Statement of Gov. Mann in Disposition of Beattie Case.

"While I sympathize very profoundly with the father of H. C. Beattie, Jr., and would be glad to help him if I could do so with proper regard for the public interest, I cannot with any consideration for those interests interfere with the due execution of the sentence of the court in the Beattie case. I followed that case during the trial, and as its horrible facts were developed, regretted that a crime so cruel and malicious should have occurred within the confines of this State. In the decision of every question which was presented to the able and impartial judge, who presided at the trial, he was careful to give the benefit of every reasonable doubt to the prisoner; his instructions were as favorable as the counsel for the prisoner could expect; that he did not err in the admission or exclusion of evidence or in his instructions given to the jury is shown in the refusal of the supreme court of appeals to grant a writ of error. There is no question of the honesty and fairness of the jurors trying the case, nor is there any question that the defense made by lawyers of character and ability, obtained for H. C. Beattie, Jr., every advantage guaranteed by law to persons charged with crime. That Beattie is guilty of the wilful, deliberate and cruel murder of his young wife I have not the slightest doubt, nor is it insisted that there shall be any greater relief offered than the commutation of his sentence to imprisonment for life. In the administration of the duties of my office I am not required to consider the wisdom of legislative enactments, but am required to see to it that the criminal laws are executed unless there shall be some facts or circumstances arising since the action of the court, or some important evidence existing but not presented to the court tending to create in the minds of a reasonable man a substantial doubt as to the guilt of the prisoner. I do not think the affidavits of Paul Beattie printed in the papers, or any other evidence or consideration brought to my attention sufficient for that purpose. Nor do I question the wisdom, I might add of the necessity of capital punishment in cases where human life has been wickedly and deliberately taken. On the contrary, I believe that this punishment is necessary for the protection of society, and if on a jury would not hesitate in a proper case to agree to a verdict requiring life for life. I have given this expression of my views in order that the people of Virginia may understand that I will not interfere with the verdict of juries and judgements of courts, punishing criminals, unless it shall plainly appear to me that great injustice will be done by the execution of the judgements. I have been asked to respite the prisoner and to allow him thirty days at least from the decision of the supreme court. His appeal to the court was his own act, taken to avoid the judgment of the court of his own county, based on the verdict of his fellow citizens, constituting the jury; and, I must think, with the purpose, if possible, of avoiding the consequences of a crime of which he knows he is guilty. Although counsel for the convicted man have exercised all diligence, to grant a respite in so plain a case would be to set a precedent, which I would be called upon to follow, would be to temporize with the law and to encourage appeals to the supreme court with the sole purpose of gaining time. I believe the best way to prevent such crimes as this is to punish them adequately, certainly, speedily. Therefore the judgment of the circuit court of Chesterfield will be carried into effect without interference from me. (Signed), William Hodges Mann, Governor."

"The Rev. Benjamin Graham, recently pastor of St. James Methodist Church of Atlanta, Ga., has filed suit for absolute divorce from his wife because she is a child hater. "My wife is a child hater he said, and although I have not believed in divorce, I now find that it is the only thing possible for the sake of my children." Mr. Graham states that they have been married 29 months and in that time he has been compelled to spend one-fourth of his entire time attempting to calm his wife in her jealous rages and restoring peace in his household. His two children—a boy of 11 and a girl of 5—are by a former marriage. "Any attention that I might show either of the children brought on a jealous rage on the part of my wife," he states. "In the morning if I kissed my little girl, my wife would fly into a tantrum. Sometimes it would be days before she would speak to me. She declared that when I kissed my own child she felt exactly as if I were kissing another woman. I have known her to fly into these tantrums simply because I would pass a dish to one of the children at a meal. Sometimes she would rush, screaming, into the yard of the parsonage, drawing a large crowd of idly curious about the gate."

The minister states that for a year he has been unable to take his children out even for a car ride on account of his wife and that once she bought an automobile, but soon sold it because he asked her to let the children ride occasionally on the back seat. His work for the church has been ruined, Mr. Graham asserts, because his wife has been jealous of the women of his congregation. He could hardly speak to one of them, he said, without spending the next twenty-four hours pacifying his jealous wife, and often when he went to meet with male members of the congregation, she would think he had seen some of their wives and a rage would follow. Mr. Graham's resignation accepted today, was presented to the Georgia conference by Presiding Elder T. J. Daves. It was accompanied by a letter from the official board of St. James church commending Mr. Graham's work in Atlanta during the past year. Mr. Graham stated tonight that he would probably adopt the stage as a career. He said: "In moral plays which exert a tendency to uplift, I believe I could follow an occupation that is a parallel with that of preaching the Gospel. I will retain my moral attitude but seeing no other course the footlights promise me a means of livelihood for myself and my two children and I probably will adopt it. Mr. Graham is 40 years of age, while Mrs. Graham, from whom he seeks divorce, is 35."

"I believe the best way to prevent such crimes as this is to punish them adequately, certainly, speedily. Therefore the judgment of the circuit court of Chesterfield will be carried into effect without interference from me. (Signed), William Hodges Mann, Governor."

SCOTTLAND COUNTY SHERIFF STABBED

Wilmington, Nov. 19.—As he was in the act of committing to jail a negro under suspicion for the murder of another negro at Laurinburg, N. C., Sheriff Smith of Scotland county, was stabbed in the back and probably fatally wounded by two negroes who attacked him with knives. Both negroes and the prisoner made their escape.

STORY OF JEALOUSY

The Rev. Benjamin Graham, recently pastor of St. James Methodist Church of Atlanta, Ga., has filed suit for absolute divorce from his wife because she is a child hater. "My wife is a child hater he said, and although I have not believed in divorce, I now find that it is the only thing possible for the sake of my children." Mr. Graham states that they have been married 29 months and in that time he has been compelled to spend one-fourth of his entire time attempting to calm his wife in her jealous rages and restoring peace in his household. His two children—a boy of 11 and a girl of 5—are by a former marriage. "Any attention that I might show either of the children brought on a jealous rage on the part of my wife," he states. "In the morning if I kissed my little girl, my wife would fly into a tantrum. Sometimes it would be days before she would speak to me. She declared that when I kissed my own child she felt exactly as if I were kissing another woman. I have known her to fly into these tantrums simply because I would pass a dish to one of the children at a meal. Sometimes she would rush, screaming, into the yard of the parsonage, drawing a large crowd of idly curious about the gate."

The minister states that for a year he has been unable to take his children out even for a car ride on account of his wife and that once she bought an automobile, but soon sold it because he asked her to let the children ride occasionally on the back seat. His work for the church has been ruined, Mr. Graham asserts, because his wife has been jealous of the women of his congregation. Caught in a Rain.
Douglasville, Tex. — "Five years ago I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time, was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four doctors, but got no relief. I took Cardui, the woman's tonic. Now, I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. Try Cardui.

Stopped Those Pains.
Timberville, Miss.—Miss Gertrude Gutlin of Timberville writes: "I did not know anything could stop those womanly pains, from which I suffered for two years, until I tried Cardui. I had been troubled with various female ailments, but they were cured in a little while, thanks to Cardui." Cardui is especially adapted for use by ailing women. It relieves headache, backache, dragging feeling, irregularly, nervousness, misery and womanly weakness. It is safe. It is reliable. It does the work. Will you try it? Please do.

Raise 571 Bushels of Corn to the Acre.

Dublin, Ga., Nov. 18.—Messrs. Mercer and Thomas have gathered their 12 acre crop of corn and find the yield per acre to be 157 1/2 bushels. This is the plot located on their farm near Tingle on which a wager of $500 was made by J. E. Smith, Jr., through the Dublin chamber of commerce. No one took the wager up, although people from 12 states came with that purpose in view, but backed out when they inspected the crop. Messrs. Mercer and Thomas have demonstrated what the majority of Laurens farmers can do. They have gathered a record yield of corn from land that was, before they began to properly care for it, no better than can be found in nearly every section of the county.

It is astonishing how accurate is the aim of the amateur hunter when he mistakes a fellow creature for a deer.
