The Beaufort News Circles The Globe

When Capt. J. Lloyd, master of the S. S. Waziristan, sailed from Morehead City for Japan over two months ago he asked his friend, the edtior of this newspaper, to send him copies of the Beaufort News and photos of the vessel which were made by Candid Camerman Charles J. Parker of The News and Observer. Copies of The Beaufort News were duly forwarded to Capt. Lloyd in Japan. From there they were forwarded on to his home in Cheshire, England, a 20,000 mile trip from Beaufort, along the mail route followed and almost around the world. Capt. Lloyd's letter follows:

Dear Mr. Brown: Many thanks for the copies of your paper The Beaufort News which were awaiting me upon my arrival in Kobe. I have sent same to my wife in England, as I know they will interest her. We had a fine passage to Kobe, taking 38 days from the Panama Canal. We dis charged part of our Morehead City scrap iron there and then came to Maji and discharged some more. We are now at this port which is two miles from Yowata. The place is full of ships, and we, of course have to await our turn. After we have discharged we are going to British Columbia to load for the East coast of U. S. A. Hope you are o. k. Cherrio and all the best.

bean plants, or egg clusters appear on the underside of the leaves, Rowell said the grower should start spray ing or dusting with derris or cube root containing rotenone. To make a spray, use dust containing 4 per cent rotenone. Mix 1 1-2 pounds of dust with 50 gallons of water, or 1 1-2 onces of dust in 3 gallons of water if a smaller quantity is desired.

Spray the plants thoroughly at the rate of 90 to 100 gallons per acre. To be effective, the spray must recah the underside of the leaves.

Or if dusting is preferred, use finely ground derris or cube root dust containing 3-4 of one per cent rotenone, making sure that the dust settles on the underside of the leaves as well as the rest of the plant, Apply dust at the rate of 15 to 2 pounds per acre.

Repeat the spraying or dusting every few days until the beetles have been eradicated, Rowell pointed

When making a spray, he continued, use only a dust with a diluent that will mix readily with water. The label on the package usually tells whether it will mix with water.

RALEIGH, July 7-Spraying or Calcium arsenate and arsenate of lead are injurious to plants and are not recommended, Rowell concluded.

New Freezing Unit In Fisheries Truck

Thermostatically controlled "dry ice" refrigerating unit for trucks has been developed by the Liquid Carbonic Corp., 3100 South Kedzie Ave., Chicago, Ill. One of the units is installed in a truck operated by the North Carolina Fisheries, Inc. of Morehead City, N. C.

Because the temperature can be controlled, the unit can be used in trucks hauling either fresh or frozen fish, with no danger that the fresh will freeze in transit.

Briefly, "dry ice" is used to cool alcohol, which circulates through a radiator. Small fans blow air, drawn from the upper part of the truck's interior, downward through the radlator onto the pay-load. The unit is 52 1-2 inches long, 22 1-2 inches wide, and is mounted at the farward end of the truck"s interior. The manufacturers will be glad to send further information upon request.

Tomato fruit worms have destroyed about half of what appeared to be a large crop of tomatoes in Wayne County, reported A. S. Knowles, assistant farm agent.
