The Kings Umbrella.

The King of the Belgians once left his umbrella in a hansom when driving in Brussels. This was returned to his Majesty a few hours afterwards by the proud caddy, who offered for his honesty by the King Leopold the sum of 100 francs.
The astute Jehu, however, begged a great favor of the King. Could he have the umbrella instead of the money? The favor was granted, and before many days had passed the cabman had put up the umbrella for sale and it was knocked down to some royal enthusiastic for 1,100 francs.
When King Leopold heard of this he exclaimed: "Well, I've heard of an umbrella being put up to keep off showers of rain, but this seems to have been put up to bring down showers of gold.—London Globe.

Good Measure.

Jasper had been given a pint measure and sent up to the store-room with orders to bring down that amount of beans. When he returned he was walking very slowly and carefully, scarcely bending a joint and holding the pail clasped closely in his arms, so as not to spill any of the piled up beans. Reaching the kitchen table, he gently slid the pail over on one corner of it and breathed a sigh of relief when not a single bean stirred from the well rounded top.
"Why, Jasper, did you get your pail full?" asked his mother sociably.
"Yes, mother, here's your pint—except one bean that would keep rolling off," and he drew a solitary bean from his pocket and added it to the already heaped to overflowing measure.—The Delineator for November.

The Soft Answer.

Washington Star.
At a dinner in Bar Harbor a Boston woman praised the wit of the late Edward Everett Hale.
"Walking on the outskirts of Boston one day," she said "he and I inadvertently entered a field that had a 'No Trespassing' sign nailed to a tree.
"Soon a farmer appeared.
"Trespassers in this field are prosecuted," he said in a grim tone.
"Dr. Hale smiled blandly.
"But we are not trespassers my good man," he said.
"What are you then?" asked the amazed farmer.
"We're Unitarians" said Dr. Hale.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one decided disease that science has been able to cure. It is the long sought and the only positive cure for Catarrh of the Medical Fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO. Sold by A. H. Husband a Good Provider.

Walking one day among his old parishioners in the East End of London, Dr. Lang now Archbishop of York, stopped a parishioner who had married a than who enjoyed the reputation of being the laziest man in the East.
"Well, Mrs. Brown," he said "I hope your husband is proving a good provider."
"Yes, sir, thank you, sir," she replied: he's provided me with three new places to work at since we were married."—Tid Bits.
