Fred R. Seely

Fred R. Seely pictured above is the State's appointee to the new County Board of Welfare which will have to do with the operation of the Social Security Program in Carteret which becomes operative today (July 1) in this and the other counties of the State. If you are an applicant for Old Age Assistance or Aid to Dependent Children, and do not understand thoroughly the functioning of the program Fred Seely can explain every detail. He is one of a board of three, and will serve until May 1938. Other members are A. Grady Willis of Atlantic, the Commissioner's appointee and Dr. Frank Hall Presbyterian minister of Morehead City, the third, who will serve until May 1940.

very grateful to Messrs. Richard Whitehurst, Murray Thomas and Bill Skarren for so kindly furnishing the use of their automobiles to carry the troop to the beach. Mrs. Vera Stubbs of Beaufort and Mrs. C. P. Andrews of Newark, N. J., the latter a sister of the Captain, Mrs. Stevens, were invited guests. The following Beaufort girls are members of the local troop: Elizabeth Mace; Edith Stevens Carol Truitt; Louise Guthrie; Florence Skarren; Martha Langdale Jocely Stevens, Louise Rhue; Margaret House; Lucy Bell Rice; Sue Murray Thomas; Margaret Salter; Beatrice Kirk; Adelaide Weaver, Marie Davis, with other girls expected to join in the near future.

The next step in the girl movement in Beaufort will be the Investiture Ceremonial, when all members are formally accepted in the girl scout organization. This ceremony is very impressive, and when the meeting is held in the near future, it is hoped that each girl scout will be present and that her parents will be there to witness the ceremony. The girls hold their meetings in the American Legion Hut.

It will be permissible for merchants or employers to stagger the hours of employment, i. e., stagger the hours of employment, allowing a person under 18 years of age to work the nine or eight hours at intervals during a 14 hour day period.

The new law will be enforced by the State Board of Labor assisted by sheriffs, and police of various municipalities. For violation of the child labor laws, the penalty is a fine of up to $50 for the first offence.

The above does not apply to agriculture or any of its branches, although children working in agricultural fields must have a permit and must be under the supervision and direction of parents or guardians.

routes must be clearly defined. Children under 16 years of age cannot work before 6 A. M. or after 7 o'clock at night, where the bread winner has died or absconded, will share in an annual amount for the current year of approximately $15,000.

The estimated average per child in Carteret will be $4.50 per month, it being understood that where there is but one child the amount will be a fraction more and where there are several children the amount will be a little less.

In Carteret it is estimated that up to 350 children will share in the program and up to 450 adults. At the present time the Carteret County Welfare Department are busily engaged in reviewing the various cases presented.

It was stated at the County Welfare Department today that those on 'outside poor list' or those who have been receiving checks from the poor fund of the county will be given first consideration in old age assistance and child dependent assistance. It will be around August 1, before other applicants are considered, it was stated.

and there are many ideas as to how they are to be found. In other words, what is to be the concepts of Government in the future?

Those who look for guidance in the events of the past are, of course, studying the trends of the bygone days. For example, the Congressional leaders of the past, many of whom we regard as outstanding statesmen, were just as fearful for the future in 1837, as some of our people are about what lies ahead beyond 1937. But the developments of the last hundred years have amply proven that the fears expressed in 1837 were unfounded. There is every reason for hope that the fears of today are equally unfounded.

True, problems of today are perhaps greater than ever before. No community nor state is self sufficient. The price which the Virginia and North Carolina farmer will get for his products is affected by industrial employment in Ohio and employment in Ohio and Pennsylvania. The ability of the manufacturers of automobiles and refrigerators in Indiana and Michigan to sell their products is affected by conditions in Georgia and Tennessee. Emergencies in California, Iowa and Florida may curtail the supply of food in New York. In other words, whether we wish to admit it or not, we have come to the point where the Federal Government must help to find the solution to problems the states cannot solve alone. How? Finding the answer is what causes legislative uncertainty and slow movement of legislative machinery. Too much importance depends on taking the right course.

Nevertheless, there is growing realization that something must be done about regulating the forces that have widened the gap between wealth and numbers. There is also realization that some of the programs and policies already tried must be reshaped in the light of the experience developed.

The subject of highways, one of importance to every citizen, offers a splendid example of changing concepts of Government responsibility over a long period of years. At the outset, roads were built by townships and communities. Later, financial aid was given to counties by states. New Jersey being the first in 1891. By 1903, eleven states were giving aid to counties and ten years later, forty-two states were aiding counties.

But even then highways were being built around centers of population and not so much to connect those centers at any considerable distance from each other. The need for interstate roads was beginning to be felt. Because of this need there arose a strong public demand that the United States Government should contribute financially toward road-building, as it had done a hundred years before.

CAN TOMATOES

Eighty five cases of ripe tomatoes were canned by George W. Huntley at the Beaufort Cannery today, the first to be packed in this method so far this season. Before the season passes he expects to can several thousand cases. Down at Marshallberg the Crockett Cannery will soon start packing ripe tomatoes. The capacity of the Marshallberg plant is 2,000 cases per day.
