Learn During Lent to Sny "NO"

"Do I speak to no one is con-sciously under the dominion of a base habit, or a mean compliance? Is there no one of us who has known what it is weakly to cringe and say "yes", either to his own appetites or ambitions, or to the false or dishonest plans of other men? Oh! then my brother, be a man and speak the "No" your heart has long ago stiven and yet hesitated to utter. Or, if you cannot frame a "No" ask Christ first, to set you free, and while you ask itim, do your part to learn a free tam's firmness. Say "NO," for a season at any rate, to some one or more of your tri-vial, and, perhaps, hitherto very harmless indulgences. No man ever knows what power his most insignificant habits have gained ever knows what power his most Whereas G. Ab Fogleman has sher, Daniel R.
