsbury Opens Woman's College Lab. At Community Center

Dr. A. D. Shaftsbury, of the Zoology Department of Woman's College of the University of North Carolina in Greensboro arrived here several days ago with a group of students and opened the college's coastal marine laboratory at Beaufort Community Center. While here they are making extensive studies of the flora and fauna of surrounding waters and territories.

In the group here at present besides Dr. Shaftsbury, the director, are Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Greensboro; Miss Margaret Smith, Lincoln; Miss Marion Fisher, Wilmington; Miss Golda Bell, Westfield, N. J. and Dr. Elizabeth Kingsbury of Kennebunk, Maine.

At the Laboratory for a few days last week studying the plant life of surrounding territory was Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Thiel. Dr. Thiel is associate professor of botany at W.C.U.-N.C. They were accompanied to the coast by their small son.

PASSED EXAMS

Ed Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Potter of Beaufort, has passed the entrance examinations for the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, according to a message received here this morning. He was given his appointment to the Academy by Congressman Graham A. Barden.

OVERSTREET STICKS

Several days ago Onslow County offered Hugh Overstreet, farm agent, an increase of $250 per year more than he was making in Carteret if he would accept the job they had for him. Overstreet tentatively accepted the new job. In the meantime an editorial appeared in The Beaufort News outlining in detail how he had developed farming here in this coastal county, and the possible results if he should accept his new offer in Onslow.

That started prominent farmers to thinking and one day this week they or their representatives swarmed in on Carteret Commissioners and demanded that Overstreet's salary be increased so that he would remain in the county. This the Commissioners finally agreed to do after one or two members put up the plea of hard times and hard to get money, to pay county employees.

Recreation, band music, and other entertainment will be offered to help make the week "a real vacation as well as an educational event," Goodman pointed out.

Enlisted Men May Soon Be Retired After 20 Years In Service

BARDEN AND REYNOLDS CO-AUTHORS OF BILL

According to announcement made by Congressman Graham A. Barden in a telegram to Aycock Brown of The Beaufort News late Wednesday, the enlisted men of the U. S. Coast Guard Service may soon be given the same retirement break now enjoyed by the enlisted men of the U. S. Navy. The telegraphic announcement was followed by a dispatch from Washington which appeared in the daily newspapers today. Congressman Barden's telegram follows:

"Senator Reynolds and myself together with Davison Gus Larson and others appeared before the Senate sub-committee of commerce in interest of Coast Guard bills introduced by Senator Reynolds and myself stop At conclusion of hearing Chairman Bilboa announced that bill would receive unanimous favorable report from sub-committee to whole committee.

Graham A. Barden, M. C. The bill which Congressman Barden and Senator Reynolds co-authored would grant retirement to enlisted personnel of the Coast Guard after 20 years. Senator Bilboa, chairman of the committee before whom the delegation appeared hails from Mississippi. Delegations from the Coast Guard included Gus Larson, formerly in charge of a 75-footer stationed at Morehead City and one of the leaders of the Service who are (Continued on page eight)

Fishing And ALL OUTDOORS

By AYCOCK BROWN

THE CURRENT at the inner edge of the Gulf Stream last Sunday was unusually strong, according to Capt. Jess Pagels who carried Red Tucker and a group of friends out there after dolphin and amberjack. He estimated the current was running three miles an hour, which does not sound so very fast on land where the pedestrian averages that while walking, but when it is blue water of the ocean 20 miles or more off shore it is some speed. It was impossible or impractical at any rate, to try and tie up to the buoy for still fishing. Nevertheless, Capt. Jess and his party returned to Beaufort with four dolphin, one amberjack, one small snapper, one trigger fish, two bonito and two sea-bass.

TIDE TABLE

Information as to the tide at Beaufort is given in this column. The figures are approximately correct and based on tables furnished by the U. S. Geodetic Survey. Some allowances must be made for variations in the wind and also with respect to the locality, that is whether near the inlet or at the heads of the estuaries.

IN WASHINGTON
WHAT IS TAKING PLACE BY
Pat R. Anderson
UNITED STATES SENATOR

While the spotlight of public attention throws into bold relief many outstanding national issues that directly relate to, but do not solve the problems of rural America, there is no dearth of official interest in the farm problem. However, it is generally realized that stabilized industrial conditions must precede sound programs for agriculture. In other words, stabilization of the purchasing power of our people.

In this connection, there is much evidence that the farmers of North Carolina are endeavoring to improve their own status. They ask that the government eliminate only the evils (Continued on page eight)

NEW STREET WILL RELIEVE TRAFFIC

Actual Construction of Front Extension to Begin July 8

Front Street Extension, extending from the Hugh Hill residence to Community Center, a distance of approximately one and a half miles will be paved, it was definitely announced this week by T. E. Kelly, Carteret WPA official. A WPA project, the plans call for a 60-foot rightaway of which 18 feet will be paved with a shell base, surface treated asphalt, and the total cost is estimated at approximately $15,000.

Actual construction will begin with the WPA payroll period beginning July 8, and at the beginning it is expected that approximately 70 persons will be given employment. A period of six months is allowed for its completion but Mr. Kelly believes that the job can be finished within four months. It will when completed give Beaufort a waterfront drive almost three miles in length, beginning at Duncan Green across (Continued on page eight)
