Nurse Drowns With Chum.

New York, June 14.—It was to be the first swim of the season last evening for Margret Hughes, 30 years old, a nurse in the Manhattan State hospital for the insane on Ward's island. So she said to the other nurses there, but the air and water seemed too cold to tempt any of the others.

At 6 o'clock Miss Hughes went down to the bathing pavilion which has been erected on the East River beach opposite One Hundred and First street for the nurses and hospital internes.

With her went six other nurses, one of them Miss Ellie O'Rourke, 25, who like Miss Hughes, had been at the hospital for two years and was her room-mate.

Miss Hughes, the others waiting on the beach, went into the pavilion and put on her bathing suit. She stepped into the shallow water, kicking it about with her toes.

"It's too cold," she said. "Come on."

Particularly was the invitation addressed to Miss O'Rourke. The others said they could not swim. Miss O'Rourke laughed. "Not this early," she said. "I'd freeze to death in that water."

The others watched Miss Hughes strike sturdily out. When she turned to look and smile at them they shouted to her, but she only shook her head and went on.

The watching nurses grew anxious. Miss Hughes had chosen a course not far north of the dangerous eddying currents of Hell Gate. Miss O'Rourke calmed them: she said Miss Hughes was one of the best swimmers she had ever known.

For 30 yards the girl swam on smoothly. Then she raised her right arm toward the shore. Pain and weakness seemed to force it down. It went up again frantically and it flashed down again the girl's head went too. Then it rose again. In a strained voice, Miss Hughes cried the one word, "cramp."

Every one of the six nurses standing on the beach started to tear off clothes and shoes. Miss O'Rourke stopped them.

"None of you can swim," she said quickly. "I can. I'll go."

Her white sweater came off in an instant and then her shoes. Fearing to lose time she sprang into the river in clinging skirt and petticoats. The tide dragged Miss Hughes out rather swiftly. Miss O'Rourke did not reach her until both were out a full 50 yards.

Miss Hughes in a panic, clasped the waist of the girl who had gone to aid her. Her hands jammed down Miss O'Rourke's skirt. Miss O'Rourke tried to slip this perilous grip and place her arm under the other's shoulders. Miss Hughes relaxed her hold for just a moment and then clasped her arms around her friend's neck.

Then the watchers on the shore saw them go down together. And though they gazed steadily for many minutes they did not see either come up again. Screaming then, they raced to the hospital. Superintendent William Maborn hurried to the beach with four doctors. They rowed out swiftly in two boats, but there was no sign of either swimmer.

At 5.45 the waves brought in the body of Miss Hughes to the crowd on the beach. Every method of resuscitation was employed but in vain. With grappling irons the doctors went out again. The police from Harbor squad A aided, but the body of Miss O'Rourke was not found.

Miss O'Rourke's sister and brother are employed in the hospital. The home addresses of the girls could not be learned.

Campaign Song Writers Busy.

Chicago, June 14.—That a army of song writers has been busy in an effort to put forth productions which will make campaign hits is evidenced by the fact that daily about half a ton of such material is distributed at headquarters of the various candidates.

An extra man is kept busy at the rooms of each candidate disposing of the discarded music.

A few titles of the inspiring hits that the song writers have put forth are: "Rally Round the Hat, Boys," "Taf-fy, Taf-fy, President, Taf-fy," "Then Taft Left," "Teddy is the Winner," "Let the Steam Roller Roll, We'll Beat It, Any-way."

The hat in the ring idea appears to have inspired about 500 such writers.

COLONEL'S TRAIN STRIKES BOULDER

Albany, N. Y., June 14.—A large boulder in the path of the train which is bearing Col. Theodore Roosevelt to Chicago, brought his journey to an abrupt halt less than an hour after it began at 5:30 p. m. today. The train was traveling at a high rate of speed when two miles north of Tarrytown it came to a sudden stop with a series of jolts and the crunching of brakes. The accident fortunately was not a serious one, but it delayed the trains arrival an hour at Albany. The train reached here at 9:55 p. m., and left for the West at 10:23 p. m. Colonel Roosevelt sat quietly in his stateroom during the halt down the river without coming out to inquire the cause of the delay.

"I didn't know what had happened until it was all over," he said.

The damage from the accident was inflicted chiefly upon the locomotive and the air brake equipment. The explanation of the accident generally accepted was that the boulder was rolled on to the track by boys. The force of the blow was shown by the pilot or "cowcatcher" which was badly bent and twisted, one side of the heavy steel frame having been wrenched back more than a foot.

John McAuliffe the engineer, said the obstruction was struck as the train was passing through a cut. The locomotive had just rounded a curve so that he did not even get a glance of the rock and his first intimation of the accident was the shock of impact. The stone or a fragment of it tore a gash in the hose conveying the compressed air, releasing the air and automatically applying the brakes.

The engineer said the boulder must have been at least two feet in diameter to work such havoc with the pilot. Instead of being hurled from the track, the stone passed under the locomotive and the first six cars of the train bumped against the axles and brake beams and tossing bars about. Although the passengers were not severely shaken the brake beams were bent and two of the brakeshoes were wrenched from place. Colonel Roosevelt was in the third car which bumped over the boulder a second after it struck the pilot.

Wesley Edwards Is Taken In Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., June 13.—Wesley Edwards, a member of the Alien clan which raided the courthouse at Hillsville, Va., on March 14 and assassinated the judge, the prosecutor and the sheriff of the county besides killing and wounding a number of others was arrested this afternoon by Chief of police A. B. Pettit, or Clay City, 40 miles east of Lexington, if the belief of the authorities of that place is correct.

The man who gave his name as Hataerly and said he was from West Virginia, answers the description of the long sought fugitive in every particular and Chief Pettit is now waiting an answer from the Virginia authorities in regard to the prisoner. Chief Pettit received a letter Tuesday morning from Frank Wyatt, of Jackson, Ky., who knows both the Edwards and the Allens, saying that Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards were headed towards Clos City and giving him a description of the man. Pettit took the tip and watched all trains and roads leading into the city. He arrested his prisoner as he was boarding a freight train to leave Clay City.

Divorces His Wife, Then Weds His Mother-in-law

Sterling, Ill., June 14.—Frank Healey, who was granted a divorce from his wife, May Fritz Healey, has been married in Iowa to Mrs. Jane Fritz, his mother in law.

The divorce was granted on the grounds of incompatibility and was not contested, although it was said at the time that the real reason was because of Healey's infatuation for his mother-in-law.

Healey is 45 years of age, and his bride 58. His divorced wife, the daughter of the present Mrs. Healey, is 24 years of age.
