THE GAME OF LIFE

All play the varied game of life, With chance to win or lose; The game goes on from day to day, To baffle or amuse.

Some play the game with confidence, Some paralyzed with fear; Some play with high expectancy, Some fail when victory's near.

Some play it nervously and fast, Some stack the cards to cheat; Some play to pass the time away, Some, white-faced, meet defeat.

Play on, my friend, the game of life, No matter how you fare; Play on, play hard, and play to win, But always play it square.

Local Rotarians Hear Talk On New Army Of America

"America is building the most efficient army in the history of the world," Major Otto Ellis told members of the local Rotary Club at their regular weekly meeting on Tuesday. He further stated that the Selectees now going into the American Army are the highest type intellectually, physically and morally of any soldier in any army of any nation.

Major Ellis was commanding officer of the 72nd Field Artillery Battalion which encamped at Beaufort Community Center for a three-day training period early this week. During the course of a very interesting talk in which he gave details of the new Army which America is building, the 72nd's commanding officer reported that he and the members of his battalion were highly pleased with the Community Center as a camp site.

Spats and Walking-Sticks

SOME of our rough and ready hard guys from the great open spaces poke fun at the diplomatic representatives of the U. S. in foreign capitals. They are accused of wearing spats, going to too many cocktail parties and some are even said to wear monocles.

American tourists resent the polished appearance of U. S. consuls.

Cordell Hull never bothers to answer such criticism. As Secretary of State he knows that most of his staff are hard-working, highly trained men who get themselves planted in remote and often unhealthy posts, work like the devil, and pray for occasional leaves of absence.

IN MEMORIAM

So many times beside your lonely grave, To sooth the wound, just trying to be brave, And I always remember August 14 As it is your birthday, Horace dear And it always brings a pall of Gloom to me. Yes, my heart is sad today Horace, As I think of many happy birth-days When you were here with me.

Oh, how vivid is the picture Memory brings to me today of you Dear Horace, seeming so cheerful, Singing a sweet song. How sweet the recollections As the seasons swiftly fly, Of you my dear Horace, In the golden days gone by.

Yet I know that in that city Far above the Starry Sky; Some day I will meet you, Never more to say goodbye; Yes, some time I will meet you In that city bright and fair, Where our heartaches will be over Up there on the Golden Stand.

We may write our names in albums Filled with leaves of snowy white, Where no name is ever tarnished, But forever pure and white. In the book of life, God's album, I know your name is written there, May all who read this, write their Names forever there.

Another thought that brighten cloudy days, Another theme for joy and praise, One more at home where parting will never be. Lord Jesus grant that we all will meet, On that bright celestial shore; There we will listen to music sweet, Played on harps of purest gold.

Yes, some day dear Horace, I will meet you In that city bright and fair, Where the flowers bloom in beauty, And each fills its given place. How I long to see the smile On your dear sweet face.

When we meet around the great white throne, In that bright and happy home, Where the city's walls are of Jasper, And its streets are purest gold, Where the harp is never silent, And the choral songs ascend; Where throughout the countless ages Joy and bliss shall never end, And where our departed loved ones We shall meet and know again.

Dear Horace I shall meet you in that City, Around that lovely great white throne, Surrounded by that joyous band of Angels, Singing songs of praises to the Lamb, And ever listening to the music They will play on their harps of gold.

I wonder where could you find More joy than this, On that celestial shore, Where all is love and bliss. Bye-bye dear Horace until we meet Some day up there on the golden strand, Precious thought of knowing That your birthday is so happy, In that glorious summer land. Happy, happy birthday to you. Your Mother, Mrs. AMANDA GABRIEL.
