INDEPENDENT VOTE.

The South Is No Longer a Voting Political Machine.

Atlanta, Special.—The Constitution, Clark Howell, national Democratic committeeman from Georgia, editor, says this morning editorially, under a caption "No Longer a Voting Machine."

"In Tuesday's election the Southern States began the writing of their political declaration of independence. The result means that the time has passed when a resident of one of these States must buy his social security, often, perhaps at the price of his political convictions."

"That Southern vote which, in the firm belief, wrenched itself away from sectional and political tradition, and it was a large one was significant."

"It means that the South is no longer to be kept a voting machine; as a slice of country to be depended on to go solidly Democratic though the Heavens fall; as a mere tail to whip by itself would be an unflattering Northern Democratic kite."

"The South will not continue longer a mere voting machine. Tuesday practically demonstrated that."

"True, it is still solid, but the veneer is dangerously thin. It will no longer content itself with just the crumbs that fall from the Democratic table."

Shrinkage in Incomes.

Boston Transcript.
 It is said that there has been a great shrinkage in the professional income of the physicians throughout the United States of late, and that it is not wholly attributable to business depression. An elaborate statistical investigation would be required to tell whether the public is spending more money or more doctors, or whether the shrinkage is due to other causes, as, for instance, a wider diffusion of knowledge of the laws of sanitation, etc. Physicians will differ in their diagnosis while recognizing the fact. One Boston physician insists that there is a combination of causes at work, and enumerates among them the overcrowding of the profession and the high cost of living, which he holds is reducing the middle class—classifying by incomes—on whom physicians and surgeons must depend for more than a hand-to-mouth practice. Another bluntly says that people nowadays are better guarded by public sanitary agencies than their fathers were, and that the general average of physique is correspondingly higher.

Dan Beard's "Guns and Gunning."

A book that every "outdoor" man and boy will enthusiastically welcome has just been published by the makers of the famous Stevens Firearms. This volume consists of 112 profusely illustrated pages and is devoted to woodcraft, the haunts and habits of furred and feathered game, camping, hints on equipment, cooking, etc. "There's ozone from the woods on every page." The facts contained in "Guns and Gunning" for that is the name of this most interesting book on the "Great Out-of-Doors" and its attendant pleasures, bear the positive stamp of authenticity and authoritativeness. Dan Beard, the eminent sportsman, writer and artist, is the Editor of "Guns and Gunning." What this author does not know about woodcraft and wood lore is not worth knowing. Every boy contemplating a vacation trip, every man taking himself to the woods and fields to recuperate from wears and tears of business life, will want a copy of "Guns and Gunning" to guide him right in communicating with Nature. Remember that a Stevens Rifle and the book mentioned are indispensable requisites for your vacation days.

Stevens Arms are for sale by all progressive Hardware and Sporting Goods Merchants and Dan Beard's splendid effort—"Guns and Gunning"—will be mailed postpaid to any applicant by J. Stevens Arms and Tool Company, Chicopee Falls, Mass., upon receipt of price. For paper covered edition forward 20 cents; for cloth bound book send 30 cents.

We told you it would be Taft and tuckey for Thanksgiving—and it will be. The wheels will go round now, just as soon as possible and the empty furnaces will be all aglow.

RETURNS DISCLOSE STARTLING FACTS.

Slight Changes in a Few Counties Would Have Made State Republican.

Charlotte, N. C., Special.—Official returns of the recent state election so far received disclose some interesting matters.

Complete returns from seventy-nine counties show the following:

Bryan carried forty-six counties with 29,133 majority, and Taft thirty-three counties with 13,387 majority. Bryan's net majority in seventy-nine counties was 15,746. Kitchin carried fifty eight counties with 40,258 majority. Cox carried twenty counties with 10,231 majority. (One county tie vote.) Kitchin's net majority in seventy-nine counties was 30,017.

Kitchin received more than Bryan by 11,125 votes, and Cox less than Taft by 3,156.

This shows 7,969 men who did not vote for Taft or Bryan but voted only the state Democratic ticket in these seventy-nine counties.

In the entire state Taft carried forty-one counties and Bryan fifty-seven. A change of 386 votes in the nine counties of Duplin, Onslow, Perquimans, Moore, Lincoln, Durham, Chatham, Carteret and Alleghany, would have given Taft fifty counties and Bryan forty-eight.

On the national vote a change of 3,080 votes in Eleven senatorial districts would have given twenty-nine Republican senators and a change of 1,920 votes would have represented sixty-eight seats in the House.

Brace Up and Be Happy.

Atlanta Constitution.
 There has been too much of the "poor farmer," the "downtrodden laborer," and the "unfortunate" and "oppressed" this one and the other. It is the more incomprehensible that this spirit, daunting everybody and everything, should have reached its height when the country was at the climax of its agricultural and industrial prosperity.

The "poor" farmer had more produce and got more for it than ever before in the history of the country. The "downtrodden" laborer was receiving wages the like of which he had never known before. Trade was at the full tide of prosperity. But it sounded well to preach oppression—oppression by everybody and to tell the farmer, the laborer and others that while they were getting more than they had ever received before, they were not getting enough; that they were being robbed and plundered right and left. It is a doctrine to which, if it had not already been, it is now abundantly demonstrated, the people are not going to subscribe.

No Rest For Mr. Taft.

New York Times.
 To get anything like a complete rest from politics Mr. Taft would have to go to some place more sequestered from apprehension and aspiring statesmen than the Virginia Hot Springs or Augusta, Ga. At either his words and acts will be attentively observed and minutely recorded by the newspaper men from the time he gets up in the morning till he goes to bed at night, and he is sure to have a thin but steady stream of callers with advice and suggestions to offer on all conceivable matters of public and private—particularly private. It is a pity that this should be so, for if ever a man earned a period of peace and quiet by work brutally severe, Mr. Taft did it during the closing weeks of the campaign, but his present labors are light by comparison with those that went before, and in performing them he has the stimulus of a recent great victory and is helped by a keen interest in the matters presented for his consideration. He must have known, too, what was coming—must have known that the morning after election day he entered upon the duties of president-elect, an office, which, though not recognized by the constitution or supplied with a salary, has its well-recognized duties, not the less obligatory because they are not imposed by law.

The thing that makes a woman have a good time at the theater is the chance to worry about whether the children are asleep at home.

R. F. D. No. 5.

(Received too late for last week.)

The Public school commenced last week. Miss Blanche Robinson of Greensboro is teacher.

Mrs. James Anderson is rapidly improving after several weeks illness.

Walter Wyatt has succeeded in killing the "bugger" which has been a great annoyance in the neighborhood all summer, an eagle measuring 6½ feet from tip to tip. Who can beat that?

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Motley of No. 3 was pleasant visitors at the home of R. G. Aldridge's Sunday.

Everybody is busy getting ready for Conference, which will be held Longs Chapel from 17 to 20. A large crowd is expected. The ladies have made up enough money and bought a nice carpet.

L. M. Johnson is making an improvement to his home by building a new dining room and cook room, and fixing up things in general.

Well, the election is over now, and we don't know what the men will have to talk about. Guess its not fair for us to get the Sheriff every time, and we'll be contented with what we got for a while, and looking forward to get them all next time. We can always boast of having the President, and believe the Democrats are as glad of him of him as we are.

J. B. Rodgers, H. Clay King and R. Q. Hailey have straightened the road through their farms and greatly improved same. It goes to show how much they appreciate the mail service. And what they will do for their own convenience. Such citizens are worthy of any honors or favors that the community may have to bestow.

Now the "Drinkless Drink."

Baltimore Sun.
 Maxim's noiseless gun has been outdone. The drinkless drink is now on the market in the shape of an evaporated drink of whiskey made into a paste.

This latest thirst quencher struck town several days ago in the simple cases of whiskey salesmen. Efforts are being made to induce local whiskey firms to order them for the trade in Georgia and other dry States where the ordinary moist drink is barred by law.

The tabloid "drink" looks like cherry gelatine nestling in a salve box. It smells a little like old rye. It can either be chewed or drunk. It is guaranteed to reach the right spot and produce the desired effect either way. To take it dry one has only to turn the box upside down and catch the gelatine as it drops out. If a wet drink is desired the gelatine can be easily dissolved in a little water, and makes a man's size drunk.

The effect the tabloid is going to have on the whiskey traffic cannot be prognosticated. Instead of going out between the parts the thirsty one can chew a tabloid and have all the effects, even the odor, without leaving his seat. The possibilities are too numerous to mention.

Neuralgia and Rheumatic Pains yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. No bad after-effects.

HOW A WOMAN IN N. C. STARTED IN BUSINESS WITH ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

She is now independent and cares not how bad times are. Can be done by others.

A woman in North Carolina started in business with only 1 dollar and now has an income of more than 200 dollars a week.

One day she saw an advertisement in a monthly story paper of "WICKES SWISS HERB TEA" stating that it was the BEST REMEDY ON THE MARKET for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Troubles and while she had been troubled with all these complaints for more than 7 years, she wrote to the Manufacturer for a 22 cent package, which she used careful according to the directions. After one weeks use she found that all her complaints had left her and she told the people, who had known her as a very sick lady, what she had used. All who saw the wonderful change in her condition, asked her to get them a package, and she sent one dollar to the Manufacturer of the Tea and asked him to send her as many packages as he could afford for the one dollar.

She got 8 packages which she sold at 25 cents each, which gave her a profit of one dollar on her investment, and 25 sample packages, which she distributed to other people and asked them to try this wonderful Herb Tea.

A week later she went to all these people again and asked them if they had tried the Tea and what they thought of it, and to her surprise she got an order for a package from every one of these, they all said "the Tea is wonderful." She at once sent for 100 packages and kept on distributing samples and sold them all in a weeks time, and then she sent for 500 packages and now she has 50 other ladies and men working for her, selling "Wicke's Swiss Herb Tea" from house to house, and North Carolina has never been in so healthy condition as she is now; the call for a Doctor is only in rare cases or accident. A Druggist offered her the other day $10,000 for her Agency, but she declined his offer.

Anyone, who has a little push and energy can do as well as she and while there are a few Agencies still open, we advise all who want to build up an independent business, to write to H. FELDSTEIN, 1375 Myrtle Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., and send him a Money Order for one or more dollars to secure the Agency of their town. Write today if you want to build up your own business and be independent.
