Thanksgiving.

In his Thanksgiving proclamation President Taft calls attention to the prosperity of our nation, the bounteous harvest and freedom of hatred with any nation. Living in peace, harmony and plenty we have much to thank our kind Creator.

Rough and Roudy

The crowd of Youngsters who styled themselves the Halleen, party was rough and roudy last night, instead of contenting them selves with innocent amusement and fun they went in to paint the town red, tearing down signs removing doorsteps and piling old boxes and other rubbish upon the streets and sidewalks, not satisfied with this they tried to beat up the garbage cans and break everything in sight. The policemen either looked on in silence or took to the woods. There is no greater crime except murder than destroying public and private property and these youngsters ought to be taught a lesson. If their parents have no more interest in the proper bringing up of their children than to allow them to stay out upon the streets and other places all night not knowing or seeming to care where they punish the roudies and if need be humiliate the parents. What a pity that young boys cannot restrain themselves from these acts of lawlessness, and if they cannot, then they should be punished like other criminals. It is up to the city officials to protect both public and private property, and if they fail to do it, they are guilty of malfeasants in office and should be indicted and removed. What has become of the law abiding conservative christian men and women of this town. You had better be up and doing if you would restrain the lawless and evil doers before they take the town.

Who Is Responsible?

Our neighbor, the News, complained last week that the boys and school children were pestering the street car people, and even going so far as to rock the cars, breaking windows, doors, etc. Now we deplore such conduct, and it should be stopped, but what more can you expect, when they are taught and encouraged by Democratic parents and Democratic politicians to interrupt, hoot at, and otherwise make themselves boisterous and disagreeable at public speakings participated in by Republicans and other parties opposed to Democracy, they have even been taught and told that it was smart and the proper thing to do to tear up Republican literature and announcements of Republican speakings, going so far as to tear down and destroy the picture of the candidate of the Republican party for President, and having been taught this, now that they turn their attention to other acts of mischief pending the time for the campaigns to open. You cry aloud against these practices, as though they were something new and unheard of. You are just reaping what you have been sowing these many years, and while it is wrong, dead wrong, and should be stopped, you should remember the biblical injunction that whatsoever you sow, that also shall you reap. Take these ostrepous and mischievous youngsters in the closet, close the door tight, and make this concession to him: "Yes, I have taught you to do these things to the Republicans and others who dared oppose us Democrats, but you must not do it to us, and therefore I am going to flog the hide off of you." This will not atone for the things you have taught him, but it may be some satisfaction to your own feelings, and unless you have changed wonderfully since the last campaign it will not atone for the future, but let us hope that your own folly has taught you a lesson.

We Were Sincere.

In voicing our regrets in last week's Dispatch, against the retirement of Bro. Crowson from the journalistic field, and especially the editorship of the News, we were truly sincere. But it seems that Bro. Crowson is like the old woman who said that she could not die satisfied unless she had the last word on her old man. Now if Brother Crowson cannot leave Burlington without having the last word with the Dispatch we are willing for him to have that pleasure. We are, indeed, sorry to lose him from the newspaper field and the citizenship of Burlington. There are many things we might say that would be both unpleasant and embarrassing to Bro. Crowson in reply to his article in last week's issue headed, "Yes, From Experience," but we have no ill will against our neighbor and friend, and we are not longing for the last word. If leave us you must, and will, we want you to go with no rancor in your heart toward us, any of our stock holders or officers. We have fought you fair, and with what ability we possessed when you attacked our position, or the principles for which we stood, how well we have succeeded we leave to our three thousand subscribers and critics who regularly read the Dispatch three hundred and sixty-five days in the year. We have had many a pleasant bout with you regarding the local and national political conditions as they then existed, you have won your laurels, made your fortune and retiring, we do not want you to have to retire under fire, it's not manly, you know. You have filled a useful field in Burlington and surrounding country, and once upon a time you stood for peace, law and order, you were against every semblance of wrong, but for some time past you have taken such matters more easily, which has caused your friends much concern, they have been in a quandary whether to attribute your seeming change of heart to the fact that for the past two campaigns you have been the money dispenser for your party in this county, and having handled such large sums needed to coax the doubtful voters, you have become identified with the interests, or to the fact that you had made up your mind to quit the newspaper field that you thought it best to take these matters as mere incidents in the human political life, or having gotten tangled up as money dispenser and rounder up of the fleeters, you had to make promises that you would assume a more friendly attitude to the powers that be, all of which have been cleared up since your last issue, and your invitation to us to join you for a moneyless campaign and an honest ballot. Now Bro. Crowson, teach your registrars and judges of election that it is just as wrong to steal votes from the Republicans as to take money from the bank, and we are with you and for you in everything that tends to uplift the moral standing of man. With this we wish you a bon voyage to, and success in your new field.

The Stevens-Duryea team in the Gliddon Tour finished at the head all the head of all the cars in the contest which were driven by amateurs. It led the cars entered and driven by owners, coming in second only to a factory team, entered by its builders, and driven and cared for by factory employes.

Two of the Stevens-Duryea came through with absolutely clean scores. Only 12 other cars out of the 64 which started from New York had perfect scores when they reached Jacksonville. The single penalty the Stevens team suffered was imposed on the driver of one car for careless driving and not for any fault of the machine.

The general feeling among the tourists when they reached Jacksonville, and among automobile enthusiasts generally, seemed to be that the Stevens-Duryeas, being stock cars in the hands of amateurs, gave the most remarkable performance of the run by coming in second. An examination of the team when it rolled into Jacksonville through the last 90 miles of deep sand in a drenching rain, showed the cars in as good condition as the day they left the factory, except for scratched and mud bespattered paint. They made an extraordinary record for reliability and consistent running.

A New York man is seeking heart balm from a lady who taught him the "eye-kiss." He evidently found her an optical delusion.

PREACHER WINS FIRST LAW POINT

Boston, Oct. 27. - Attorneys, for Clarence V. T. Richeson, the clergyman accused of the murder of Avis Linnell, succeeded in defeating the plan of the prosecution to compel the defense to produce before the grand jury letters photographs and other papers taken from the minister's rooms after his arrest. Robert Burns, a private detective employed by the defense, who took the various articles from Mr. Richeson's apartments and who had been subpoenaed, failed to appear before the grand jury, and it was understood that the District Attorney intended to question him regarding the documents, but after a conference with Judge Geo. A. Sanderson today at which both sides were represented, the intention was apparently abandoned.

District Attorney Pelletier said afterwards that Burns had asked for a list of the papers and articles taken from Richeson's rooms, but declared he had transferred them to the attorneys representing the defendant. He added: "I do not know of any law by which I can compel counsel for the defense to produce those papers."

It is understood that the articles upon which the Government places much importance includes a number of letters written to Richeson by women, including Miss Linnell.

The special session of the grand jury which has been sitting on the case for the past two days, failed to complete the examination before adjournment was taken this afternoon, until Monday morning.

It is probable however according to District Attorney Pelletier that all the witnesses will be heard by Monday evening. This would indicate that a report as to whether an indictment has been found may be expected Monday night.

Tobacco Growers:

We know that Warehousemen on the small markets promise you "highest prices." They mean, their markets; but they do not, and cannot mean "highest prices," because they know and we know, and we want you to know, that without keen competition, "highest prices" cannot be obtained. The more people there are wanting a thing, the more that that thing will be in demand.

Now, our buyers want tobacco, they want it because the other fellow wants it, and wants it bad. Our market is not limited to the buyers of the Big Companies, we have from five to ten times as many Independent Buyers as any other market, and they buy several million pounds annually. To do this, they BID HIGHER than the Big Buyer, and in the meantime they are making the Big Buyer bid up to the "top notch," on their purchases. That, is the effect of competition, and that is why Danville stands pre-eminent as the "Leading Loose Leaf Tobacco Market." Now, don't take any chances on doing "as well" on some other market, but sell in Danville, and KNOW that you are doing the BEST.

The Danville Co-Operative Warehouse Company is the best agency in the business today for the sale of "Loose Leaf Tobacco."

Operating six large warehouses, known as Acree's, Banner, Central, Holland's, Planters and Union, which are unexcelled as to location, lights, floor space, and accommodations, and conducted by the ablest corps of men ever engaged in the business, with ample capital, and every known facility, we offer you not only "highest market prices, but a CERTAINTY of "higher prices" than can be obtained elsewhere at any time.

Every assistance, courtesy and accommodation is personally extended to our patrons and friends, both at selling time and crop growing time.

We solicit your patronage on these grounds, and can, and will verify our claims.

Your friends truly,

Danville Co-Operative Warehouse Co. Danville, Virginia.
